HOUSE GOP BACKS BUDGET SLASH

Break Is Seen In Britain's Power Famine

Midlands Will Turn On Electric Monday

LONDON, Feb. 19 (AP)—Britain's labor government announced today that industries in Central England, shut down for 10 days by the coal famine, will be permitted to reopen next Monday—first break in the power crisis that has slowed the nation's recovery program to a crawl.

Prime Minister Attlee, telling the news to the House of Commons, said, however, that the present five-hour-a-day switchoff of electric current to domestic and other non-industrial users throughout the country would continue indefinitely.

Despite pressure from both Conservative and Labor benches of the House, he declined to say when industries in the other "blacked out" areas—the Northwest, London and Southeast England—might be allowed to resume production.

Central England, where production starts up again Monday, includes the heavy industrialized Birmingham area, and has more than 1,000,000 factory workers, many making automobiles for the vital export trade.

Attlee said all but three power stations in this area would have two weeks' supply of coal by tomorrow, but he warned that coal deliveries to industries would be less than normal at first and proposed widespread staggering of work hours to "spread the load" on electricity supplies.

His statement came as the cold spell which precipitated the power crisis continued without prospect of an early break—London had its 18th consecutive sunless day, an all-time record—and the number of workers asking unemployment pay rose to 1,272,000. Temperatures continued below freezing.

Soviet Newsmen Point With Alarm At U. S., Britain

MOSCOW, Feb. 19 (AP) — Soviet newspapers and the Soviet radio are following the line of pointing with concern and alarm in their accounts of the activities of the United States, Britain and the British dominions.

Non-Russians who are convinced that the people of America and Britain desire sincere friendship with the Soviet Union can sense a growing concern among Russians over the relations between this country and her two chief allies of the last war.

Russians generally nevertheless profess belief in the American and British people and when you get them down to the bedrock of talk about the situation they express the opinion that the people of the two Western nations will prevail over what Russians consider the "evil forces."

With the council of four power foreign ministers less than three weeks off, there is a possibility that Russian concern may be quieted when Secretary of State Marshall and Foreign Secretary Bevin sit down with Soviet leaders and begin some plain talk.

Whatever the course of Russian opinion about what lies ahead in relations of the Soviet union and the Western powers, it must be emphasized that the Russian people have full confidence in their leaders and trust them implicitly.

This correspondent is not in any way trying here to present

The Russians appear to this correspondent to be convinced that powerful forces are at work against them in the West.

(The Russian masses have little access to information about the West beyond that given them by their government - controlled press and radio.)

They believe that these forces exist in many "capitalistic" countries but that the great power of them is concentrated in the United States and Britain. Britain, they believe, because of her economic position is almost a stooge of the United States.

Lord Wavell Called Home From India

British Evacuation Possible In Year

LONDON, Feb. 19 (AP) — The British Government summoned Viceroy Lord Wavell home from India today, authoritative government informants said, and Prime Minister Attlee prepared a statement of "crucial importance" before the House of Commons tomorrow on the sub-continent's faltering progress toward freedom.

One informant said outright British evacuation from India "within a stated period," perhaps within a year, was not out of the question.

Many Preparing To Leave

If the British decision was to withdraw on a definite date—and New Delhi dispatches said hundred of British officers and thousands of other ranks were preparing to start their return home next month—the effect would be to leave the Indians to settle their affairs or fight it out among themselves.

American newspaper correspondents were advised tonight that a special news conference would be held by Lord Pethick Lawrence, India secretary, Sir Stafford Cripps, board of trade president, and A. V. Alexander, defense minister, the three members of the 1946 cabinet mission to India, immediately after the Prime Minister's statement and the issuance of a government white paper.

These unusual steps, almost unprecedented in an intra-empire matter, spurred speculation that developments as important as last Friday's decision to refer the Palestine case to the United Nations was in the offing.

Summons Is Unexpected

Wavell's unexpected summons to London came against a background of crisis threatening a complete breakdown of the Indian interim government, first step in the cabinet mission's plan for Indian independence.

The crisis stage was reached recently when Jawaharlal Nehru, chief minister of the interim government and strategist of the predominantly Hindu Congress Party, served a demand upon Wavell for withdrawal of the five Moslem league members of the government.

The Moslems continued to sit tight, however, and Nehru renewed his demand last week. Wavell thereupon sought guidance from the government in London. Attlee's pronouncement tomorrow was expected to cut the knot.

Truman Seeks End Of War Emergency

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—(AP)—In a major new stride toward normal national life, President Truman today asked legislation by Congress to permit "early ending" of the 7½ year old "state of emergency."

The President's message urged extension of only 16 of the 102 emergency laws on the books, including the power to arm merchant ships and the maintenance of defense housing, now in use for veterans.

Congress was asked to repeal immediately 24 laws dealing with "problems of the war which no longer face us," such as the lease of public lands for arms production and the use of dollar-a-year men.

On his own, the Chief Executive ordered federal agencies to suspend activities under the emergency clauses of 36 permanent statutes at once or "in any event not later than March 15."

Mr. Truman made it clear that he hopes to declare an end of the emergency before midyear, if prompt Congressional action on today's recommendations makes such speed possible. Thereupon, all the laws which remain in force for the period of emergency will end automatically.

This will accomplish the second of the three big steps unwrapping the tangle of war powers and defense controls. The first was taken December 31, when the President proclaimed the end of hostilities and thereby knocked out 53 statutes including the federal authority to seize strikebound private plants.

Kids Will Be Without Jellybeans Again This Easter, Candy Men Say

BALTIMORE, Feb. 19—(AP)—Hey, kids, no jellybeans!

The candy man said today you'll be lucky to get one jellybean for Easter.

That was the bad news as retailers on the first day of Lent began their annual stockup of Easter specialities.

"There may be a few five-cent packages, but the old-fashioned jellybeans sold by the pound are definitely out," said Henry W. Loock, president of the National Confectioners' Association and a Baltimore candy jobber.

The sugar shortage is to blame, he said. Jellybeans are 60 per cent sugar.

"Limited amounts" of hollow chocolate rabbits and chicks will be on the candy counters, Loock said.

"A very few jelly eggs," agreed Bernard J. Baumiller, president of the Maryland Wholesale Confectioners' Association. "There's some of the hollow stuff, but not anywhere near the demand."

Only packaged chocolates will be available in abundance, and they're strictly for grownups.

Even the few eye-popping sweets for the small fry will be four or five times as expensive as in pre-war days.

"The kids seem to be taking a licking on this candy business," said Roy F. Kopp, a Baltimore wholesaler. "Anything that used to be a penny is two cents now—when you can get it.

"Lots of kids brought up during the war don't know what a penny is. They got nickels instead."

Gov. Lane Asks Tax Increase, Sales Tariff

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 19—(AP)—Governor Lane, performing what "is never a pleasant task," asked the legislature today for a two per cent sales tax and an increase in state income tax rates to bring in an extra $25,000,000 annually.

In a message read at the afternoon session of the legislature, Lane announced he was accepting the recommendation of the Board of Revenue estimates for a sales levy but that he could not agree on its proposed rates on income taxes.

The Governor, who has been ill with an infected throat, did not appear to deliver his message in person.

Differs With Committee

The Board of Revenue estimates and its Advisory Committee had suggested the personal income tax be raised from two per cent to 2.75 per cent, and the rate on corporations be increased from 1.5 per cent to 3.5 per cent.

Lane said he could not subscribe to such a large increase in the personal rate, recommending instead that the personal income tax figure be 2.5 per cent and the corporation levy be a flat four per cent.

The sales tax, with its several exemptions, will bring in $18,400,000 a year, Lane said. The income tax increases, effective in 1949 in 1948 income, would produce $6,528,000 a year.

The expanding needs of schools, roads and the cities and counties were cited by the Governor as making necessary the request for more money from indirect taxes. He already had set himself against any increase in the current 10-cent tax which the state collects on real estate.

"The levying of additional taxes is never a pleasant task," he told the General Assembly. "A more happy condition obtains when we are able to give additional services to our citizens from surplus revenues under an existing tax system.

"However, our budget is piled high with requests for additional funds for education, roads, the Sherbow Report and other desirable requirements. We must jointly decide whether we want these services enough to pay for them in additional taxes."

The governor pointed out that because $15,167,321 in state surplus and postwar construction funds have been put into the pending 1948-49 budget only $18,010,000 in extra revenue will be needed in each of the next two years.

Needs Will Jump

In the years 1950-51, however, the total extra money needed must jump to $25,595,000 a year, based on present forecasts, which he divided as follows:

Restoration of cuts made in requests in the budget, $2,866,000 a year; tax sources for the 1950-51 budget, $7,584,000 a year (this amount now cared for by using up the state's surplus funds); roads, $4,075,000; education, $10,190,000; Sherbow recommendations on distri-

Georgia's White Primary Measure Goes To Talmadge

"Other Governor" Refuses Comment

ATLANTA, Feb. 19 (AP) — The Georgia General Assembly completed today legislative action on the White Primary Bill under the Democratic party plans to bar negroes from its primaries.

The measure now goes to the gubernatorial offices for the signature of Herman Talmadge whose father, the late Eugene Talmadge, was elected to an unprecedented Fourth term on a white supremacy platform that included the negro ban.

Capital sources predicted Talmadge would get the measure tomorrow and sign it immediately.

Lt. Gov. M. E. Thompson, rival claimant to the governorship, declared himself in favor of a white primary but did not commit himself to the Talmadge-sponsored bill.

Legislative enactment of the bill was completed when the Senate receded from its amendment requiring Superior Courts to prosecute frauds in both the primary and general election. Sponsors of the amendment claimed it was necessary to safeguard the primary ballot. Opponents argued that it would conflict with a United States Supreme Court decision that negroes cannot be barred from state's regulated primaries.

The bill seeks to evade the Supreme Court decision by establishing the party primaries as club affairs. Democratic party membership, under regulations adopted at the state convention last August, will be limited to white Democrats.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People called a meeting in Atlanta of its Georgia branches for Friday when it will make plans for a court attack upon the bill.

Landis Wants Coal Dispute Settled

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—Rep. Landis (R-Ind) said today President Truman and Interior Secretary Krug should "go the limit" in trying to bring soft coal operators and miners together to settle their differences.

Asserting he is "at a loss to know why something is not being done," Landis declared in a speech prepared for delivery in the House that unless the operators and miners meet soon "we can expect a big coal strike in April."

John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers chief, called off a strike last fall until March 31 after he and his union were fined for contempt for ignoring a court order against the walkout.

Landis, a member of the House Labor Committee, noted that an appeal is pending in the Supreme Court but said "we can not afford" to wait for the decision.

He said he is "certain the miners and northern operators are willing and anxious to meet" and, in his judgment, could arrive at an agreement that would end government operation of the mines.

He added the northern operators, particularly in Indiana, "have not shared with any enthusiasm the 'dog in the manger' policy of the southern operators and would be glad indeed to have a peaceful settlement on reasonable terms."

Southern operators have taken the lead in opposing some of the UMW's demands, especially for continuation of a welfare fund which Lewis won in an agreement with the government.

Brakes Go On The January Dip In Common Food Items

Indications that the brakes had been applied to a January dip in many food prices was given yesterday in a cross-country survey of a number of common items.

With weather and other seasonal factors coloring parts of the picture, price tags on some foods were shown to have been revised upward, at least temporarily, in several cities. Others held firm or showed signs of continuing a downward trend.

Against this checker-board pattern, in which prices frequently varied widely from city to city, there stood out the latest figures of the Federal Bureau of Labor statistics that if all food prices were considered in one lump the trend was up from last month's level.

Most meat prices in New York, for example, were advanced markedly over last week. The same movement was shown in some other cities, but was not reported nationwide. Freezing weather raised hob with citrus and fresh vegetable prices in some sections. Dropping butter prices firmed or went up in several cities.

Even when prices went down or held to recent lows, however, the survey showed that in most cases they were still considerably removed from one-time OPA price ceilings.

The survey showed also that men's clothing prices in the nation's principal cities frequently were 10 to 20 per cent above old OPA levels, and might go up before they came down. Women's medium priced dresses generallly were up, from slightly to a lot, but with an improvement in quality and selection.

A housewife who could afford nylons wouldn't go broke on the relatively small increases recorded for them in most cities, the survey showed, and she could replenish her supply of bed sheets at somewhere near OPA levels in a number of metropolitan areas if she shopped around long enough.

China Government Reports Victory Over Red Armies

U. S. Naval Force May Be Withdrawn

NANKING, Feb. 19—(AP)—The Chinese Government tonight reported a big victory in its civil war but said it expected to call upon other nations to help enforce its new emergency economic measures.

Meanwhile, Adm. Charles M. Cooke, Jr., commander of United States Navy Forces in the Western Pacific, flew to Washington for urgent conferences amid unconfirmed reports that American Navy forces would be withdrawn from China. Cooke declined enroute to discuss the nature of his mission.

The State Department last month ordered American military personnel—nearly 2,000 at Peiping and some 10,000 marines in the Peiping Tientsin area—withdrawn. There was no indication at that time, however, that the Navy might quit the Tsingtao base, where it is training Chinese sailors.

On the Chinese Military Front, Peng Hsueh-Pei, Minister of Information, announced that two Communist armies had been "utterly defeated" in the government seizure of Lini in Shantung Province. He said the new fourth and the 18th Route Armies practically "ceased to exist" after being smashed in the Lini Campaign.

Turning to the economic crisis, Peng told a press conference that detailed measures are being drawn to request foreign governments to freeze or report assets held on account of Chinese Nationals residing in China. One of the new emergency measures requires Chinese Nationals to surrender their foreign assets at the new 12,000 to $1 rate or to deposit the accounts in Chinese banks.

Lewis' Daughter Will Pack Pistol

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—John L. Lewis' daughter, Kathryn, secretary-treasurer of District 50 of the United Mine Workers (AFL), today received a permit to carry a pistol.

The 35-year-old union leader, who has worked with her father for many years in the UMW, asked permission to carry the pistol "for the protection of life and property since I live alone in a sparsely-settled section."

Novelist Dies

LAKEVILLE, Conn., Feb. 19 (AP)—Julian Street, 67, novelist and essayist, died suddenly of a cerebral hemorrhage at his home today.

A native of Chicago, Street was graduated from Ridley College, St. Catherine's, Ontario, Canada, and began newspaper work on the Old New York Mail and express in 1899.

Taft Opposes Joint Parley Of CIO-AFL

Committee To Make Decisions, He Says

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—(AP)—Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) dashed cold water today on a surprise CIO suggestion that the Senate Labor Committee call in AFL and CIO leaders to a three-cornered parley on ending jurisdictional strikes.

CIO President Philip Murray proposed the idea.

"You get Willie Green (AFL president) down here so he and I can sit down with this committee and work out an agreement right here," Murray suggested at committee hearings.

Taft Tells Newsmen

Taft's reaction was that this is no way to do business. He told newsmen:

"We can't sit down and write a bill with all the controversy that would be going on. After all, the committee has to make its own decisions."

One of these decisions is what to do about jurisdictional strikes, called when unions disagree over which is to handle a job. Committee members have criticized such strikes as injuring innocent employers and the public.

Murray told the questioning Senator Morse (R-Ore) that "I know there is no moral justification for jurisdictional strikes." He added that the CIO "has not precipitated them."

Morse commented that he would "like to see what the results would be" if Green and Murray got together with the committee on the subject. However, Taft said he is opposed to closed meetings or either "corporations or labor executives" with the committee.

Murray tore into all pending bills to outlaw the closed shop, under which a man must be a union member if he is to work; to forbid industry-wide bargaining, such as is conducted in the coal and steel industries, to change the Wagner Act, which guarantees collective bargaining, and to alter the Norris-La-Guardia Act's restrictions on the use of injunctions against strikes.

Opposes Legislation

Such legislation, he argued, will only encourage business monopolies and lead to "a serious depression involving all Americans."

"In this and the years immediately ahead—barring intemperate and ill-considered action by Congress—there is for the first time promise of developing maturity in the collective bargaining process in those industries recently organized," he testified.

Murray listed as examples the steel, auto, electrical appliance and farm equipment industries. He said that in these fields the issue of the closed shop is not present at all.

The CIO leader snorted, "a lot of tomfoolery—a lot of nonsense," at what he said was the theory of Senator Ball (R-Minn) that there had been a union conspiracy to break off contrract negotiations all at once with companies using steel products.

He got excited again in defense of unions by asking heatedly:

"God Almighty, what crime have these organizations committed except to perform patriotic duties to America?"

Murray claimed that the real reason for labor-management difficulties is that the workers' income is going down while the companies' profits are going up.

Taft argued that the way to solve the problem is to decrease profits through lower prices—"so all can benefit"—and not by higher wages—"where only a small portion benefits."

Female Disguise Ends With Arrest

FAIRHAVEN, Mass., Feb. 19 (AP)—A 17-year-old youth's story of female impersonation so successful that he held jobs as a carnival dancer and domestic came to light today with his arrest on jewelry theft charges.

The arrest resulted from his service last August—in skirts—with the family of K. A. Zilkha, of 300 Central Park West, New York City.

State Police Detective Herbert Hales said the youth, booked as Albert H. Cook, alias "Ruth Hathaway," of Fairhaven, admitted theft of $25,800 worth of jewelry from the Zilkha home while working there as a girl domestic.

Fairhaven Police Chief Norman D. Shurtleff said Cook told him he flew to Chicago with the jewelry and hired a private detective to protect him and the gems.

The police chief said the youth told him he donned a wig, filled out his figure with false forms and roamed the Atlantic Seaboard as a girl for six months, sometimes under the name of "Ruth Hathaway," a cousin, and other times under the name of high school girl friends.

Police Chief Shurtleff quoted the youth as saying he joined a carnival show in Tennessee—as a "cootch" dancer—and stayed with the show until it got to Lake City, Fla. After that he switched back to male clothes and came to Fairhaven.

Byron Price Named U.N. Assistant Secretary-General

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 19—(AP)—Byron Price, wartime chief of censorship, was named today as an assistant secretary-general of the United Nations.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie announced that Price would take over the post held by John B. Hutson, whose recent resignation now is effective. It pays $22,000 tax free, including expenses.

In his new job Price will have charge of U. N. administrative and financial services.

Price, who was executive news editor of the Associated Press until the United States entered the war and he was called to Washington by President Roosevelt, joined the Hollywood office of Eric Johnston upon termination of his government censorship duties.

Hearing In Wreck Of Pennsy Train Set For Friday

22 Reported Dead; 128 Are Injured

ALTOONA, Pa., Feb. 19—(AP)—A hearing on the wreck of the Pennsylvania Railroad's "Red Arrow," which claimed 22 lives and injured 128, seven of them critically, will be held Friday morning in Pittsburgh by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Inspectors G. C. Finney and Harry Hanson of the ICC arrived on the scene of the accident today and after a preliminary investigation announced through the railroad the date of the hearing. The railroad also is investigating the reason for the fast train jumping the rails two miles west of horseshoe curve and sending half of its 14 cars plunging down a 150-foot embankment.

The last of the dead were identified today by the railroad and Coroner Daniel M. Replogle of Blair county with one exception. Mrs. Lillian Pettigrew of Adele, Ga., was listed among the fatalities but there was belief the body may be that of her sister, Mrs. Beatrice White of Bridgeton, N. J. Mrs. Pettigrew's brother, Willie Seabrook of Bridgeton, was said to be en route to establish definite identification.

Originally, the number of dead was thought to be 25 but was reduced as confusion over names was straightened out and badly mangled bodies were identified. There was a Mrs. Renetti listed among those dead but later the body was identified as that of Mrs. Innocente Brunatti of Wyandotte, Mich.

About 50 of the injured remained in either the Mercy or Altoona General Hospitals. In addition to the seven listed in critical condition, five were reported serious and nine fair.

Plane Lands Safely At Casablanca

PARIS, Feb. 19 (AP) — An Air France Constellation with 17 persons aboard landed safely at Casablanca at 8:21 p. m. (3:21 p. m. EST) tonight after its crew jettisoned part of its cargo when one engine failed during a trans-Atlantic flight, headquarters of the airline announced.

The trouble occurred on the four-engined aircraft shortly after take-off from the Azores, officials of the line said. The plane was flying the regular New York to Paris run.

Because the plane was closer to North Africa than its regular Paris stop at Orly Field, it was rerouted to Casablanca.

The New York office of Air France said that extra printed copies of the recently-signed peace treaties with the five Axis Satellite nations were among the 111 packages included in the plane's cargo. These packages weighed 4,500 pounds.

A spokesman for the airline said it could be presumed that the copies of the treaties were jettisoned.

Would Reduce Truman's Plan By 6 Billions

Army-Navy Funds In For Big Cut

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP) — House Republicans rallied solidly today behind a $6,000,000,000 budget slash carrying what its sponsors called "very substantial" cuts in Army-Navy funds.

The report on the closed meeting action came from party leaders, who said the word on Army-Navy cuts was coupled with 'assurance that nothing would be done to harm the nation's fighting strength.

Unanimous Vote

Not a single Republican stayed in his chair, Rep. Bender (R-Ohio) told reporters, when they were called to a standing vote on the issue of trimming President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget to $31,500,000,000.

And not a single speech was made in behalf of a smaller cut, Rep. Taber (R-NY) added.

Taber said he and Rep. Engel (R-Mich) told their colleagues that while "very substantial" military cuts are in the works, "we don't intend to hazard the national defense. We intend to take the waste out of defense."

The Taber-Engel argument was similar to one delivered on the Senate floor by Senator Byrd (D-Va) who declared "there is not a man" in the armed forces who doesn't know first hand of senseless waste.

The speeches were set off by introduction of a compromise proposal by Senator Millikin (R-Colo) to hold the budget cut to $4,500,000,000.

Taft Says Cut Important

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), declaring the nation is carrying a load of taxes nearly one-third the size of its total income, told the Senate "it is more important to cut taxes than even the national debt."

Taft estimated that a cut of $4,500,000,000 from the Presidential figure would enable Congress to reduce income taxes 20 per cent next July and leave $2,500,000,000 to apply on debt. This was based on an estimated excess of $6,000,000,000 in revenue over a spending figure of $33,000,000,000.

On the other hand Senator Aiken (R-Vt) said the Republican Party "will not be serving the best interests of the nation if it tries to cut taxes indiscriminately without carefully studied judgment."

Albania Denies British Charge Of Laying Mines

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—Albania flatly disclaimed today any responsibility for laying mines in the Corfu Channel as charged by Great Britain and in turn accused British ships of violating her territorial waters.

Albanian Representative Hysni Kapo, appearing before the United Nations security council to answer an official complaint, said:

"I deny flatly and categorically the charges that have been made."

Then counter-charging the British with "flagrant violations" of Albanian waters, he said that Royal Navy Warships entered the channel off the Albanian coast to provoke and intimidate his country.

Kapo talked for nearly two hours in opposing the complaint under which the British seek an apology and compensation for loss of life and property. Two destroyers struck mines in the channel last October 22 and 44 sailors were killed.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, sprang to the defense of Albania immediately in debate and engaged in a sharp verbal exchange with Sir Alexander Cadogan, Great Britain's delegate.

The council adjourned in the midst of the tussle and will resume discussion of the case Friday morning (11 a. m. EST). Meanwhile the council will go back into session tomorrow (3 p. m. EST) to resume debate on proposed international control of atomic energy.

Individual's Importance In Order Of Economics Recognized By Church

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 19 (AP) — A gathering of Protestant Church leaders today rejected the classic economic doctrine of Adam Smith as being "irreconcilable" with the teachings of Jesus.

The action was taken by Section No. 1 of the National Conference on the church and economic life.

This section, made up of people from various economic groups, comprises one-third of the 350 delegates to the conference sponsored by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. No actions have yet been taken by the conference.

The section unanimously voted that—

"The Christian Church should oppose the classic doctrine as defined by Adam Smith 'that the individual in pursuit of his selfish gain will be led by an invisible hand to work the good' as an unsatisfactory answer to present economic problems.

"We hold this to be irreconcilable with the emphasis of Jesus upon service as the basic motivation of life as exemplified in his command: 'seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness and all these (material) things shall be added unto you,' bearing in mind that Jesus also laid upon man responsibility for the full use of his talents and abilities."

Adam Smith was the 19th century English economist whose teachings have had enormous influence on economic thinking.

Meantime a labor leader told another section of the conference that Christ would be "horrified" if he came into the meetings and saw the hesitancy of Christians to apply his principles in economic affairs.

Markey's Request For Vote Recount In State Refused

Results Of Spot Check Not Known

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—(AP)—The Senate Rules Committee rejected today a request that it order at once a statewide recount of votes in the contested Maryland Senatorial Election.

It voted unanimously, Chairman Brooks (R-Ill.) said, to follow the procedure set up when it assumed jurisdiction in the contest between Senator Herbert R. O'Conor (D-Md.) and D. John Markey, unsuccessful Republican candidate.

Recount Now On

A rules subcommittee headed by Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) now is recounting votes in five Maryland counties. Brooks told reporters after a closed committee session that no decision on a statewise recount will be made until the partial recount is completed.

Hickenlooper's three-man subcommittee unanimously recommended that Markey's new petition be rejected for the present and promised to speed up the present check, Brooks said.

Asked whether Hickenlooper made any report on results of the recount thus far, Brooks said:

"He did not, and he stated that until the staff they now have can make a final report, there are no figures that can be taken as conclusive."

At the same time, he disclosed that Markey, a retired brigadier general from Walkersville, claims that an uncompleted recount in Baltimore City and three counties has cut O'Conor's margin of victory from 2,232 to 1,040 votes.

Markey said in his petition that this change is sufficient to "warrant and require the committee x x x to order forthwith a recount of all paper ballots cast in the Senatorial election in Maryland," or to recommend such action to the Senate.

His petition asserted that a recheck of voting machine totals in Baltimore City and Montgomery County by the campaign Investigating Committee of the last Senate reduced O'Conor's margin by 426 votes—416 of them in the city.

Anne Arundel Completed

He said that in Anne Arundel County, where representatives of both contestants have reviewed challenged ballots in 21 of 49 ballot boxes, Markey picked up 57 votes. Except for the challenged ballots, the Anne Arundel recount is complete.

Msgr. Babcock Named Cardinal Mooney Aide

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (Thursday) (AP)—The Apostolic Delegate today announced the appointment of the Rev. Msgr. Allen J. Babcock of Detroit as auxiliary bishop to Cardinal Mooney of Detroit and the Right Rev. Msgr. Mark K. Carroll of St. Louis as bishop of Wichita, Kas.

Senate Reported Ready To Appoint D. E. Lilienthal

"Grave Doubts," Declares Wherry

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—A Democratic Policy Committee official said tonight the Senate is presently inclined to confirm David E. Lilienthal as chairman of the Atomic Control Commission, but Senator Wherry (R-Neb.) said there is "grave doubt" about this.

The Democratic official, who declined to be quoted by name, said confidential information from Senators who have not publicly stated their views point toward Senate approvals of Lilienthal's nomination.

McKellar's Estimate Cited

On the other hand, Wherry, the Republican whip, cited to a reporter the estimate by Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.) that 15 Democrats will vote against confirmation. If that is approximately correct Wherry said, Lilienthal's chances are slim.

Thus far, 15 Senators, including three Republicans, have announced publicly that they favor confirmation. Fourteen senators, including four Democrats, have said they are against.

Lilienthal's supporters, meanwhile, hailed a statement by Chairman Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) as an indication that the patience of Senate Atomic Committee members is wearing thin under the protracted attacks McKellar has launched against the nominee.

Hickenlooper told the committee that he thought some of the witnesses who had been summoned "have been brought here at a complete waste of government money."

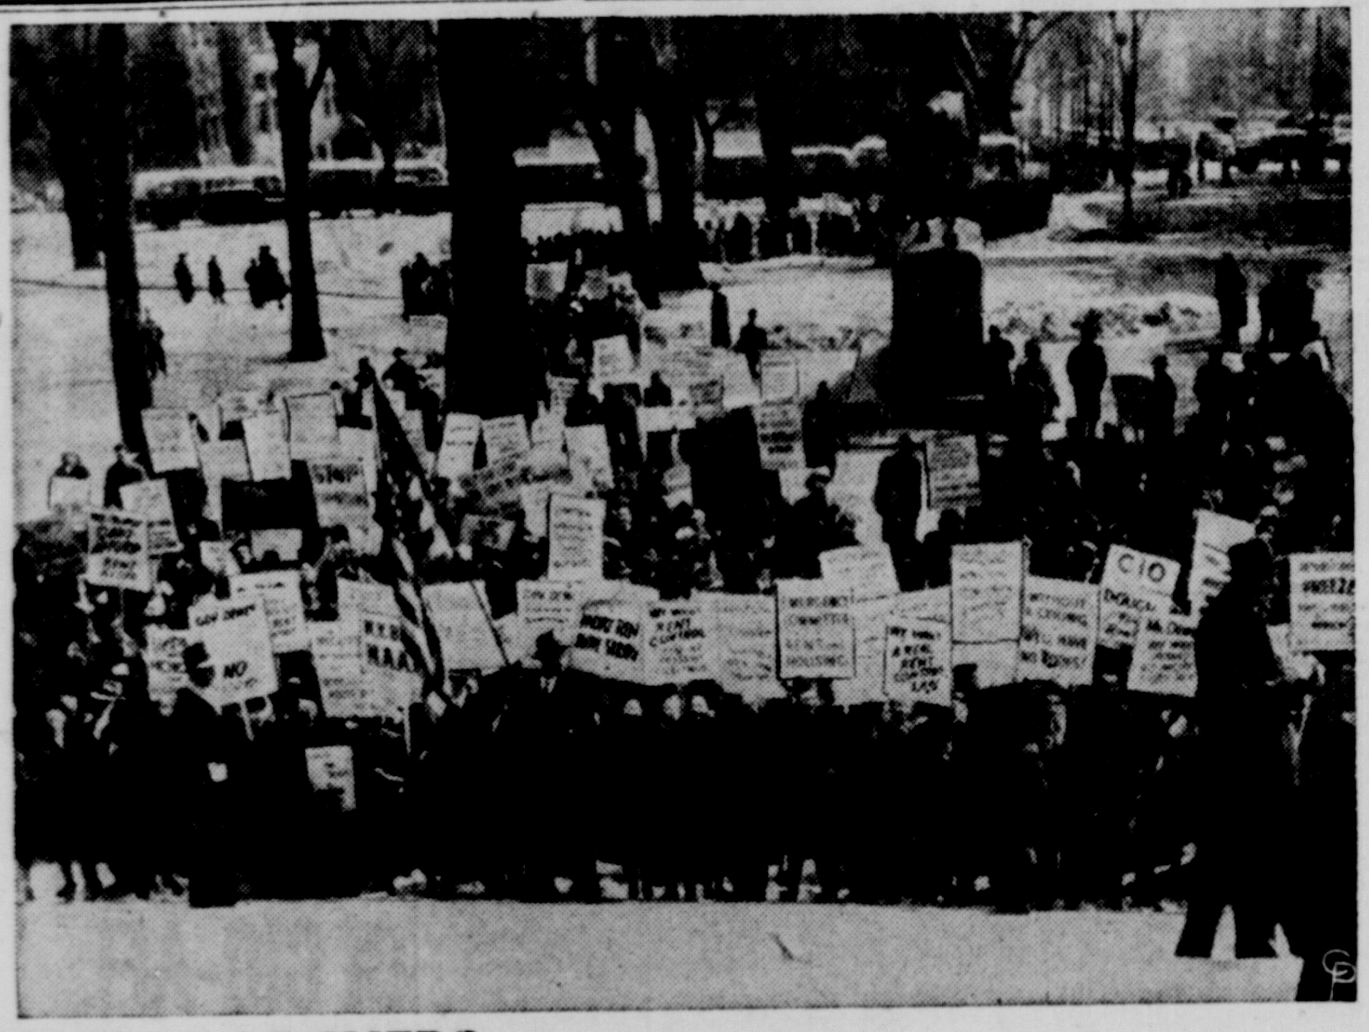
Later he told reporters he believes the committee will want to know, before it subpoenas any future witness, whether the individual involved has any "pertinent" testimony.

McKellar Criticized

An atomic scientist, Charles A. Thomas, told McKellar in today's hearing that his attitude against a world control plan would lead to "an atomic race" between the nations.

McKellar, demanding to know "why we should give away this secret," was told by Thomas that "we are not giving anything away" but getting "security for ourselves and stability for the world" if the proposed control system is set-up.

Thomas is vice president in charge of research and development of the Monsanto Chemical Company. He called Lilienthal "particularly fitted" for the place.



RENT MARCHERS—Some of the 1,000 delegates from New York City, stage a demonstration on the steps of the State Capitol, in Albany, N. Y., in a protest against Gov. Dewey's "failure" to enact low-rent housing legislation. Demanding more housing and continuance of rent control, the marchers were not allowed to enter the building. The legislative chambers were barred by Troopers to all except legislators and newsmen.

Britain Laborites Oppose Giving U.N. Holy Land Question

LONDON, Feb. 19—(AP)—Britain's decision to send the troublesome Palestine question to the United Nations, without recommendations for a solution and with no interim increase in Jewish immigration, was reported today to have run into a "stormy" session of Labor members of Parliament.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's plan also met with heavy criticism from leading Zionists and, it was reported, the renewed insistence by the United States that immediate and substantial Jewish immigration be permitted.

A leading labor member of Parliament said that Bevin, facing critics in a Laborite caucus, blamed pressure of American Jews on the United States Government for his failure to reach an agreed settlement in Palestine.

This informant quoted the Foreign Secretary as saying that "I could have solved the Palestine problem in a way that would have insured peace for 20 years," except for the pressure of American Zionists.

Another reliable source said the United States Government had informed Britain it still considers that a substantial increase in Jewish immigration into the Holy Land is a prerequisite to a satisfactory Palestine settlement. The United States has urged that 100,000 European Jews be admitted immediately.

The source said the United States expressed its opinion in a reply to a British note informing the United States of the decision to refer the Palestine question to the United Nations. The United States "expressed understanding" of the decision, he added.

These leaders of the Jewish agency—David Ben-Gurion, chairman; Moshe Shertok, political director, and Berl Locker, British member—conferred with Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones and asked that the immigration and land restrictions be lifted, pending action by the United Nations.

Gov. Lane

bution of admission tax, $225,000.

The Governor already has submitted a budget calling for $91,000,000 from general funds in the next two years. The $36,000,000 increase would make the 1948-49 budget total $127,000,000. In 1950-51, on the same basis, it would amount to $141,000,000.

In revising his fiscal program to meet expected revenue, Lane told the beneral assembly these things:

It will not be feasible to restore the $5,260,993 "borrowed" from the postwar reconstruction fund, but rather finance projects by bond issues. Part of a $4,625,000 issue voted by the assembly in 1945 would be available for commitments already made.

It will not be necessary, through economy and probable business conditions, to set up a $3,000,000 "cushion" against falling off of revenues.

The two per cent titling tax on automobiles, now worth $2,625,000 annually, should be taken from the general funds and given to the Roads Commission.

The $1,450,000 spent annually for the state police, "which now are used for many purposes other than road patrol," should be removed from Road Commission funds and transferred to the general fund.

Loss of revenue from the titling tax and transer of police costs will mean more taxes to make up the difference in general revenue, Lane asserted.

Four-Year-Old Boy Kills Mother Accidentally

PONTIAC, Mich., Feb. 19—(AP)—Mrs. Loudene Hargraves, 23, was accidentally shot to death today by a shotgun blast fired by her four-year-old son, Jerry, police reported.

Neighbors said they heard the shot and entered the Hargraves apartment to find the young woman fatally wounded. She was dead on admittance to Pontiac General Hospital.

The child was playing with a light, single-barrel shotgun. Mrs. Hargraves' husband, Clyde, who was at work at the time, told officers the gun ordinarily was kept in a closet.

Too Much Crosby?

LONDON, Feb. 19 (AP)—Walter Elliott, conservative party member of Parliament from Scotland, argued in Commons tonight that the British Broadcasting Corporation was playing too many Bing Crosby records.

"It's not merely three or four hours of Bing Crosby," he said, "but 30 or 40 or 300 or 400 and this allocation is rained on the heads of many households."

Mrs. Jean Mann, a laborite, claimed that the sentiments expressed in many of the modern tunes played over the BBC helped lure married couples into illicit affairs.

Maryland Senate Would Take Boats With Oyster Laws

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 19 (AP) — The Maryland Senate voted today to permit its authorities to confiscate boats of Virginians caught violating oyster laws in the Potomac River and send the violators back to their home state for trial.

The action was taken when the Senate concurred 23-6 in a House amendment to a measure which would have permitted Marylanders to try violating Virginians in Free State Courts.

The Oyster debate brought forth the hottest debate of the legislative session and was the second controversy of the day in the Senate.

Earlier the Senate adopted a favorable report of its judiciary committee to repeal Maryland's declaration of intentions law which requires would-be voters to declare their intention of becoming a citizen a year before they may cast ballots.

Both Houses received Governor Lane's tax program which would bring in $25,000,000 a year through a two per cent sales tax and increase in corporation income taxes. He called the proposals the only means by which the state can take care of its financial problems.

The house of delegates passed 27 bills and had 32 introduced in one of its biggest legislative days.

One of the measures passed would permit absolute divorce of either party in Maryland after voluntary separation for three years. The present law requires five years' separation. At the 1945 General Assembly a similar bill was adopted but Governor O'Conor vetoed it.

It passed today 117 to 1 without debate, with Delegate Ramsberg (R-Frederick) asking to be recorded against it.

Another House-passed measure would require annual registration of all Maryland dentists. This was proposed by the legislative council with the support of the Board of Dental Examiners and the State Dental Society. It passed 105-12.

Repeal Of Declaration Of Intentions Approved

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 19 (AP)—The State Senate by a 19 to 10 vote approved today a committee's favorable recommendation of a bill which would strike Maryland's old declaration of intentions act from the election law.

The vote on the floor came after a report that the committee had approved the measure by an 8 to 1 margin.

Yesterday, proponents of repeal testified at a public hearing that the act was a hindrance to Democratic Government and thousands of would-be voters had been deprived of participation in governmental affairs.

The bill moves up to passage stage.

State Measure To Curb Utility Strikes Opposed

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 19 (AP)—Acknowledging considerable opposition to his bill to curb strikes in public utilities, Senator Stromberg (D-Howard) said today he was convinced it was vital to protect the public from 'possible disaster."

Doubts as to the measure's effectiveness and constitutionality were raised at a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing by both labor unions and the few utilities.

Senator Bolton (D-Baltimore) said a number of utilities had declined invitations to testify because their "relations with labor have been so cordial." Most letters received from concerns that would be affected by the bill indicated "neutrality," Bolton said, although some said it would not do much to insure labor peace.

Schmidt questioned whether the bill conflicted with federal statutes and admitted anxiety about a provision that would turn the operation of utilities over to the Public Service Commission in case of a work stoppage.

Senator Della (D-Balto Sixth) raised doubt at the hearing as to the state's jurisdiction in view of the National Labor Relations Act, granting labor rights in industries engaged in interstate commerce. Later he also questioned the "need" for such legislation.

The bill would forbid strikes in firms under supervision of the Public Service Commission, allow the Commission to operate utilities if work ceased, and require arbitration by a three-man board appointed by the governor if commission orders for settlement of a dispute proved "onerous" to labor or management.

Dr. Pullen Urges $2,200 Minimum For Md. Teachers

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 19 (AP) — Passage of legislation granting an adequate minimum salary for Maryland Teachers would make the proposed state incentive fund to pay the instructors unnecessary State School Superintendent Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., said today.

Dr. Pullen told the House Education Committee there would be no need for the fund and that the five cent tax planned for that purpose could be used for maintenance.

He urged a minimum salary of $2,200 annually.

Dr. Pullen, in recommending minor modifications in the Sherbow Report as it relates to education, called for simplification of Administration of school funds by reducing the funds to four groups.

The funds include a state payment of $400 to political sub-divisions each year per teacher in place of the present $150; plus $20 for each pupil; part payment of salaries by the state or county and city supervisory officials; and retention of the equalization fund.

He pointed out that legislative council bills already introduced would create two incentive funds, one for teachers and the other for buildings.

Dr. Pullen also said he favored retention of Frostburg State Teachers College, although its closing was recommended in the Marbury Commission report.

Portal-to-Portal Issue Foggy Despite Court Ruling

The portal-to-portal pay issue continues' in a dense fog of uncertainty, despite Federal Judge Picard's new decision in the Mount Clemens Pottery Company case. The Judge tossed out of court all claims for such pay by employes of the small Michigan firm, holding them too trivial to be of concern of the law. He held, also, that if the United States Supreme Court overruled him on that point, the company should not be liable for portal-to-portal claims dating back beyond last June 10—the date on which the Supreme Court ruled originally in the Mount Clemens case.

Some months hence, presumably, the case will reach the Supreme Court again. And eventually that Court will undertake to decide whether Judge Picard is right or wrong on both points. But even if it upholds his entire decision, that is not likely to dispose of the issue, because considerations that led Judge Picard to pronounce the Mount Clemens claims trifling may not be found to apply to many other industries and companies.

Under the laws of many states, it may be found impossible for Federal Courts to fix last June 10 or any other fairly recent date as a limit for back portal pay claims. So there is the prospect of much delay in obtaining a new Supreme Court decision, and grave doubt how general the effect of that decision might be. Meanwhile, employers against whom some $5,000,000,000 worth of portal pay suits have been filed cannot be sure that they won't be subjected to ruinous judgments. And the Federal Government cannot be sure that it won't be liable for huge tax rebates to such employers, as well as for large additional payments on cost-plus war contracts.

The decision by Judge Picard, we think, has not removed the need for action by Congress on the portal-to-portal controversy. That situation is largely the result of careless legislation. Congress, when it wrote the Wage-Hour Law in 1938, failed to define the term "work week." The Supreme Court, therefore, wrote its own definition and so opened the gates to the flood of suits.

Congress should remove the many uncertainties by remedying the defect in the Wage-Hour Law, make it possible for future portal-to-portal claims to be adjusted by collective bargaining, and put a limit on past liabilities, if any, of employers and the Government.

Putting Germans On Road To Democracy Has Been Slow

During the last few weeks, because the problem of peace with Germany will soon be attacked at Moscow, American periodicals have been filled with reports on what has been happening in the United States zone since the war ended. These articles have made earnest effort to acquaint the public with the policies of American authorities and with the results achieved.

Moreover, there seems to be general agreements that conditions in the American zone reflect considerable credit on those responsible even though there is plenty of room for criticism. But the opinion seems to be virtually unanimous that attempts to put the German people on the road to democracy have so far made little progress. The German attitude toward free political institutions is still skeptical if not hostile.

This judgment now finds support in a survey that has recently been conducted among German war prisoners returned to Britain. Asked whether they believe that the English brand of democracy could be successfully introduced in Germany, 57 percent of them replied in the negative. As for those who considered it possible, a large proportion were doubtful but were willing to concede that the German attitude might be changed in the course of time.

Thus the great weight of the evidence supports the conclusion that the only way to turn Germany into a democratic nation is to make certain that the Germans will not be able to follow their inclinations. That may involve a generation of control, but anything less can have only one result.

Businesslike Talks Replace Those Of Verbal Fireworks

According to a dispatch from Washington the United States has lost its flair for oratory. With the possible exception of Senator Arthur Vandenberg, who can make the rafters ring on occasion, the old-time orators are gone. Instead of indulging in verbal fireworks, the Senators are inclined to make businesslike speeches on the floor, and to spend more and more time working in committees.

It strikes us that the lack of oratory in the Senate isn't due to any shortage of potential orators, but rather to the decline of oratory itself as a method of winning friends and influencing people. Not so many years ago, the man who could make his voice perform like a pipe organ was an important feature at every public gathering. It didn't matter so much what he said, as how he said it. Oratory was appreciated as an art, like dancing or juggling.

Now, however, the trend seems to be in the other direction. Many audiences would rather have a speaker say something, sincerely and clearly, instead of putting on a show of verbal pyrotechnics.

Even though he may be saying something important, the orator is suspect. His bellowing and whispering, his pear-shaped sounds, remind many moderns of the sauces that are thrown over doubtful foods in doubtful eating places. To carry this thought a bit further—the human race, in most of its activities, seems to be getting away from the high-sounding but empty phrases.

For instance, salesmen, by and large, no longer depend upon a glib tongue that "can talk a bird out of a tree." The "bird" is more likely to be sold by facts, a good product and decent treatment. Modern writing, modern conversation—yes, from all reports, even modern courtship—eschew the flowery phrases that were dear to our ancestors.

Oh yes, there are golden voices on the radio, and on the lecture platform. And some of the radio commercials are worse than the old-time purely rabble rousing oratory. But generally speaking, the spoken and written word is becoming more and more a tool, less and less an ornament.

In a proposed new calendar Christmas would always fall on Monday, thus depriving government employes of an excuse to take the remainder of the week off.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

FACTS AND FALLACIES ON SHAMPOOING

WE are asked now and then how frequently the hair should be washed—once a week, every 10 days, or four times a year. Common sense dictates that the answer should be "whenever it is necessary." In all probability this is more often than the average person realizes.

The scalp acts as an excellent dirt catcher. It retains dust, soot, and smoke particles as well as the secretions of the sweat and oil producing glands of the area. If such grime appeared on the face, no one would waste a minute seeking soap and water. Hence a daily shampoo is recommended especially for individuals with extremely oily skins; and perhaps once or twice a week for those in whom the grease factories are overactive.

But the angle of cleanliness may not enter the picture for there are many who think that washing the hair leads to undue dryness, will interfere with growth, increase the tendency to scales, or cause harm in some other fashion. Some women particularly still adhere to old wives' tales and consequently let it go for two or three months at a time. Actually there is no scientific basis for such beliefs as abnormalities usually develop for other reasons. On the other hand, uncleanliness invites infection and the oils undergo chemical changes resulting in objectionable odors.

The task can be an oreal, especially to women, but seldom requires special equipment or magic preparations. Any good toilet soap that produces a rich lather which can be rinsed with ease is acceptable. Plenty of water, either from the shower or a detachable spray, is advised.

Occasionally soap particles precipitate, leaving a flaky debris. This may be mistaken for dandruff, leading to the false notion that washing has a parching effect on the tissues. When the material cannot be removed easily, the use of vinegar or one of the many water softeners on the market will help. The newer surface active agents are similar to soap in their detergent action, dissolve readily, and do not require a rinse other than water. A few of the creamy preparations, however, leave a film on the hair which picks up dirt.

Another common fallacy is that washing the head makes a person more susceptible to colds. If drying is thorough, no one should be endangered. Drying with a towel is preferred to heat lamps but is more time consuming.

Nor will frequent shampooing lead to baldness. We do not know why the tresses fall out except that the phenomenon "runs in families" and nothing that is done or not done has much influence.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The book publishing industry has increased tremendously in the last few years, mainly responsible for this literary bonanza is the little item called the "blurb."

The "blurb" is a beautiful piece of writing appearing on the back page of the jacket which tells you that buying that book is the smartest move of your life.

Just over the "blurb" is the author's picture. If he's a decent-looking fellow there are ten lush paragraphs describing his romantic background. If he is not so handsome, the camera catches him from below, smoking a pipe and looking as if he knew something.

Next there are about 100 words describing the book, certain phases, which the publishers carefully set up in bold type, invariably catch your eye: "racey, fiery passion — brute strength—each other." This is directed toward people who are tired of reading about love cases and divorces in their daily papers and want a few laughs.

The most fascinating part of the blurb, however, is the "publisher's commercial." This is a listing of every book the company has put out in the last twelve years with a hitcha summary of each, next to each title is the price and a review by the best friend of the author.

As a "blurb happy" friend, I'm looking forward with joy to the day they bring out a novel filled with nothing but blurb and the story on the back cover.

Invention Of Atomic Bomb Ushers In Era Of Buck Rogers Fantasy; Republican Movie Czar Eric Johnston Supports Administration's Trade Policies

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—It is difficult for the average person to understand the amazing vistas opened up by science during World War II and realize that the unbelievable era of Buck Rogers fantasy is now actually here.

The most obvious development was the atomic bomb. Not as well known but perhaps even more fantastic are the numerous secrets of the earth which the bomb's invention also opened. For the past three years, for instance, geoclastic scientists have been working on a project for setting off a controlled chain reaction in the crust of the earth.

This project is described by the scientists as a hrydrogen chain reaction, in which the hydrogen in the surface of the earth would be made to burn in a slow but continuous stream. Simultaneously, these scientists are reported to be preparing a means for speedily extinguishing such blazes by the system of back fires and chemical devices which could hold its spread at the borderline of any country.

Fantastic as this may sound, it is only a small phase of the field which science opened up at a time when the Government, in desperation and out of fear of what enemy scientists might be doing, gave American scientists full freedom to work.

An earth-crust chain reaction is now deemed a reasonable possibility and might mean the end for a country even as large as Russia. A chain reaction of this type could carry across mountains, through ice and snow, searing everything in its path with the relentless force of a gigantic, fire-burning steam roller.

American scientists warn that what they are working on is also worked on by scientists all over the world. No nation has a monopoly on knowledge. What American science has is a head start and the "know-how."

Note--Yet there are still some people who wonder whether it is a good idea to have international control of atomic energy!

Under The Dome

President Truman not only has told intimates he will back Lilienthal's confirmation fight to the limit, but added that he would even argue with the TVA director if he asked to be withdrawn. Truman told friends that he could have got Edwin W. Pauley as Undersecretary of the navy if Pauley hadn't lost his nerve . . . Just before he left for Hawaii, Interior Secretary Cap Krug ordered a ten-foot square sign erected in the lobby of the Interior Department Building, bearing the now famous statement on Democracy by David Lilienthal . . . Almost the entire Cabinet will speak at a dinner to be given by Florida Democrats to raise a quarter of a million dollars to back Truman's 1948 election. The dinner will cost $250 a plate . . . American Ambassador Arthur Bliss Lane, who is not returning to Poland, will probably go to The Netherlands. Secretary Marshall will appoint a new Ambassador to Warsaw, but not until after the Moscow Conference.

A Strange Republican

While Senator Bob Taft of Ohio was opening fire on the reciprocal trade program, another prominent Republican was firing from the opposite direction—right inside President Truman's private office.

The second Republican was Eric Johnston, scrappy Hollywood movie czar, who called at the White House not only to recommend retention of reciprocal trade, but to uncork some views of the coming Geneva Conference, at which time the USA will sit down with 17 other nations to iron out bottlenecks in world trade.

Johnston, former president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and frequently mentioned as a GOP Presidential dark horse, emphasized that he was speaking as a Republican when he expressed hope that the Geneva Trade Conference will succeed. He strongly urged Truman to do just the reverse of the Taft policy and work for the mutual lifting of restrictive tariffs on international trade.

Unless this is done, Johnston told Truman, all countries will have to go back to barter and national isolation. World peace depends more on opening up the channels of trade than in restricting them, Johnston added, and the Geneva Conference may be the last chance to make a sick world well.

Johnston argued that all nations will have to learn to sacrifice some trade advantages to gain others, and no nation can expect always to get the best of the bargain. In the long run reciprocity works out for the advantage of everybody.

England, for instance, Johnston told Truman, sells Scotch whisky cheaper in New York than in London because of the advantage it gains in the exchange of other goods.

If the United States expects other nations to continue looking to us for leadership, we must continue to take the lead in world co-operation, the movie czar declared.

President Truman's reaction to this unusual Republican declaration could be described as pop-eyed approbation. He was almost speechless. Though Johnston is known for his forthright, liberal views on foreign affairs, not since Franklin Roosevelt was alive had the President's office heard such two-fisted philosophizing.

Capital Chaff

Of course it wasn't announced as such, but California politicos consider that their Governor, Earl Warren, launched his 1948 campaign when he arrived in Washington last week. Host at the lavish cocktail party given him at the Statler Hotel upon his arrival was Senator Bill Knowland, with the guest list carefully including just about everyone who could be helpful in swinging a GOP nomination—even including Senator Bob Taft of Ohio . . . Arrogant Chairman Harold Knutson seems to think he can speak for the Ways and Means Committee, without even taking a vote of its members. During a meeting of the Joint Committee on the legislative budget a Senator remarked that it might be well to wait until the Ways and Means Committee had reached a decision on a certain matter. "I'll give you the answer of the Ways and Means Committee right now if you want it," whispered Knutson to Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.

Tax Cut With Budget Saving Is Given Secondary Priority

By MARK SULLIVAN

The budget battle, so far as it can be compressed into a nutshell, which actually it cannot, begins with the position of President Truman. He recommends that the expenditures of the Federal government be cut to 37½ billion dollars. Many Republicans, and the Joint Congressional Committee officially, say the cut can be $6,000,000,000 greater.

Battle begins, several battles in one. The primary one is whether the cut can be or should be as great as many Republicans and the Joint Committee say. Protest against a greater cut comes from persons and agencies that would be affected adversely to their interests. Some of the protests call for earnest considering, and get it. Army and Navy heads say that a larger cut in the amounts allotted to them in Mr. Truman's estimate would be a menace to the national interest. About this, it is practically impossible for the public to judge. Other protests are easier to judge, in principle at least. Every government agency has at all times an interest in avoiding or minimizing cuts in the appropriations for them. The influence these have on Congress is great.

One pressure comes from a source for which the public as a whole will have little consideration. The Joint Congressional Committee, in its proposal for a greater cut, recommended "deferment . . . of public works projects." This brings protest from communities, especially in the West, which wish to retain projects for hydro-electric dams, irrigation and the like. The communities thus concerned have influence upon their Congressmen. Some of the pressure comes from persons everywhere who believe in public works projects for the sake of extension of the government in industry.

Goes To Heart of Battle

To this whole pressure for going on with public works, for whatever motive, the Joint Committee makes a conclusive answer. It calls for "the elimination of those functions of the Federal government which might be regarded as . . . not imperative . . . in light of a towering public debt."

That, as a declaration of policy, goes to the heart of the battle. Unless we are willing to refrain from every expenditure that is "not imperative," we shall not reduce the National debt, it will go on growing. And unless we reduce the National debt now, under present conditions, when will we ever reduce it?

This is put with especial force and terseness in statements from two sources. One is a private institution, the National City Bank of New York: "Here we are . . . at the highest level of National income ever reached, and this on the basis of a business boom . . . if we cannot, under these favorable conditions . . . pay off debt . . . when can we hope to do so?"

To the same effect, and with equal force and terseness, is Democratic Senator O'Mahoney of Wyoming. He points out that our "national income is 165 billion dollars, the highest peak ever reached in the history of this or any other country." Then Senator O'Mahoney turns to the National debt: "If we do not pay for it while we have the money with which to pay, if we do not pay off the debt while the National income is at this high level, we will never pay it off."

Would Apply Saving To Debt

In the battle of the budget as a whole, a secondary fight, though not so very secondary, is what to do with the extra $6,000,000,000 which many Republicans and the Joint Congressional Committee recommend to be cut from expenditures. It can be used for either of two purposes, reducing the National debt or reducing taxes. Many Republicans and the Joint Committee recommend a roughly equal division between the two puropses. Democratic Senator O'Mahoney, and many others, urge strongly that the whole amount be applied to reduction of the National debt.

It is not exclusively a choice of alternatives, it can be with good reason considered as a choice of priority. Both purposes are helpful in the one broad purpose of a sound economy. Of the two, reduction of the National debt would have the most concrete effect. Knowledge that the United States had reached its National debt would have a greater psychological effect on ourselves and the world, would create a stronger conviction that we are going to take the path toward soundness, than knowledge that we had reduced taxes. Actually, reduction of taxes is being given secondary priority. Says Republican Senator Smith of New Jersey: "The tax-cutting program must follow and not precede budget balancing."

True "Liberals" Facing Choice Of Closed Shop Or Civil Rights

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19. — An astonishing statement has just been made by the undersecretary of labor, David Morse, namely, that there are "closed shop" provisions of one kind or another in 77 per cent of the 50,000 collective bargaining contracts with unions.

This means that monopoly is far more extensive than any previously available information has even remotely suggested.

Mr. Morse was using the statistics to argue that the "closed shop" must not be disturbed by congress. This is reminiscent of what the big business men used to say — that monopolies and trusts should not be disturbed by the courts because it would upset established arrangements.

It's the same kind of argument that has been made again and again in defending monopoly, and it is an example of how far gone the monopolistic system on the labor side is when a government official of a so-called "liberal" administration is arguing for the "status quo" in favor of labor union monopolies.

Expediency has never stayed the hand of the federal government in matters of court action where evil has been uncovered. The anti-trust laws were enacted by a Republican Congress in 1890 to save the nation from exploitation. It could have been argued then that the monopolies had built up the country and developed its resources and that hence they should have immunity.

Today the labor union monopolies have been established by economic pressure under which, in effect, a gun has been pointed at the head of the employer so that he must agree to the "closed shop," or suffer considerable loss. None of these "closed shop" agreements has ever been passed upon by the Supreme Court of the United States. In the Wagner Law there is a provision which says the employer must not make membership in a union a condition of work and yet in the same law there is a provision which says that "voluntary agreements between employers and unions involving union membership as a condition of employment are not discriminatory. This conflict has never been passed upon either by the highest court because no case involving that specific issue has been brought before the court.

Incidentally, several states have adopted amendments to their own constitutions barring the "closed shop" and the issue of whether these amendments are valid has not yet been passed upon by the Supreme Court of the United States. In one case recently the Supreme Court by-passed the issue. Another test is expected shortly.

The problem is a simple one if civil rights are to be considered. No union has a right to determine who shall or shall not work. The right to work is one of the rights reserved to the people under the constitution of the United States, and not even the federal government may say who shall or shall not work in private industry or business.

If a union has the constitutional right to regulate employment and, by its own rules, determine who shall not work, then the supreme court was wrong in invalidating the NRA in 1935 when it held that congress could not delegate the lawmaking authority to any private organization. The labor unions and the "code authorities" which emerged under NRA are on a par when it comes to units exercising powers of economic life or death over individuals or their businesses.

True Liberals Face Choice

Because the "closed shop" has reached so deeply into the economic system of this country, there are those who wish to appease the unions by offering plans to "regulate" rather than abolish the "closed shop" monopoly. This would be more dangerous than outright abolition. For it would mean that political government would undertake to permit certain monopolies to function, and this would result in delegation by Congress to some agency, like the labor board, of the task of administering these rules. It would open the way to complete regulation of labor unions by government—a source of greater friction than the "closed shops."

There is no justification in law or equity for a "closed shop" monopoly. No individual or group of individuals has a right to say in America that a man or woman shall not be permitted to work unless he or she pays tribute to a private organization and agrees to abide by union-made laws.

The right to work is impaired by the "closed shop" and true liberals will not accept it any more than they would the impairment of any other civil right.

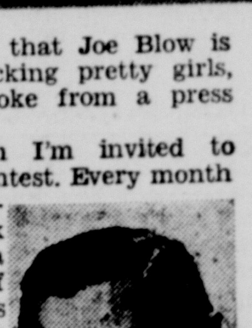
PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

When you read that Joe Blow is an expert at picking pretty girls, it's so much smoke from a press agent's pipe.

Every so often I'm invited to judge a beauty contest. Every month or so, some college yearbook editor mails in a package of photos, and asks me to select the prettiest co-ed in the class. I guess he's read somewhere I'm a professor of pulchritude, and, having seen it in black and white, believes it.



Billy Rose

Well, it's nice work if you can get it, but all this stuff about my being a picker of pretties is 100-proof malarkey. And the same goes for Ziegfeld, Carroll, White and Goldwyn. I think anybody who can cross the street without a Seeing-Eye Dog can pick a pretty girl.

Don't think I'm getting a rush of modesty to the head. When it comes to taking bows, I'm like Eddie Leonard. I once tried to cut his act to eight minutes. "Why, Mr. Rose," smiled the old minstrel man, "I bow for fifteen."

I've been in this grift too long to be taken in by the mumbo-jumbo connected with it. Especially when I started so much of this mumbo-jumbo myself.

Any boy who likes girls can pick them. It's the one game in which everybody is born good. When it comes to judging glamour, the whistle is much more important than the tape measure. The physical culture magazines tell you a girl should have a 24 waist, 34 hips, and 34 you-know-whats. Her chin angle should be eleven degrees west of the concave, and the square root of the hypotenuse the same color as her hair. Bunk and double bunk! If she gives you goose bumps, hire her.

The key to collecting cuties is the same as the key to so many other vexing problems — Money! What you're willing to spend for salaries and costumes is ninety-nine per cent of it. The other one per cent is an eye sharp enough to read the top line on an optician's chart.

I'm writing this piece in Ziegfeld's old office. Let's see how the all-time boss of the beauty business used to go about getting his girls. When the Equity minimum for show girls and dancers was something like thirty bucks a week, Ziggy was paying girls like Gladys Glad and Lillian Lorraine as much as three hundred (a thousand Truman dollars). When his competitors were dressing girls in sixty dollars worth of cheesecloth, the Great Glorifier was dolling them up in six-hundred dollar Irish lace petticoats.

Well, no one ever scared off a honey by offering her clothes and money. The news got around, and every girl in America with straight legs, straight nose and carfare headed for Ziggy's office. When the Great Man issued a chorus call, he needed the riot squad to keep the babes from taking the building apart. His contemporaries, paying a fast thirty a week, had to content themselves with seconds, thirds and twelfths.

Earl Carroll hit the producing business about twenty years ago. Overnight, this ex-songwriter became a big man in the girl department. How did he do it? Simple. He was bright enough to pay every girl in his line a hundred dollars a week.

A couple of years ago, I put on a revue called "Seven Lively Arts." There was plenty of disagreement on the show's merits, but none on the show girls. People kept asking we where I got those Eyeful Towers. I winked and played genius.

Here's the story. After several unproductive chorus calls, I dropped in to see Harry Conover, the model merchant. I told him I was willing to pay a hundred a week American for real sigh-catchers. The next day his camera chicks mobbed me. Herbert Hoover could have taken it from there. George Jean Nathan complimented my keen eye. I pasted his review in the scrapbook and kept my yap shut. Until now.

Let me tell you how a so-called beauty expert works. I'll describe a chorus call. Let's see how smart you have to be to pick 'em.

You put an ad in the paper that you want tall beauties for your new show, "Cucumbers of 1947." Several hundred gals show up. Some are four-foot-eight, with little mustaches and legs like parentheses. In their hearts, they're six feet tall and beautiful. If you're a right guy, you keep a poker face and tell them you're looking for another type. Eugene O'Neill showed us what happens to people when you blow away their pipe dreams.

First you eliminate the impossibles, about three out of every five. If baby has Roquefort cheese teeth, or is too bow-legged to catch a pig in an alley—thank you, my dear, leave your name and address and we'll let you know. You ask the remaining girls to parade slowly around the stage. What do you look for? The same things you look for when you're standing on a windy corner.

See? Anybody can do it.

Did I say anybody? Yes, anybody—female company excepted. Asking a woman to appraise another woman's beauty is like asking Senator Taft what he thinks of the other Republican candidates.

Maryland Jaycees Endorse Teacher Salary Measures

State Directors View Numerous Problems

Commenting on a meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors in Baltimore over the weekend, the delegation representing Cumberland Jaycees reports favorable action taken on endorsement of pay raises for teachers, a statewide basketball tournament, survey and improvement of state mental institutions, traffic safety, state supervision of a physical education program and discussion of plans for the coming state convention.

John M. Robb, local attorney who is chairman of the convention committee, David Kauffman, local Jaycee president, Harry Kauffman, James P. Wilkinson and C. William Gilchrist, past state president, represented Cumberland at the conference.

Robb said last night he conferred with the state president, J. Rutledge Clark on preliminary plans for the annual state convention here May 16, 17, and 18. Clark plans to announce within the next few weeks, Robb said, the complete convention program along with the full convention committee, award committee and committee on resolutions.

Favor Teacher Pay Bill

Kauffman stated the state organization went on record favoring passage of the proposed salary bill for public school teachers, fixing the state minimum at $2,000 per year, with $100 increments over a period of years, and also the measure giving this county and Baltimore city a base pay of $2,200.

Jaycees further recommended that (1) non-teaching principals for 15-teacher schools; (2) classes of not more than 30 students each; (3) low tuition junior colleges in Maryland; (4) increased expansion of vocational training programs; (5) increase in compulsory age limits for students; (6) broadening of teacher retirement pay benefits; (7) immediate attention to refurbishing schools throughout the state.

Dr John G. Seidel, assistant state superintendent of schools attended the conference and provided the Jaycees with answers to scores of questions on education and Maryland's system.

A traffic safety report of the Traffic Committee submitted by Chairman James Rowe, Baltimore, was approved and the Youth Welfare Committee report from Chairman Barry Kauffman, this city were submitted for study and will be made public later it was indicated.

Dislike Tournament Plans

There was some criticism of and disagreement with the proposed state basketball tournament, as Baltimore City is not included. Sports Chairman Robert Fair, Salisbury, termed present plans for the tournament are inadequate and below the standard hoped for by Maryland Jaycees.

At the last state convention in Frederick, Jaycees went on record favoring a statewide basketball tournament among high schools, as an annual event in Maryland, and committees have been working on the idea since.

The State Health Supervisor of Physical Education made plans and recently announced them. The Jaycees expressed their dissatisfaction, claiming the tournament set-up would make "automatic champions" and will not be a true test of basket ball caliber in Maryland.

The executive board proposed to ask the University of Maryland to sponsor a state wide tournament for high schools along lines of those in other states where such a program has been beneficial to the youth in many ways.

Endorse Shepperd

Maryland Jaycee leaders went on record endorsing John B. Shepperd of Texas, for 1947-48 national president. The national election will be held at the United States Jaycee convention at Long Beach, Calif., June 9 to 15.

A forum discussion of Junior Chamber work over Baltimore station WITH, with presidents of Jaycee organizations in Baltimore, Frederick, Salisbury, Cumberland, Hagerstown and Frostburg was presented as a special feature during the conference. Kauffman represented Cumberland and Ray Layman represented Frostburg.

Mrs. Loris Wathen Is Improving

Mrs. Loris Peters Wathen, 33, Augusta, W. Va., who was admitted to Allegany Hospital Monday night for treatment of a shotgun wound in the left hip was reported "resting comfortably" last night.

Trooper L. W. Kelley, Romney, W. Va., who investigated for West Virginia State Police, said both Mrs. Wathen and her husband reported the accident occurred when the gun Wathen was cleaning in the kitchen of his home went off accidentally.

Wathen explained to Trooper Kelley that the 12 gauge shotgun shell was one which had been left in the gun since deer season.

Harold Stouffer, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stouffer, Cresaptown, was treated in Allegany Hospital last night for a slight cut on the back of the head. The child was hurt when he fell against a radiator, attaches were told.

Oswald G. Zollner, 56, 401 Laing Avenue, was treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon for a finger injury. The B. and O. Car department employe said he hit his hand with a hammer while at work.

Walter Dennison, 39, Springfield, W. Va., a B. and O. back shop employe, was treated in Memorial Hospital late last night for a laceration of the left thumb. He told attaches he was injured when the air gun he was using slipped.

Mrs. Cupler Urges Qualifications For Juvenile Judge

Letters and telegrams have been sent to Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., urging that the State Legislature set up a list of qualifications for judge of Juvenile Court, Mrs. John A. Cupler, II, education chairman of the Cumberland Branch, American Association of University Women, said last night.

Mrs. Cupler said she contacted various women's groups in the city on the matter, and stated that in her opinion a candidate for judge should be a lawyer and a sociologist as well before being considered for the appointment.

Stating that she herself wrote to the governor as an individual, Mrs. Cupler said she opposed the proposed appointment of Thomas B. Stakem as judge of Juvenile Court to succeed Judge John Barnard, who is not a candidate.

Mrs. Cupler said a candidate for the appointment should have a law degree and should also be experienced as a sociologist, in order to handle Juvenile Court cases.

Zoning Board Grants Occupancy Permits

Two appeals for occupancy permits, denied by the city engineer, were granted last night by the Board of Zoning Appeals.

Walter Gross, 408 North Mechanic street, secured a permit to use the first story of a two-story building at 253 Henderson avenue as a retail hardware store. He said he plans to increase the size of the building to 96 feet in length and to reconstruct the walls, using brick. The addition, which will require tearing down two frame buildings in the rear, will have concrete block walls.

Mrs. Josephine V. Smith, Flintstone, was granted a permit to use a vacant lot at Lot No. 529, Potomac Street, as a site for a planing mill. Her appeal was originally filed January 28 but a decision was withheld temporarily pending an investigation of fire insurance rates in connection with the proposed mill.

and Pittsburgh, ordinances are enforced on the type of coal burned, limiting the amount of fly ash, specifying correct designs of furnaces, and limiting the amount of smoke.

Shaffer said that Pittsburgh has a bureau of smoke prevention as a branch of the board of public health, which appoints supervisors and qualified inspectors to see that the provisions of the ordinance are enforced.

Mrs. John A. Cupler, II, education chairman of the AAUW here, discussed smoke control from the housewife's point of view, as well as from a health standpoint. She quoted one local merchant as stating that dirt is his worst competitor, since its limits the type of clothing apparel he can sell, and damages goods to some extent. Other merchants in different types of business, Mrs. Cupler said, expressed the same view.

Statistic Are Given

Regarding health, Mrs. Cupler said nose and throat specialists have informed her that many cases of so-called "sinus" trouble are actually catarrhal conditions often resulting from irritations caused by the city's atmospheric condition. She said that physicians reported lung cancer may result from unfavorable atmospheric conditions, including fumes and gases as well as smoke.

Shaffer remarked that St. Louis reported a decrease in cases of sinus trouble after a rigid smoke control ordinance was put into effect.

Replying to Avirett's charge that the railroads are the primary cause of Cumberland's smoke problem, W. E. Sample, Baltimore, superintendent of fuel conservation for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, stated that the railroad is doing all it can now to prevent smoke, whether or not an ordinance is passed.

Economy Crew Used

He explained that for the past year an expert fireman has been stationed here to instruct firemen in correct firing of engines, and that a 10-man "fuel economy" crew makes periodic visits of six weeks here to study local conditions of railroad smoke and to see that firing regulations are carried out.

The railroad has a great investment in steam locomotives, and it is difficult to obtain petroleum for Diesels, so that the conversion from coal-burning to Diesel locomotives will take time, Sample said. He stated, however, that the B. and O. will continue fighting smoke whether an ordinance is passed or not.

Mrs. Gilbert Miller, social studies chairman, acted as moderator and introduced the speakers.

Mrs. John J. Hafer, president, opened the meeting and reminded members that the state AAUW meeting will be held Saturday, April 26, in College Park. She said that Mrs. Harry B. Simpson, LaVale, has been named as a delegate to the national convention at Dallas, Tex., April 14-19.

Mrs. Miller reminded the members of a public meeting on recreation to be held tomorrow at 8 p. m. at the Cumberland Free Public Library, recalling that a proposed recreation ordinance is scheduled for discussion at Monday's meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Refreshments were served following the meeting, which was attended by about 40 persons.

"Democracy cannot hope to survive unless we have higher percentages of educated citizens," Miss Compton exclaimed.

Mentions Comparative Cost

Citing a few more figures, she made these interesting comparisons: "In 1943, with a national income of 149 billion dollars, a total of 1.5 percent was spent for public school education. In the same year, 5.2 billions or three percent was spend for alcoholic beverages. Two and a half billions were spent for tobacco, and a billion and a half was spent for cosmetics and beauty treatments.

"For the first time in the history of education, the percentage spent for public education declined during a war period. Good schools and good teachers cost money, but America must provide educational opportunities for all its citizens, the rich and poor, the old and young, regardless of race, creed or color. By development of our human resources, we can solve most of our problems. If we neglect areas or individuals, we create special problems.

"People determine the great social trends that carry a nation forward to the ideals of liberty and justice for all, and by the same token can carry it backward to barbarism and brutality.

"This country finds itself in a position of world-wide leadership," she concluded, "and this leadership can be maintained only as we develop our talents through education.

"A nation is not made great by its land, its forests, its mineral wealth alone. But a nation is made truly great by its people. Only as our children are educated, can this nation be truly great."

LaVale Legion Plans To Enlarge Roster And Build Own Home

Members of LaVale Post No. 219 American Legion met last night and discussed plans for several activities including a spring membership campaign and the possibility of establishing a permanent home for the new post.

Commander Sampson Sions said no committees have been named, but preliminary plans for increasing the membership of the post were discussed in detail. Resident-veterans of the LaVale section interested in joining the post may contact Adjutant Ralph Martin or any post member, and will be welcome at the post's regular meetings.

Sions also declared that the members want to build their own post home as soon as possible, and plans along this line will be embarked upon at future meetings.

Amvets' Election Is Set For March 8

J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets, will hold its election Saturday, March 8, from noon until 9 p. m. at post headquarters, according to William B. Orndorff, post commander. Only paid-up 1947 members will be eligible to vote.

A report of the nominating committee will be made tonight at 8 o'clock, and nominations may also be made from the floor.

The board which will have charge of the election March 8 is comprised of C. William Spangler, William Burns, Homer Higgins and Glenwood Reel.

DEATHS

JOSEPH CORRIGAN RITES

A requiem mass for Joseph C. Corrigan, 81, former postmaster of Corriganville, who died yesterday morning in Allegany Hospital, will be conducted Saturday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Mr. Corrigan was admitted to the hospital February 7 after he suffered a fractured hip at the Windsor Hotel here.

Relatives said Mr. Corrigan, a retired grocer, had been in "excellent health" prior to the accident. He operated a store at the old home place in Corriganville for a number of years, retiring about three years ago.

Mr. Corrigan was a charter member of Cumberland Council No. 586, Knights of Columbus.

A native of this city, Mr. Corrigan was a son of the late Matthew and Anne (Garvey) Corrigan. He belonged to St. Patrick's Catholic Church here.

Surviving are a sister, Miss Catherine Corrigan, at home, and a number of nieces and nephews, including Martin M. Corrigan, 110 Greene Street, superintendent of the city Street Department.

Mr. Corrigan, who was born September 19, 1865, served as postmaster at Corriganville for a number of years. His grandfather was appointed postmaster there shortly after he settled in the area and his father served as postmaster throughout his life.

He was active in the affairs of the Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company.

HARRY BROCK RITES

A funeral service for Harry Brock, 60, who died Sunday at his home in Washington, D. C., was conducted yesterday afternoon in Locust Grove Brethren Church, Bismark, W. Va., by Rev. Earl Cosner and interment was in Cosner Cemetery.

Pallbearers for Mr. Brock, who was well known here, were Brook Heavener, John Barrick, Elwood Odell, William F. and Junior Cosner.

MRS. FLORENCE DAVIS

Mrs. Florence Jane Bonnell Davis, 72, died yesterday afternoon at 4:10 o'clock at her home in Star City, near Morgantown, W. Va., after a long illness. She was the widow of Tilbert Davis.

She is survived by one son, Murrlen Davis, Rivesville, W. Va., a foster son, Arthur L. Mayhew, this city; two daughters, Mrs. Clarinda Green, Luke, and Mrs. Mabel Snyder, Star City, Mrs. Rosa Bonnell, Salem, W. Va.; a brother Ethen Bonnell, Lost Creek, W. Va., '11 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

The body is at the Jenkins and Brown Funeral Home, Morgantown. A funeral service will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the Sabraton, W. Va., Apostolic Church by Rev. H. I. Goodin and Rev. Clark Shade. Burial will be in Pleasant Hill Cemetery.

The bill also would require an annual audit to be published at least twice in Cumberland newspapers, and would give the County Commissioners authority to have an audit made once a year if they saw fit.

Two Motorists Fined And 12 Forfeit Bonds

Two motorists were fined and 12 others forfeited bonds before Magistrate Roy S. Bowman in Cresaptown last night as a result of charges of motor violations preferred by Maryland State Police this week. They were:

Richard M. Craig, Bedford Street, forfeited $6.45 bond after he was arrested by Troper Glenn D. Folk Monday on a charge of passing a school bus discharging passengers on Route 40 at LaVale.

Arthur D. Amstutz, 300 Pulaski Street, forfeited $6.45 bond on a charge of exceeding 30 miles at Bowling Green. He was arrested Monday by Trooper William McElfish.

Edward F. Malloy, Mt. Savage, forfeited the same bond on a charge of exceeding 30 miles in LaVale. Trooper McElfish preferred charges Monday.

John B. Warner, Route 5, forfeited $11.45 bond on a charge of driving without an operator's license at Fairgo. He was arrested Tuesday by Trooper G. M. Rotruck.

Wendell H. Perrill, Tunnelton, W. Va., forfeited $11.45 bond on a charge of exceeding 50 miles at Danville.

John Stouffer, 309 Oldtown Road, forfeited $6.45 bond on a charge of displaying expired New York tags at Cresaptown.

Paul D. Hansell, 613 Oldtown Road, forefited $6.45 bond on a charge of passing on a curve at Cresaptown. All three of the above were arrested by Trooper Rotruck.

Virgil R. Ice, Jr., 715 Patterson Avenue, forfeited $6.45 bond on a charge of exceeding 30 miles at Bowling Green. Charges were preferred by Trooper Thomas Barton.

Pearl Corbin, Shanks, W. Va., forfeited $6:45 bond on a charge of parking on the roadway on McMullin Highway at the Celanese plant yesterday.

Robert W. Elliott, Cresaptown, forfeited $6.45 bond after he was charged with driving at a speed greater than reasonable, on Route 220 at Cresaptown, yesterday.

Kenneth E. Gray, Corriganville, was fined $5.75 last night after he pleaded guilty to a charge of parking on the highway at the Celanese plant.

John W. Donnelly, 465 Spruce Street, Westernport, was fined $5.75 last night after he pleaded guilty to the same charge. Trooper Barton preferred charges in the four above cases.

A. G. Warren, 1505 Race Street, Philadelphia, forfeited $11.45 bond on a charge of exceeding 50 miles at Rawlings, and Raymond G. Wilson, 47 Blakiston Avenue, forfeited $11.45 bond when charged with exceeding 50 at Bowling Green, Troper Rotruck preferred charges against both.

Corriganville Votes For Street Lights

The Corriganville Improvement Association last night went on record in favor of installing street lights in the community, according to Joseph C. Stuckey, association president.

Stuckey said the association hopes to have Corriganville incorporated under a charter form of government and that money to pay for the street lights would be raised through taxes on assessable property.

The proposal to incorporate Corriganville will be submitted to the county delegation at Annapolis at a later date, Stuckey said.

The next meeting of the association will be held February 26 in the Reformed church hall at Corriganville.

Henry Hart Post Membership Now 1782 For 1947

Henry Hart Post No. 1411 Veterans of Foreign Wars membership now totals 1,782, for 1947, according to Post Commander Raymond Reynolds following Tuesday night's meeting when a number of applications were approved. The post expects to have more than 2,000 members enrolled before the year ends.

Reynolds announced that a special meeting of the post will be held tonight at 7:30 for the purpose of organizing a softball team, and a pistol and rifle team. Harold Hipsley, athletic director, and James E. Stemple, assistant athletic director of the post, will be in charge of the meeting.

All members of the post who are interested in sports, especially in softball, baseball, etc., are urged to attend this special meeting, Commander Reynolds said. The post expects to sponsor teams in city leagues, he explained, and the large membership indicates that sufficient material should be available for an outstanding team among the younger veterans.

Curtis MacA. Kime has charge of forming the pistol and rifle team.

Following the special meeting, a buffet luncheon will be served.

Ridgeley Sisters Get Suspended Sentences In Shoplifting Case

A trio of Ridgeley, W. Va., young women admitted in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday afternoon that they were guilty of shoplifting, and were sentenced to 90 days in the County Jail, but the sentence was suspended on condition that they remain out of Cumberland for the duration of the suspension.

The women, who moved to Ridgeley from Baltimore a short time ago and once resided near Elkins, W. Va., said they took a portable radio from the local Montgomery Ward store and a dress from Rosenbaum's. They told Magistrate Bruce they intended to keep the articles and did not intend to dispose of them.

Given the suspended sentences were Marie Fansler, Betty Fansler and Mrs. Irene Moore. They were severely reprimanded by the magistrate before being released. Mrs. Moore is the mother of a three-month-old child.

MURRELL WILL HEAD RIDGELEY CAMPAIGN

Jack Murrell, Ridgeley, commander of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, will direct Ridgeley's participation in the 1947 Red Cross fund campaign in this area, according to Mrs. Ferman H. Moreland, chairman of the Ridgeley branch of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Ridgeley's quota in the campaign will be $375. The total goal for Allegany county is $29,560. Murrell said last night that he will appoint committees within a few days to make plans for the campaign, which will be held March 1 to 10.

Murrell, a salesman in the merchandise department of the Potomac Edison Company, served as a first lieutenant in the Ninth Air Force, and was overseas 15 months. Pilot of a C-47 cargo plane, he was shot down over Holland and was a prisoner of war for six weeks before escaping from a hospital, contacting the Dutch underground organization and eventually making his way back to Allied lines.

Coin Club Will Be Incorporated Soon

Final plans for incorporating the Western Maryland Coin Club were made at the regular meeting last night at Central YMCA, and an application for a charter will be sent to Annapolis, according to Holmes H. Cessna, one of the three incorporators.

The other incorporators are William L. Wilson, Jr., and Russell R. Wagner. Three new members were accepted at the meeting, Herman J. Miller, Wilson, and Fred Driscoll.

Cessna said that William L. Wilson, Sr., chairman of the committee making arrangements for a hobby show to be held March 27-30 under the sponsorship of the club, will hold special meetings within the next few weeks to complete preliminary plans.

Transparent mirrors developed by Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company are made by bombarding chrome to glass, coating it with a film so thin it would take 11,000 such coats to equal the thickness of newsprint.

Textile Workers Plan Installation

The installation of officers of Celanese Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, will be held Friday, February 28, at 7:30 p. m. at the union hall, 34 North Mechanic street, Lewis "Red" Chaney, acting chairman of the Special Activities Committee of the union, announced yesterday.

Following the installation, a dance will be held in Woodmen Hall, Union street, from 9 p. m. to 2 a. m. with music by Bill Gray's orchestra, Chaney said.

All but four positions were decided early this month after returns from the election were counted. A run-off election for other posts ended early this morning.

Elected on the first balloting were William Boyd Coleman, president; Earl Snyder, vice president; John G. Thomas, business manager; Joseph J. Barley, recording secretary; Clarence Barnhart, warden.

Roy T. Craze, Stephen Cesnick, William Starkey, Charles E. Jones and Richard Boyden, board of trustees, and Howard "Red" Bush and William E. Meagher, executive board, and John F. Fatkin and James Boyland, auditing committee.

Candidates in the run-off were Robert Baker, Arthur Green, Carl Hinkle, James Martin, Albert Starkey and George Zeigler, for the three executive board posts, and Ernest Madden and Addis Wilson for the third member on the auditing group.

Crash Victim Improves

The condition of Dr. Robert W. Rice, 41, 511 Decatur street, who was injured in an automobile crash early Tuesday morning, was reported "good" in Allegany Hospital yesterday.

Police said the car operated by Dr. Rice, of the Cumberland Dental Laboratory, struck a parking meter and then crashed against a telephone pole on North Mechanic street. He was admitted to the hospital for observation after treatment for lacerations of the forehead and neck.

Mrs. Elsie Kilroy Is Re-Elected CTP President

May Get-To-Gether To Be Held At Dinner

The Women's Division of the Cooperative Traffic Program elected officers and celebrated it's 13th anniversary Tuesday night at the Queen City Hotel, with Mrs. Elsie Kilroy presiding and Miss Mildred Dreschler, special representative of the CTP from Baltimore, as honor guest.

Miss Dreschler conducted the election, at which time Mrs. Kilroy, president; Mrs. Pearl Bachman, vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Nave, financial secretary and Mrs. Mary Conn, recording secretary, were reelected to office. Mrs. Virginia Brant was elected treasurer.

Plans were formulated to have Miss Dreschler return to officiate at the installation March 18; it was decided to have the May get-together in thef orm of a dinner at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club instead of the usual luncheon; and Mrs. Elizabeth Nave was named chairman for the March meeting.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Kilroy reading a poem, "In the Morning," which stressed the need of God in one's heart in the morning if one hopes to have a successful day.

Mrs. Nave reported the club gained 21 new members during the year, not counting the three enrolled Tuesday night; and that there are 112 members in good standing. The new members are Mrs. C. T. Lindell, Mrs. C. T. Carney and Mrs. Blanch McKnight; Mrs. Kilroy and Mrs. Conn in giving their reports gave a resume of activities of the year.

Speaking of the CTP, Miss Dreschler discussed it's origin and purpose, and explained that the charter organization was formed in Baltimore by the B. and O. through the superintendents' office who at that timew as Hice Laughlin, Margaret Talbot Stevens, Baltimore, who is now B. and O. research librarian, came to Cumberland January 24, 1934 to organize the local unit at a mass meeting. The first official meeting was held February 19, 1934.

Mrs. J. F. Barnett, now of Washington, D. C., was the first president; Miss Lillian Judy, now Mrs. G. W. Eichner, city, secretary; and Miss Shirley Romiser, now of Baltimore, treasurer.

Miss Dreschler stressed the fact that the purpose of the CTP was to solicite and secure business and the CTP group did only that except at Christmas time and in case of furloughs, then they collected old toys, had thef urloughed men do them over and later distributed them to neey B. and O. families. Money was also raised to purchase coal and groceries for the needy B. and O. families during the depression.

Mrs. George Wenrick, Mrs. Clarence Kennedy and Mrs. George Arbogast, charter member were presented, and a musical program presented by a string band from the Stewart studio.

During the social hour handkerchiefs and Valentines were exchanged and Mrs. Kennedy cut the large birthday cake, which carried out the Valentine theme in red and white, with the CTP emblem adorning it and "Happy Birthday" inscribed on the side. The base was also decorated with red and white carnations which were presented to the president, special representativ and chartr members. It was also repeated in the heart favors. Sixty-three members attended.

Black Lingerie Debunked By Prof.

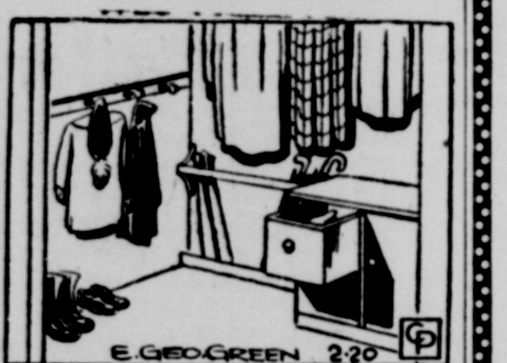
NEW YORK, (AP)—Following reports that men shoppers bought more black "undides" for American women last Christmas than ever before, a Long Island professor of psychology has declared that "ladies in black lingerie are not particularly alluring."

Admitting that a contrary belief appears to be widely held, Dr. Douglas Spencer, of Queens Village, Flushing, New York, added: "In fact, black lingerie sometimes makes women look dirty."

He explained that black makes objects seem thinner because no light rays are refracted, but that the idea of jet-colored undergarments being "sexy" had been implanted by designes.

"A beautiful and curvaceous female in a black nightgown might be considered glamorous," Dr. Douglas said. "But the same girl, beautiful and well-rounded, would be glamorous in pink or white or blue or yellow. It's the girl, not the gown that counts."

WIFE PRESERVERS



To keep order in a full house, provide a catchall at the door for coats, boots, mittens and outdoor toys. A hall closet will serve, with a low row of hooks for the smallest child. Have a drawer handy for mittens; corrall ball bats and umbrellas with a bar across one end of the closet, and install a big chest, or box, if possible, for balls, roller skates and other small toys.

Hadassah Names Nominating And Other Committees

Cumberland Chapter of Hadassah named a Nominating committee and a Donor Dinner committee at the meeting Tuesday night in B'er Chayim temple, with Mrs. Jack Yankelevitz presiding.

Mrs. Louis Sider was named chairman of the Nominating committee which includes Mrs. George Waingold and Mrs. Louis Lutz. They will give their report at the meeting March 10.

Plans were also discussed for the Donor dinner, to be held sometime in May. The committee in charge of arrangements consists of Mrs. Samuel Jacobson, Mrs. Marvin Kaplon, Mrs. Lutz, Mrs. David Kauffman, Mrs. Norman Pliner, Mrs. Harold Marx and Mrs. Yankelevitz. Tentative plans are to have the dinner in the newly redecorated vestry room.

Tentative plans were also formulated for a rummage sale and the Jewish National fund card party.

Junior Woman's Civic Club Plans Monthly Party

The Junior Woman's Civic Club, co-sponsoring a Young Adult program with Central YMCA, held its first party Tuesday night and formulated plans for one each month and a square dance after Easter.

Approximately 50 guests attended the affair, which included dancing in the "fiesta" room, cards, bowling, ping pong, and swimming.

Mrs. John McMurray won high prize for bridge; Miss Ann Mooney, Robert Stein, other games and Robert Gross, bowling.

The program is for all young people over 21 years of age.

Miss Jane Gilchrist and Miss Mary Pat Brett were co-chairmen of arrangements assisted by Robert L. Sisson and Winfield Hill Adams.

The American-built, British-owned ship, James Baines, is credited with setting an all-time sailing-speed record when she reputedly hit 21 nautical miles an hour and held the pace for several hours.

Purple Heart To Mark Washington's Birthday

Wreath To Be Placed In City Hall Tomorrow

George Washington's birthday will be observed by the Ladies Auxiliary Order of the Purple Heart and the chapter tomorrow. A wreath will be placed in the rotunda of the city hall at 7 tomorrow night and a program will be presented at the home afterwards. There will also be a display in Schwarzenbach's window for a few days, beginning today.

Mrs. Anna Kirby and Mrs. Joanna Weimer, two gold star mothers, will make the presentation of the wreath at the city hall, in behalf of the organization. The public is invited to attend the ceremony, which will also be witnessed by Mayor Post and members of the Chapter and Auxiliary.

At 8 o'clock the program will be presented at the home. It will include patriotic selections by Phyllis McKenzie, Carol Jean Marker, accordianists; and Kenneth McKenzie on the marimba. There will also be various readings pertaining to the life of Washington, given by members of the Auxiliary.

A social hour will conclude the meeting and refreshments will be served. Mrs. Ada Hamburg is chairman of arrangements. Her committee includes Mrs. Mary Brinkman, Mrs. Berdella Leib and Mrs. Margaret Pownell.

The display in Schwarzenbach's will include a national flag, the Purple Heart banner, a picture of Washington, the Purple Heart prayer and charters of the Chapter and Auxiliary as well as several Purple Heart medals.

Cheese Test

A very sensitive test for detecting un-pasteurized milk in Cheddar cheese has been developed by dairy specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It doesn't matter how old the cheese is. If as little as one pound of raw milk in two thousand pounds get by without the proper treatment in the pasteurization process, this new test can detect it.

Pupils participating were Leo Armentrout, Robert Birmingham, Ronald Boyer, William Henley, James Norris, Edward Riley, Donald Stratton, Carolyn Campbell, Delores Green, Dawn Kline, Doris Prysock, Josephine Stotelmyer, Richard Guthridge, Gregory Honeycutt, Donald Humbertson, Merle Keel, Ronald Lease.

State Teachers Not To Have Summer School

There will not be a summer session this year at Frostburg State Teachers College. The decision was made at a meeting of the presidents of the three Maryland state teachers colleges earlier in the month, with Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Baltimore.

Miss Lillian Compton, president of the Frostburg college, quoted Dr. Pullen as saying that this does not mean permanent discontinuation of summer school at Frostburg. It is possible that at some future time a summer school at Frostburg will be deemed feasible, even though the other state teacher colleges maintain no summer school.

Marriage Announced

The marriage of Miss Josephine Bennett to Theodore P. Albright, son of Mrs. Pearl Albright, Cash Valley, and the late William Albright, has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. Osburn Bennett, Chaneysville, Pa., parents of the bride.

The ceremony was performed February 13, in the parsonage of Centre Street Methodist Church, with Rev. Walter Marion Michael officiating.

Mr. Albright, recently discharged from the Army, is employed by the Celanese.

Emmanuel WSCS Plan Participation In Three Affairs

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Emmanuel Methodist Church formulated plans for participation in various activities, later this month, at the meeting Tuesday night, in the Sunday school room.

Mrs. Alice Trout presided and Mrs. Anna Zimmerly led the devotions on the topic, "Your Master Proclaims." At the business session it was decided to take part in the World Day of Prayer service, Friday, in Trinity Church and also to attend the district meeting in Centre Street Church, February 28.

Plans were also formulated to serve the luncheon for the regular meeting of the Methodist Ministers Association and their wives. Mrs. Regina Sulser is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

A short missionary study on "Children of One World," was conducted by Mrs. Nettie Gerard, assisted by Mrs. Opal Simpson and Mrs. Bertha Cover.

The next meeting will be held March 17 in the church.

O.U.R. Class Buys Sanctuary Vases

The O. U. R. Class of Cresaptown Methodist Church met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Louis P. Chastain, and received a report that the class has purchased vases and ivy for the sanctuary of the church. It was also suggested that the different Sunday school classes put fresh flowers in the sanctuary each Sunday.

Mrs. Marguerite Sindy presided and Miss Evelyn May conducted the prayer group with each member participating.

A recreational hour followed the meeting and Valentine games were played. Prizes were won by Miss Helen Lechliter, Miss Catherine Rotruck and Mrs. Betty Simpson. The Valentine motif was repeated also in the decorations of the refreshment table. Mrs. Frances Walston and Miss May were co-hostesses with Mrs. Chastain.

Other members present were Arbutis Miller, Virginia VanMeter, Beryl Horton, Beulah Feight, Elizabeth Higgs, Virginia Krnaya, Marguerite Richardson, Frances Powell, Sensony Powell, Catherine Sindy, Ruth Biever, and Mary Lewis. Rev. Louis P. Chastain and Ronald Feight were guests.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Sensony Powell, teacher.

Woman's Sport Club Plans Easter Party, Has Dinner

The Woman's Sport Club held its annual dinner for retiring officers and a short business session, Tuesday night at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, with Mrs. Anne Everline presiding.

Tentative plans were discussed for the Easter party, and Mrs. Edward Diehl, Mrs. Eugene Gerkins and Mrs. Alvin Serf, Jr., named the Entertainment committee. Mrs. Patricia Maloney was admitted as a member.

Corsages of spring flowers were presented to the honor guests and smaller ones given as favors to each guest. The same theme was carried out in the iris and jonquils and tapers centering the table.

Cards featured the entertainment during the evening with prizes won by Miss Marguerite Mullan, Miss Beatrice Smith, Mrs. Harry Cole, Mrs. Serf, Mrs. Frederick Palmer, Miss Elizabeth Hoover, and Mrs. Donald Knieriem.

Miss Mary Joan Hartman, Miss Helen Hardinger and Mrs. W. Ewald Ruehl were in charge of arrangements.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

INNOCENTS IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 19—The nation's two most popular art forms, radio and the movies, are owned and controlled by New York front offices and New York banks but the creative processes are highly concentrated in this land of the Lotos. The centralization of culture has had a sweeping and possibly uplifting effect on our exteriors—our women's clothes, out interior decorations, our speech and our mannerisms. Its effect on our thinking is, at best, questionable.

Ossie Nelson

In the long run, radio programs and movies originate with the writers, and Hollywood is not a good place for writers. As a matter of fact, the concentration of the nation's best writers in any American city is hardly a good idea; in Hollywood it's particularly bad. There is a state of mind about southern California, not necessarily an evil one but a pervasive one. An idea born in this balmy, mild, damp climate comes out in pastel shades. Honeysuckle gets into a writer's prose, sticks to the adverbs, smells up the plots. The same idea born in New York, where the subways are crowded, the gin is strong and the golf courses, for all practical purposes non-existent, is more vigorous, possibly uglier but certainly sharper. There's nothing the matter with the California brand of idea (John Steinbeck is an excellent example of the pastel-shaded writer who has done magnificently with the California idea), except that if all the writers gravitate out here, our ideas will become lopsided.

Perhaps the easiest but also the most unfair example of this localization of ideas is the Hollywood reference, that is, Hollywood and Vine, the Brown Derby, the Hollywood smog, the Hollywood automobile accident rate. Actually, all good radio writers and producers strain valiantly to avoid this sort of thing. But the Hollywood state of mind is difficult and perhaps impossible to avoid.

A prominent radio producer pointed out that nothing happens to writers out here, at least nothing resembling the experiences of people outside Hollywood. The writers' options are picked up or dropped; their swimming pools are completed or not completed; their horses run the wrong way at Santa Anita. But the writers are so insulated from cold, hunger and poverty that the struggle for existence, which motivates most of us, is remote Consequently, the problems of most radio programs are either very tiny (Ozzie ate too much Christmas dinner) or out-size ("He's got the secret formula for the atom bomb. If we don't head him off, New York City will be in ruins by morning.")

You can't make up what happens to the boy next door unless you have had some experiences with the boy next door. Out here, the boy next door is likely to be another writer. Radio producers, I find, at least the good ones, are as conscious of this as anyone else. A producer who had better be nameless, informs me that his search for good radio writers is constant and heartbreaking. Writers, he says, are interested in their contracts and in their salaries but not in their work. For obvious reasons, they are eager to please the producer but an eagerness to please is hardly conducive to real creative writing.

This is the logical result of the radio writing system. Since a script is a collaborative job with four or five writers, a producer, a comedian and sometimes the guest star all contributing ideas, the individual writer's interest in the total work is not that of, say, a novelist whose novel is entirely his own. Also, the writer gets no credit outside the trade in spite of the fact that no actor could exist without him.

Radio writers, I find, are neurotic, keen-witted specialists. Their appreciation of writing is highly developed. Just as an engineer sees more in a bridge than you or I, they see more in a joke than you or I. Writers at a Jack Benny rehearsal, I discovered, laughed harder at their own jokes than anyone else. If there were any gags in that scrip (and it was a very funny script), that failed to amuse the average listener, I'm sure Mr. Benny's writers could have explained to him with overpowering logic why the joke was funny and why he should have laughed.

They are specialists, you see, living in a world of other specialists, in a land far removed from most people who hear them. Their contcat with the listener is a set of figures, a Hooper rating, or a sales chart, which tells them nothing about the hopes, the interests, the fears, the joys, the sorrows of the world outside.

Fellowship Of Prayer

Daily Lenten Devotional

Prepared by
DR. VERE V. LOPER
for the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America—Copyright 1947

DIVINE PRESENCE

Father, into Thy hands I commend my spirit; Luke 23:46. Read John 17:20-23.

Prayer was a house of a thousand candles for the Master. Prayer was a voice from Heaven saying, "this is my beloved son." Prayer was the beauty of a flower, finer than the glory of a Solomon. Prayer was radiant comradeship in thought shared with a father.

These experiences were the most precious in the life of Jesus, and he longed to share them fully with us. The Gospel of John carries us deeply into his heart. The curtains are drawn aside from his inner aspirations and we see him pleading with God that we also may know this most sublime of all experiences—conscious oneness with God. As we come to know this deep yearning in his heart to bring God into the life of men, we understand better his willingness to bear the cross.

LET US PRAY: Eternal companion, we have become sensitive to thy voice in the stillness of the forest. We have lingered with thee beside a mountain lake. We have known thee in quiet meditation by the fireside. We have felt thy presence in the shadows of dawn. We have seen thy face in men made in thy image. We have been at one with thee. We pray for the deepening of this sense of unity. Amen.

Cupid May Save French Stowaway

MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 19, (AP)—An attractive, 19-year-old blonde-haired French woman who stowed away on an American steamship has been ordered sent back to France, but a Baltimore seaman has informed immigration authorities here he plans to bring her back to the United States—as his wife.

Charles S. Price, chairman of a special board of inquiry for the United States Immigration Service, said the board had ordered the exclusion of the young woman, Emilie Beyer, 20, from this country and her deportation to France. He said the decision was subject to review in Washington.

A seaman who gave his name as Emil Abent, of Baltimore, told the board at its hearing that he intended to return to France, where he would marry her and then seek passport for her entry into the United States as the wife of an ex-serviceman. He said he had served in the Seabees.

Miss Beyer, from Rouen, France, arrived here aboard the SS James Gunn last week. She told authorities a brother and sister and three other close relatives were killed during one World War II bombing raid and that her mother had since died.

September Issue

LONDON, Feb. 19, (AP) — Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin announced today that Britain probably would not refer the Palestine question to the United Nations until September, that she would make no recommendations as to the solution, and that Palestine immigration would remain for the time being at 1,500 Jews a month.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh
Where Cissy Spent Her Honeymoon
Most of the young newlyweds in our town spend their honeymoon at Roundstone Lake or Jackson Falls; why the Martins even went as far as New York City.
But when Cissy Cupper married the young Carter boy, they allowed as how they were going to spend their honeymoon right here.
"There's no place better than our town," Cissy says. "And I'd like to start married life at home, with things Bud and I are used to."
Makes sense, come to think of it. Folks naturally left them alone; and except for occasional visits to the Garden Tavern for a glass of beer, they stayed at home, getting used to married bliss.
My missus prefers traveling—and that's her right. But from where I sit, there's no place better for a honeymoon—or second honeymoon—than right at home—with your own possessions, good home cooking, and a friendly glass of beer or two—with the best companion in the world.

Another in a Series by Phineas Q. Twitch, Eminent Economist
1 Sell your electric refrigerator to the junkman, and get back some of the money you wasted on it. Besides taking up too much room, it costs you about 5 cents a day to run. This substantial saving will help balance your budget these days of rising costs. Of course, without refrigeration, food will spoil—but that can easily be avoided by eating out of cans. Or by not eating at all. This will undoubtedly build up your character, though it may break down your physique.
2 Donate your electric sewing machine to an orphanage, and start stitching by hand. Of course, it takes a lot of time. And maybe it is a little hard on the eyes. But, just think, you'll save one whole penny for every eight hours your sewing machine doesn't run. Anyway, Grandma made the family clothes by hand. Why can't you?
3 Turn off your radio during the Electric Hour—"Hour of Charm"—every Sunday afternoon at 4:30 over CBS, EST. In this way, of course, you'll miss the All-Girl Orchestra under the direction of Phil Spitalny, with Evelyn and Her Magic Violin—but you'll actually save one-sixth of a penny every time you do! In two years this self-sacrifice on your part will have saved you the price of a pack of cigarettes!
* * *
● Watch for more of these practical, money-saving suggestions by Dr. Twitch. He really knows his subject. We hope he'll help you realize how many jobs electricity does for you, and how little it costs.

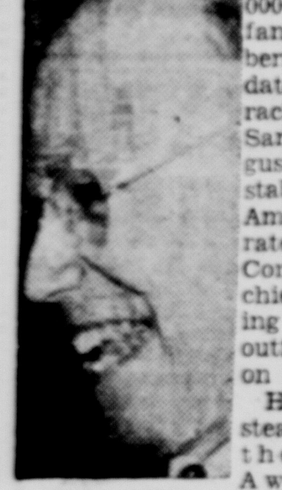
MANHATTAN MEMORANDA

Miami Beach holding its first Jefferson Day dinner Feb. 28, with 1,000 guests paying $250 per plate. Jefferson's anniversary, of course, isn't until April, but Miami couldn't wait. Attorney General Tom Clark will be principal speaker . . . Miami Beach costume jewelry salesmen having a field day peddling substitute baubles to ladies who are afraid to wear the real thing because of the epidemic of holdups and burglaries. Mary Kirk Brown's mother was robbed of $72,000 in gems and has been bedded since from a nervous collapse. The take for last weekend alone is estimated at $90,000 . . . Dean Alfange, whilom gubernatorial condidate, will enter his racing colors at Saratoga this August. He bought a stable with Jack Amiel, the restaurateur . . . E. E. Conroy, ex - FBI chief, now working for tugboat outfits, checking on frauds.



Robert Taft

Hollywood so steamed up over the Academy Award situation that two top executives had to be separated after throwing punches over the relative merits of Olivia de Havilland and Rosalind Russell . . . Dave Selznick so far has made 40 cuts in "Duel in the Sun" to placate the Legion of Decency . . . The national magazine which was too timid to consider a profile on James Petrillo may be interested to learn that his phiz will grace the front cover of a trade sheet's issue . . . New Yorkers amused at Arthur Schlesinger's description of Senator Taft's "receding hair line" in a current national weekly. Just how far can a hair line recede? . . . After two years of struggle, "This Month" magazine folded and a quarter of a million dollars went down the drain . . . The Joseph Lewis who wrote "Tom Paine, Author of the Declaration of Independence" (thereby hoping to stir up a controversy) is a brother of Broadway haberdasher Nat Lewis.

Wendell Berge, protegee of Thurman Arnold, will be the next and last of the aggressive New Deal trust-busters to quit the Justice Department. Now he'll privately defend the biggies who fear trust-busting procedures . . . A film and camera concern will be making news along this line soon . . . Whatever other result may be obtained, the State Department won't be able to get a Crosley or Hooper rating on those radio programs beamed to Russia in hopes of penetrating the iron curtain. According to the N. Y. Times, only 500,000 citizens of the Soviet's 197,000,000 population have received sets. As the French might say, "Il n'y a pas de la peine" (What's the use?) . . . Lin Yutang, who has become so disgusted with the situation in China that he has vowed to write only about ancient Chinese history, will have excerpts of his new, untitled book in the UN Magazine for March, all about a dictatorship set up in China in the year 1066.

Kirsten Flagstad, whose postwar concerts in the European capitals have been sensationally successful, will sing at Chicago's Orchestra Hall April 11 . . . Lauritz Melchior, her former sidekick at the Met, will sing at the Horace Mann School for Boys Feb. 27 to benefit the scholarship fund. His godson, Laurence Schadur, is a student there . . . Incidentally, whatever became of Melchior's 3,000-acre estate at Chossiwitz, Germany? . . . Balletomanes will be interested in Merle Armitage's "Dance Memoranda," edited by Edwin Corle, which Duell, Sloan & Pearce is publishing Feb. 20. A veritable cavalcade of the dance, ranging from Isadora Duncan to Martha Graham, Nijinsky to Jerome Robbins, with profuse illustrations, some of them museum pieces by now . . . Christine Ell, once of the Provincetown Players, is making a comeback in pictures, after 27 years of retirement, in Charlie Chaplin's movie, "Monsieur Verdoux."

Ellen Drew, West Coasters tell me, will move right up into the glamour brackets with Rita Hayworth, Lana Turner, et al, after the release of "Johnny O'Clock." . . . Victor Moore comes into his own in pictures with "It Happened on Fifth Avenue," to be released in April. . . Joan McCracken draws the lead in the movie of "Good News," remembered as one of Broadway's most delightful musical comedies . . . Loretta Dennison, former "Ziegfield Follies" beauty who quit the stage for cosmetic business, has been appointed manager of Saks Fifth Avenue's beauty department in Beverly Hills . . . The Broadway wags are saying that Leo Durocher contemplates doing a column to be called "My Day." . . . Frank Costello's friends—and this is no gag—are trying to get him interested in starting an art collection.

Listen World

By ELSIE ROBINSON

GROWING OLD

When hedges began to redden and the mornings were crusted with frost, we youngsters used to go down to the old orchard.

The old orchard was a disreputable sort of affair. There were no orderly files of trees, no well spaded earth. Evidently this had been the junk heap for the whole farm Things were planted here by happenstance and if they lived or died, no one cared much. You'll find such old orchards on many a farm, and they are never a commercial asset.

There are peaches in them and there are runty pears, plums and cherries and apricots. And there are apples too. Little wrinkled apples that you could never buy in any store. Apples sunk deep in the moist autumnal soil. Maybe they'd sprout next year and maybe they wouldn't, but one thing was sure—they were the sweetest apples that ever grew.

I have eaten very special chow at very fancy tables but I have never tasted anything like the little wrinkled apples in the old orchard. There was a fragrance to them and a tang such as I've never found at the grandest banquet.

I think it must have taken the whole year to become like that. . . from the first green bud to the spreading bloom, through all the ripening phases of its fruitage. Of course you have to have bee to make an apple like that. . . and moonlight. . . . and deep grass. . and a lot of neglect. For pampered apples never taste like that. Pampered apples, to my mind, are a rather unworthy fruit. They taste like an overstuffed davenport. There is neither flavor nor fragrance to them. They are just apples. Something you sell.

But we never sold the little wrinkled apples that we found in the deep grass of the old orchard. I doubt if the oldsters ever knew of them. They were sort of a private possession of us children and we bit into them with delight.

And now that I am getting along myself, I am remembering those apples. What a pity that we human folks can't grow old like that-sweet and mellow with all the experiences of our years. Wrinkled a bit by grief, perhaps, but all the more flavorful for it. . . scarred by hurt and loss, maybe, but deeper in our understanding because of it.

Little wrinkled apples, lying in the deep grass of the old orchard. Why can't we all go like that? Mellowed by our seasons. Flavored by our knowledge. Spiced by the risks we have taken and the experiments we have made. Little old apples that no one would buy but which hold the hearty beauty of a whole harvest. What a good end that would be!

Clean Old Galoshes

Don't throw away a good pair of galoshes, just because the inside is dirty and likely to ruin your hose. The lining can be cleaned as easily as the outside by turning the overshoes inside out and dunking in a tub of warm soapy water and letting them soak a few minutes. Then with a small, fairly soft brush, scrub over the entire lining. Rinse thoroughly and dry away from sunlight or direct heat.

Court Reviews Case Involving Widow's Property

Decision Withheld In Kaefer Estate

No decision has been reached in the case of Mrs. Eleanor Kaefer, 721 Greene street, protesting the proposed sale of her home by the Second National Bank, trustee of the estate of her husband, who died in 1946.

The hearing on the petition opened before Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson in Circuit Court yesterday, but at the request of attorneys, was removed to the judges' chambers. The Court spent some time questioning attorneys in the case, trying to find out what it was all about.

According to Edward J. Ryan, attorney for the petitioner, Mrs. Catherine Kaefer, mother of Frederick Kaefer, left an "ambiguous" will in which she named the bank as administrator and trustee of her $15,000 estate. Mrs. Kaefer died April 30, 1946.

Wanted To Provide For Son

It was explained that Frederick Kaefer was confined in the Sykesville Sanitarium for a certain period but that following the death of his mother he was allowed to return home and died November 28, 1946.

In preparing her will, the late Mrs. Kaefer endeavored to provide for the security of her son and his family by providing the home at 721 Greene street for him free of all costs and $35 a month for him until the transfer of the estate from the executors.

The will also provided for $25 a month for each of three children, Frederick, Jr., Betty Jane and Paul, and upon the death of her son and upon the youngest grandson becoming 21 years of age, the trust is to be terminated and proceeds be distributed to the legal heirs. The oldest child is six, and since the death of Mrs. Kaefer a fourth child was born.

Change of Duties

According to Harry I. Stegmaier, attorney for the bank, the administration of the estate has now been completed and the bank has entered upon its duties as trustee for the Kaefer family.

Stegmaier told the court the bank deemed it advisable to sell the property on Greene Street in order to provide the three children named in the will with $25 a month. The attorney also said that the property on Greene Street was "burdensome" in that it required considerable repair work and inasmuch as some damage had been done. It was cited that all the windows in the house were broken on one occasion.

In presenting his case and asking that the bank be prevented from selling the home, Ryan this morning termed the will "ambiguous" and said that Mrs. Kaefer never intended that her son's family should have the roof sold from over their heads and the family "turned out in the street."

The court interrogated Ryan at some length in requesting him to state specifically why he regarded the will as "ambiguous" and also asked the petitioners to provide precedents and law to enlighten the court.

Responsible To Children

While Judge Henderson said he was not questioning Ryan's "law" in the presentation of his case, he stated he was questioning the bank's "principle" in selling the home in view of the present housing shortage.

Judge Henderson said that in his opinion "the bank is responsible to the children as trustee and a woman with four children is going to have an awful time finding another place to live if her home is sold."

Stegmaier told the court that the Greene Street home was a "wasting property" and that in the bank's opinion the family could best be served by the sale of the house with the purchase price to be added to the trustee fund for the support of the children.

Ryan contended this morning that according to the will, the property was conveyed in fee simple to Frederick Kaefer but told the bench "however, it's your problem."

Authority Is Given

Ryan contended that the bank's interpretation of the will as meaning that it could sell the property was not in line with the purpose of the late Mrs. Kaefer in making the will although it was noted in a reading of the will that the bank, as trustee, is given authority to take any action it deems advisable for the best interests of the family.

Most of the morning was taken up by the questioning of the court in its search for something specific to rule on with the bench indicating that the burden of the proof is on the petitioner.

At one point Chief Judge William A. Huster indicated that the courts "hands might be tied" in the matter since the administration of the estate has now been completed and bank, as trustee, is pursuing the policy it considers conducive to the best interests to the heirs.

In Hands of Bank

It was noted in the reading of the will that the responsibility was left almost solely in the hands of the bank with practically no responsibility relegated to the son, during his lifetime, to the wife upon the death of Frederick Kaefer or to the children.

With the court pressing for more information as to why the respondents wish to dispose of the Greene Street property, Stegmaier, after stating that all the windows were broken on one occasion "from the inside", said he "had gone as far as he wished along this line in open court."

The case finally moved into the judges' chambers although at one point the bench indicated it was up to the petitioners and the respondents to "get together" on the question.

$2,210,622 PROFIT FOR QUARTER MADE BY PULP, PAPER CO.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—(AP)—West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company reported net income for the first quarter of the fiscal year ended January 31 of $2,210,622, equal to $2.45 per common share, compared with $1,112,404, or $1.23 per share for the average quarter of the preceding year.

Production of paper and paperboard for the first quarter amounted to 163,104 tons as against a 1946 quarterly average of 149,496 tons.

Total sales for the quarter were up nearly 25 per cent, amounting to $20,188,589 as against a quarterly average of $16,802,982.

David L. Luke, Jr., president, announced at the annual stockholders meeting that earnings for the fiscal year 1946 represented a return of 8.6 per cent on capital employed, compared with a 3.9 per cent return in 1945.

The company negotiated a loan agreement with the Irving Trust Company, Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company, National City Bank, and Maryland Trust Company, in December which insures the company's ability to borrow up to $10,000,000 if and as required over the next four years, Luke announced.

The loans, if made, will be amortized in 10 years and will bear interest at the rate of 1¾ per cent.

Extension Of "Inch" Pipe Lines Weighed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19, (AP) — Extension of the Big and Little "Inch" pipe lines to carry natural gas to Baltimore or New England is being weighed by the Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation, successful bidders on the government-built tubes.

The company's purchase proposal, made public by War Assets Administration today, reported that its $182,000,000 capitalization is based on selling gas at the Philadelphia-New Jersey and Appalachian termini, but added:

"The company may determine that it is economically desirable to market a portion of its gas in the metropolitan New York areas east of the Hudson River, in the New England area or in the Baltimore area."

These extensions would be costly, it was added, and "will be adopted only if the added revenues or other benefits to be obtained are deemed sufficient to justify the additional costs required."

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Better To Be Than Not

One of the great minds of this generation is that of Charles F. Kettering, the research genius for General Motors. In a recent talk before the students of Miami University he said: "We keep the iron curtain down on how much we don't know, which is practically everything." And here is another of his sayings: "Research means that you don't know but are willing to try to find out."

We are in the very infancy of knowledge. The most that we know is very, very little—next to nothing. The knowledge ahead, about which we now know nothing, is stupendous! What a challenge to the youth of the world! It has taken thousands of years to arrive at what is popularly termed "the Atomic Age." What is it going to mean in terms of human advancement—in terms of peace and individual security? What a vast field ahead for continual research, harnessing all to the betterment of mankind.

Never has the youth of the world been so blessed with opportunities. Never have so many doors been thrown wide open, with such invitations to enter. Only the laggard needs to fear—not the willing, the hopeful, and the one of courage.

It is so much better to be than not—at such a time as this, in which all the inherent qualities of mind and heart are called upon to be asserted. All Nature lies open, endless in its openings and opportunities, a field of operation so vast that but a mere handful of its secrets have yielded to the key of man's genius.

No matter what the circumstance of our being, here we are, and it is so much better to be than not to be. All mankind is companionable, if we earnestly and honestly seek the way to its heart. The world owes us nothing. Every single day of our lives we owe the world something, most of all our appreciation for being here, free to dig or to dip into its vast treasure-house of wealth and opportunity.

What a reception awaits those yet to be born! What are we doing to make it a better and more attractive place for them, in which to strive, to learn, and to be happy?

SENORA IS LEARING TO COOK U. S. STYLE FOR BRAZILIAN ARMY

AP Newsfeatures

PHILADELPHIA—Senora Amaro Azevedo is learning how to cook North American style at Hahnemann hospital's post-graduate clinic with the official sanction of the Brazilian government.

Thei dea was conceived by her husband, a major in the Brazilian Army medical corps, who was sent here to study possible ways of bettering the Brazilian GI's diet. Dr. Azevedo explains it this way:

The Brazilian Army chiefs notified him they wanted a survey made of U. S. dietary habits.

"What would be the good," Dr. Azevedo told his superiors, "of recommending new North American foods to the Army if no one in Brazil knows how to cook them?"

Dr. Azevedo adds that his wife is a wonderful cook.

"When we get back home, I am expecting better meals than ever—with biscuits."

"In Brazil," the pretty senora says, "sugar and salt go together never. Sugar with us is for deserts."

About the foods in his own country, Dr. Azevedo says:

"We have a great abundance of foodstuffs and Brazilians are great eaters. Five times a day we eat big meals. But always it is the same—meat, fish and beans."

"Meat!" says Senora Azevedo. "Two families can eat a cow."

'TWAS A WOMAN AT FINGERTIPS OF ALL CROOKS

(AP) Newsfeatures

TULSA, OKLA.—Mrs. Bess Wilson who planned to become a "school marm," but instead became one of the first few women in the United States to head a police identification bureau, hs announced she plans to retire.

Mrs. Wilson became widely known to hundreds of southwestern police officers for her work at the Tulsa County bureau, but when she first got the job 16 years ago she said the men frowned on the idea of a woman doing that kind of work.

She started out as a night matron in the days when Tulsa bragged of its classy police bicycle squad. Taking up the study of fingerprinting as a hobby, Mrs. Wilson later was appointed chief of all such work done by police here. At that time the only other women holding down such a post were at Albany, N. Y., and Peoria, Ill., she said.

"It has been fun," Mrs. Wilson recalled commenting on the records of many criminals she has handled.

"My boys don't know it, but I have kept up with them through the years. Their prints are sent to the bureau for checking and that way I always knew where they were operating."

United States Selling 856 Locomotives Abroad

PARIS (AP)—The Office of the Foreign Liquidation Commissioner said 856 U. S. Army surplus locomotives, including 115 oil burners now in sercvice on French lines, were being offered for sale in Europe.

All prices will be less than 25 per cent of the original cost to the United States, the commissioner said. All the coal burners have been price tagged at $10,000 each. The bulk of the coal burners are stored in German yards at Frankfurt and Stuttgart.

Keyser Man Goes On Training Cruise

Richard F. Llewellyn, Keyser, W. Va., radioman second class, left Norfolk, Va., on Tuesday for a six-weeks' training cruise in Atlantic Fleet amphibious exercises, according to Lt. Comdr. Walter N. Hedrick, organizing officer of the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division.

Llewellyn, a veteran of 11 months' service aboard a LSM in the Pacific, was granted a military leave from the Celanese plant to make the cruise.

Four men have enlisted in the V-6 inactive Naval Reserve, according to Chief Torpedoman Edgar L. Schrader of the local recruiting station. They are:

Robert Franklin Blacker, 401 South Cedar Street, who has 28 months naval service.

William Vance Parker, Romney, W. Va., who has 31 months naval service.

Paul William Cook, 92 Highland Avenue, Wiley Ford, W. Va., who had two years naval service.

James Leslie Catenese, 106 Mullan Street, who had 31 months Army service. He is well-known as an amateur boxer.

Chief Schrader said that the recruiting office will be closed Saturday in observance of Washington's birthday.

Three Drivers Fined On State Charges

Three drivers were fined and two others forfeited bonds yesterday morning in Trial Magistrates Court for violating state motor laws.

Edward A. Ritchie, Spring Gap, paid $5.75 for speeding on Route 51 last Friday and Jesse Wilson Brotemarkle, 210 Laing Avenue, was fined $3.75 after pleading guilty to passing another vehicle near the top of Dingle Hill on Route 220 February 11.

A fine of $1.75 was imposed on Fred Grayson Potts, Route 6, this city, for operating a car without lights on Route 220 at Circle Inn on February 10.

Ritchie was arrested by State Trooper Robert D. Henline. Trooper W. L. Wilt apprehended Brotemarkle and Potts.

Louis E. Haus, Mt. Savage, who Trooper G. E. Coddington took into Custody Sunday on Route 35, forfeited $6.45 for exceeding 30 miles an hour, and Nathan B. Kinser, Clearville, Pa., forfeited $11.45 for driving without a license on Route 40 at Pleasant Grove on Monday. The latter was arrested by Trooper William F. Baker.

Expert Coming Here Again
Well-known expert of Indianapolis, and ex-U. S. Army Medical Corpsman, will personally demonstrate his method without charge at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, Cumberland, Saturday, February 22nd from 11 A. M. to 7 P. M.
Mr. Howe says the Howe method contracts the openings in remarkably short time on the average case, regardless of the size or location of the rupture, and no matter how much you lift or strain, and puts you back to work the same day as efficient as before you were ruptured.
The Howe Rupture Shield has no leg strap, waterproof, sanitary, practically indestrucitible, and can be worn while bathing. Each shield is skillfully molded and fitted to the parts under heat, which give a perfect fit and satisfaction.
Large and difficult ruptures following operations especially solicited.
Do not overlook this opportunity if you want gratifying results. Mailing address P. O. Box 5238 E. Michigan St. Station, Indianapolis, Ind.

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive
Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell
Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduces the red-blood strength—and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.
Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.
To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.
Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.
Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Stocks Take Swift Slide In Early Market Hours; Make Slow Recovery

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—(AP)—Stocks took a swift slide in the second hour of today's market and achieved only slight rebounds from their lows in slow dealings thereafter. Total transactions of 980,000 shares compared with 870,000 yesterday.

Short interest on the New York exchange on February 14 was at its hightest level in a year, totaling 1,046,797 shares, according to the report issued after the close of the market. The increase of 248,716 shares since January 15 was the largest rise in any month since April 29, 1938.

American Telephone moved narrowly and closed at 172, off ¼. Wider slides were registered by United States Rubber, down 1½ at 56¾; Goodrich, off at 1 at 70; United States Steel, 1 at 76⅛; Santa Fe, 1 at 93, United States Gypsum, 3 at 103; American Can, 1⅛ at 92⅝, and Texas Company, 1½ at 58½. Other losers included Chesapeake and Ohio, Pennsylvania Railroad, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Kennecott, North American, Allied Chemical, Union Carbide, General Electric, Standard Oil (NJ) and Air Reduction.

Johns-Manville climbed 3 points to 132½ after announcement of a proposed 3-for-1 stock split. Public Service of New Jersey was up fractionally on a raised dividend, while American Airlines and Glenn Martin also scored narrow advances.

Softer spots in the curb were Textron, Niles-Bement-Pond, American Cyanamid, Cities Service, Fansteel and United Light. Middle West Corp. and American Gas and Electric were resistant. Turnover here was 310,000 shares against 270,000 Tuesday.

Turnover, although still comparatively small, picked up to $3,255,000 from $2,810,000 Tuesday.

United States governments moved narrowly in the over-the-counter market with the victory loan December 2½s of '67-'72 remaining at 102 30-32 bid.

Why is there no cream-line in homogenized Vitamin D Milk?	There's cream in every drop, Mrs. Jones, instead of just the top of the bottle. That means everyone in your family gets cream and all of our milk's proteins, minerals, vitamins and added Vitex Vitamin D in every delicious, taste-tempting glassful.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Girl Is Advised Not To Have "Affair" With Boy Friend Whom She Loves

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been going with a fellow for a year now, and I love him very much. He says he feels the same way about me, and always has.

Recently he asked me if I would enter into an "affair" with him. He said that this would keep us together, and he wouldn't hold it against me. I love him too much to lose him, so please try and help me.

"PUZZLED"

I think, "Puzzled," that if you did any such thing as this young man suggests, it would be far more likely, in the end, to result in your losing him than it would in keeping you together. That is the way those things usually work out.

And I think it would be especially likely to happen in your case because I am very much inclined to doubt that this young man loves you as much as he is trying to make you believe. I feel this way about it for three reasons:

First, if he is so much in love with you, why doesn't he suggest marriage instead of an affair? Second, if he were truly and unselfishly devoted to you, his love for you would certainly be sufficient to "keep you together." And third, if he loved you, he wouldn't be telling you that he wouldn't hold it against you if you fell in with his proposition, which obviously indicates that he knows you would be doing something wrong. A man in love who made any such suggestion would, on the contrary, do his best to convince the girl that since they loved each other, it would be a perfectly right thing to do, and this business of holding anything against you would never enter his head.

I'm afraid you have picked the wrong man to love. He doesn't sound to me like a very worthwhile character.

What's So Foolish About This?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

In another two weeks I shall be graduating from high school, and have been asked by several boys from school to the prom.

But I refused, because I did a foolish thing. I went and asked a fellow who is three years older than I to take me. I know this was wrong (because all my friends told me so), but I have liked this boy almost three years, and he has never asked me out. So I asked him. Do you think I should break this date and go with a friend from school?

One other thing. The day of the prom is this boy's birthday. Should I buy him a present, or would it be right to buy the tickets to the prom?

"FAY"

What's so foolish about inviting the boy you want to invite to your prom, "Fay?" In spite of what your friends say, I don't see that you've done anything wrong. It seems to me you merely took advantage of a very good opportunity to give your relations with this boy whom you want to know better a shove in the right direction. Which was not wrong, but smart. And I certainly think it would be very rude to break the date you've made yourself just because of anything your friends say.

I wouldn't give this boy a birthday present, though. That would be laying it on a little thick, when he's never asked you out. But as for buying the tickets, it would be perfectly all right, and the natural thing, for you to do this, since the invitation came from you, and I gather that he does not go to your school.

Stick by your guns, "Fay." Take your boy to the prom and have fun.

Will Initiate Class

Frostburg Lodge, No. 348, Loyal Order of Moose, will hold a class initiation Sunday, February 23, 4 p. m., at the Moose home, East Main street. A special meeting of the lodge will be held Monday, February 24. The business to be transacted will be of special importance to each member of the organization and all are asked to attend.

May Discontinue Program

The summer sessions of the State Teachers Colleges of Maryland, held during the war years in connection with the accelerated program to enable students to graduate as quickly as possible, will be discontinued this year.

The announcement of the decision to abandon the summer sessions at Towson, Frostburg and Salisbury, was made February 8, by Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, State Superintendent of Schools, following a conference in his office with the presidents of the three Maryland State Teacher Colleges.

Returns Are Asked

Mrs. Julius Abramson, Frostburg, chairman of the Christmas seal sales, requests that setttlement for outstanding seals be made at once. She states that the amount on hand is $55 less than last year at this time, and requests that persons receiving the seals send their checks at once or return the seals so that she can make a final report.

Vets Install Officers

Braddock Post, No. 9, Disabled American Veterans have installed officers for the ensuing year as follows: Martin Ralston, commander; Francis Rafferty, senior vice commander; Michael Martz, junior vice commander William A. Shuck, adjutant and treasurer and Calvin Fazenbaker, chaplain. Additional officers will be appointed next week.

The post went on record in favor of retaining the Maryland State Teachers College at Frostburg and also to work with Washington Chapter, Disabled American Veterans of Cumberland in the movement to have a Veterans Hospital established in Western Maryland.

Oppose Moving School

The Frostburg Lions Club went on record last week opposing the recommendation of the Maryland Commission for Higher Education that Frostburg State Teachers College be abandoned. The Lions offered the services of individual members of their group to the local committee, apopinted by Mayor Skidmore to fight for the retention of the college and for expanding its facilities.

Conducts Revival

Evangelist Beulah Skidmore, a former resident of Midlothian, is in charge of the revival services now in their fourth week at the Assembly of God Church, Green Ridge, Md., of which Rev. S. Virts is pastor. The services, which begin at 7:45 each night, will continue for the remainder of the week.

Frostburg Briefs

William Henline, a former student at Frostburg State Teachers College, who was drafted for military service in May 1945, has re-entered the college as a junior. While in the army, Henline was a military policeman. He served on the honor guard at the funeral of the late General Patton, who was fatally injured in an accident in Germany.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Young Men's Republican Club will meet Thursday, 8 p. m., in the club rooms.

The Past Councilors' Club of the Daughters of America will meet Thursday, 8 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Eleanor Martens, Washington street. Mrs. Rosetta Adams will be the assistant hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Steinla, 49 East Main Street, announce the birth of a son Tuesday morning in Miners' Hospital.

William Donahue, a former student at Frostburg State Teachers' College, who left in 1942 to serve with the armed forces, has re-entered the college as a junior. He is a graduate of Beall High School, class of 1940, and entered the college in the fall of that year. He is a member of the Iota Alpha Sigma fraternity and is majoring in education.

The Intermediate Christian Endeavor Society of Salem Evangelical and Reformed church will meet Thursday, 7:45 o'clock, at the home of Miss Mary Margaret Jennings, 60 Linden street.

The past exalted rulers of Frostburg Lodge, No. 470, met last evening after the regular meeting of the lodge and decided to organize a Past Exalted Rulers Association. Officers will be chosen and other business transacted at a meeting to be held March 4.

Jack Stapleton, a former student at Frostburg State Teachers' College, who served in Heidelberg, Germany, with the armed forces has re-entered the college as sophomore. He entered the college in 1944 and was drafted into the armed forces in July, 1945. He received his honorable discharge in January, 1947.

Program Is Given By Londonderry P-TA Members

By LILLIAN HARDEN CRABTREE

HYNDMAN, Pa., Feb. 19 — One hundred and fifty members and guests attended the Annual Dinner meeting of the Londonderry Township Parent - Teacher - Association Monday night in Ruehl Carpenter's new school bus garage. C. P. Gaster was toastmaster and the building was decorated by pupils of the consolidated school.

The entertainment was in charge of the fifth grade, Mrs. Paul Wise, teacher, and consisted of a flag drill and a playlet entitled "When Lincoln Was a Boy".

The speakers all used "Parental Co-operation" as their theme with each taking a different phase. Dr. John A. Topper, local physician, used "Parental Co-operation and Health;" Mrs. Anna McClay and Mrs. Ona Bruner, members of the faculty spoke on "Parental Co-operation and Education"; Rev. Wendell Allen, pastor of the Methodist Church, who was guest speaker of the evening used for his subject, "Spiritual Side of Parental Co-operation," or "Our Greatest Responsibility".

Architects drawing and floor plans for the proposed new building were presented for the first time to members. The Londonderry Teachers Club, presented the P-T-A with a check for $400, to be used in purchasing kitchen equipment for the new school cafeteria building project and members present pledged several thousand dollars.

Program Is Planned

The World's Day of Prayer service will be held Friday in The Reformed Church at 2 p. m. with Mrs. Wendell Allen of the Methodist Church in charge of the program.

This year's theme is "Make Level in the Desert a Highway for Our God," an impressive service that is used all over the world and in practically every language.

At a recent committee meeting, in Evangelical Church, leaders were selected from the various denominations in the community and plans were made for special musical selections.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Dietz entertained with a dinner at their home Sunday in honor of the fourth birthday of their son Bobbie. A large birthday cake with candles decorated the table and 12 guests were present. Those from out-of-towi were Mrs. Hulda Merkle and family, Fairhope, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Custer, near Wellersburg, Pa.

Personals

Mrs. Sam Deneen has returned from Allegany Hospital, Cumberland where she was a patient.

Mrs. Mahlon Evans is recovering from painful injuries suffered in a recent fall on the ice near her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Deneen announce the birth of a daughter in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, Monday.

Jeannette Kirkwood sang, "The Things We Did Last Summer." Delores Beeman led the group in devotional exercises and William Wilson announced the program.

C. E. Duckworth, Retired Farmer, Taken By Death

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, Feb. 19—Charles Edward Duckworth, retired farmer, 82, died Tuesday morning at 4:25 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Nina E. Sturdivant, Rowlesburg, W. Va., following an illness of five weeks. He was a resident of the Ryan's Glade section of the county for a number of years.

He was born at Aaron's Run, near Westernport, February 12, 1865, a son of Aden C. and Dorcas Ellen Duckworth. He was educated in normal school and business college and taught for several years.

He was married twice, first to Miss Ida Susan Thompson, Ryan's Glade, and she died February 12, 1912. Four children survive from this marriage, Mrs. Nina Sturdivant, Rowlesburg; Mrs. Kirstine Wallace, Cumberland; Mrs. Vivian Swartz, Gormania, W. Va.; and Mrs. Dorothy Moon, Bayard, W. Va. A son of this marriage, H. Keith Duckworth, died January 9, 1947, of a heart attack, at Toole, Utah. Eight grandchildren survive from this marriage.

He was then married to Mrs. Sophronia Hilleary, Ryan's Glade, June 27, 1916. She died March 5, 1942.

Surviving also are a step-daughter, Miss Madelein Blamble, Table Rock; a stepson, Gus T. Hilleary, Ohio; 9 step-grandchildren and two step-great-grandchildren. A sister, Mrs. Nannie Nicola, Westernport, also survives.

He was a member of the Masonic Lodge, joining at Oakland in 1903, but later transferring his membership to Elkins Lodge. He was also a member of the Royal Arch Masons and Knights Templar, at Elkins; the Scottish Rite, at Wheeling, and was a 32nd degree Mason. He was a past master of the Elkins Lodge and past high priest of the Elkins Royal Arch Masons.

He was also a member of the Presbyterian church of Gormania, W. Va., and served as a sergeant in the Maryland Guards during the Spanish American War.

His body was brought to the Bolden Funeral Home in Oakland and later taken to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Swartz, in Gormania. Funeral services are to be conducted on Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the Presbyterian Church in Gormania, with Rev. Jonathan Edwards, minister, officiating. Interment will be in the Maplewood Cemetery at Elkins where the Masonic lodge of that city will have charge of final rites at the grave.

W. C. Combs Dies

William C. Combs, 69, died this morning, at 5:45 o'clock in the hospital at Perryville, Md.

He was born January 28, 1878, a son of the late Charles A. and Sarah Combs, of Mt. Lake Park, and was born near Red House. He was a member of the Methodist church in early childhood.

He served in the United States Marine Corps in the Philippine islands shortly after the Spanish American War and for a period of 10 years was unable to be located. He has been in ill health for a number of years and has not been in this vicinity for over 40 years.

Surviving are a brother and sister, W. A. Combs, Mt. Lake Park; and Mrs. L. B. Crane, Grafton, W. Va.

The body will be brought to Oakland Wednesday and the funeral will be conducted Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Bolden Funeral home with Rev. James MacLeod, of the Baptist Church at Mt. Lake Park, officiating. Interment will be in the Oakland Cemetery with final rites and full military honors being in charge of the local American Legion Post.

Marriage Is Announced

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Grace Leona Helmick, of near Gnegy Church, to Victor Gail Wotring, of near Table Rock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Wotring. The single ring ceremony was performed Saturday evening, January 18, at St. John's Lutheran church, Red House, by Dr. A. K. Jones.

The bridegroom was in the Navy for 18 months and was located on Guam. They are residing at the bride's home at Gnegy Church.

Good Fishing Slated For Hyndman Area

W. E. McIlnay, Bedford County, Pa., fish warden, told members of the Hyndman - Londonderry Chapter of the Isaac Walton League recently that prospects for trout fishing in the Hyndman area this spring are excellent.

Good stocks of brown and brook trout now exist in streams of the section and more may be secured before the opening of fishing season, he added.

Game Warden Woodward reported that the club will receive 25 turkey hens for the present game refuge at Little Buffalo in addition to stock turkeys to be released for game.

The club has been promised 50 ring neck pheasants for breeding purposes. During the war, the pens the club owns were not used, but plans are being made for their operation, according to Cyrus V. Bowers, club secretary.

Peter the Great, who made Russia one of the great nations of Europe, once went to England and worked as a laborer in the shipyards in order to teach his people how to build ships.

Mrs. Martha Clayton Dies At Her Home Near Burlington

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., Feb. 19 — Mrs. Martha Alice Danner Clayton, 71, died Tuesday night at 10:30 at the home of her son, Harry C. Clayton, on U. S. Route 50, two miles east of Burlington. She had been in declining health for several months. She was born in Mineral County and spent her entire life in the county. She attended the old Markwood school and was a member of the Church of the Brethren.

Her parents were John and Mary Ann McDowell Danner. Her husband, George Clayton, died in August 1941.

Besides her son, Harry C. Clayton, with whom she made her home, she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Ethel Clayton McCarty, McMullen Highway, and one sister, Mrs. Annie Danner Kitzmiller, near Elk Garden and six grandchildren.

The funeral will be held in the Burlington Union Church, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Rev. Emmet Bittinger, Church of the Brethren minister, officiating. Interment will be made in the Burlington cemetery.

Miss Baker Dies

Miss R. Ella Baker, 74, died Tuesday at her home near Laurel Dale, following an illness lasting several weeks. She was born at Hartmonsville, but had spent most of her life in the farm home where she died. Her parents were the late Milton and Rebecca Phadilia Wilt Baker. She was a member of the Church of the Brethren.

She is survived by two sisters, Misses Laura and Woodrow Baker, both at home.

The body will remain at the Rogers Funeral home until Thursday when it will be taken to Sunnyside Church of the Brethren where the service will be held at 2 o'clock, with Rev. A. R. Showalter, Keyser, assisted by Rev. B. W. Smith, Romney, officiating. Interment will be made in the family cemetery on the Baker farm, near Laurel Dale.

Shrine Club Meets

The Upper Potomac Shrine Club held a George Washington Birthday Dinner in the club dining hall Tuesday night. Forty-five Nobles were in attendance.

Dean Kirkland S. McKee, of Potomac State School, chief speaker, eulogized Washington, dwelling chiefly upon his relation to the Masonic fraternity and particularly recounting his activities in Lafayette Lodge in Washington, where he held membership. It was interesting to learn that he was raised to the third degree before he attained the required age of 21, this because of his activities with the colonial military action against the Indians which kept him in the field for long periods of time.

Judge Ernest A. See spoke briefly and told how he had been elected to membership in the lodge at Moorefield, but before induction he went to Washington to take up his training in law at George Washington University thus out of touch of his home lodge he had the distinction of receiving the work in Lafayette lodge, the home lodge of George Washington.

Dr. Tom Bess whose forebears were instructed in the work of Masonry in the Mother Lodge in Scotland, told how his family had secured two pictures of the Mother Lodge Temple, one showing the shrine in a delapidated condition, the other showing it after restoration. Reproductions of the pictures grace the walls of the local club rooms. These pictures are Dr. Bess' personal contribution to the decorations of the rooms.

Men Will Meet

The monthly meeting of the men of First Presbyterian church will be held in the church, tomorrow, Thursday night, at 7:30. James H. Swadley, Jr., vice-president of the group, will preside.

The feature of the meeting will be a debate by the students of Potomac State School, on the subject: "Resolved that Labor should have a direct share in the Management of Industry."

The program will include the presentation of a short ceremony honoring the charter members.

Minister Will Speak

Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, pastor of the St. James Episcopal church, will be the guest speaker at a turkey banquet of the newly formed Men's club in the educational building at the Trinity Methodist church at Piedmont, Thursday 6:30 p. m.

Education Discussed

Dr. Hawkins discussed the kind of education that is needed for everybody. In reviewing the enrollment of the high schools beginning in 1,890 with 250,000 students to the present time of 7,000,000 and the problems that have increased. It showed about every ten years the enrollment in high schools has doubled.

Dr. Hawkins was introduced by John W. Fisher, principal of Bruce High School of Westernport.

Will Present Charter

Mrs. H. H. Dancer, Westernport, president of the second district of the Auxiliary Unit of the American Legion of West Virginia will present the charter to the Paw Paw, W. Va., unit Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Two hundred invitations to the ceremony have been issued. Edmund Jones, Wheeling, W. Va., department commander of the American Legion and R. S. Stone, Charlestown, W. Va., commander of the tenth district of the American Legion are expected to attend. Mrs. Dancer will be accompanied by her husband and Mrs. R. J. Ross of Westernport.

Program Arranged

A union World's Day of Prayer service will be held Friday 7:30 p. m. at the Trinity Methodist church at Piedmont. Representatives of the Church of the Brethren of Westernport, Piedmont Presbyterian church and the Methodist church will have a part in the program. The theme will be "Make Level in the Desert a Highway for Our God."

Turkey eggs for eating are expected to join the familiar chicken eggs on the market with the development of a small-sized turkey that lays heavily throughout the year.

Bible Class Meets In Grantsville

By EVA B. BEACHY

GRANTSVILLE, Feb. 19 —Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Durst entertained the Sunshine Class of the Methodist Church School at their home Monday evening. Mrs. Henry F. Durst presided in the absence of Mrs. Harry Edwards. There were 12 members and four visitors present.

The topic for the evening was Prayer. Rev. D. J. Combs gave a talk on The Lord's Prayer; Miss Jo Purcell spoke and Mrs. Herbert Ringer gave Gen McArthur's prayer while Mrs. Marshall Landis gave Gen. Patton's prayer.

Mrs. Roy Mickey gave a brief history of the song "What a Friend We Have in Jesus". Miss Viola Broadwater gave a story of two hymns "God Will Take Care of You", and "I Need Thee Every Hour". Mrs. N. Horwitz gave a prayer of "Thanksgiving and Praise. Mrs. Wayne Durst assisted the hostess in serving light refreshments.

Hold Valentine Party

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Morton, Guntertown, entertained at their home with a Valentine party for their children Lois, Ann and Leslie. Valentine decorations were used, games were played and refreshments were served to the 23 guests.

Personals

Mrs. Norman Patton is visiting friends in Akron, Ohio.

Frank Beamer, manager of the Gortner Sales and Service garage, Meyersdale, Pa., who recently underwent an appendectomy in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland has been taken to the home of his father-in-law, Harvey Gortner. His condition is satisfactory.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Durst have returned home after visiting friends in Baltimore, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Beachy, Philadelphia, are visiting the former's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Bender.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Gortner have returned home after spending the past month in Florida.

A dynamite explosion set off in December, 1933, on the Arctic island, Nova Zembla, was detected more than 2,000 miles away in Berlin.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

Norma Shearer

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 19.—Just before Noel Coward took off for the West Indies from New York he air mailed Norma Shearer, who is at Sun Valley, a comedy he had especially written for her. The comedy has no name, but needless to say, authored by Noel. Norma accepted it with alacrity and so did David Lewis who is producing her next movie.

So a Noel Coward original will herald Norma's return to the screen and of course she's making it for Charles Einfeld at Enterprise.

It's no new thing for Norma to be doing a Noel Coward story, one of her screen successes was "Private Lives" which she played with Robert Montgomery.

Jackie Cooper is getting a very good break and I couldn't be happier. He was so good in "Stork Bites Man" that Buddy Rogers signed him on a contract, and now he'll make two a year for Buddy's Comet Productions for the next four years.

Chatter in Hollywood: There's more than meets the eye in the teaming of Eddie Norris and Sheila Ryan in "Silent Voice" at PRC. These two have fallen in love and their friends say they're headed for marriage.

The amusing part is that they had never met until they went on that personal appearance junket through Texas with "It's a Joke Son", the Senator Claghorn movie. Fact is, it my good friend Sammy Israel introduced them.

Now don't tell me that it's just a coincidence that after Norris was signed for the movie "somebody" got busy and borrowed Sheila for the femme lead. You may remember that Eddie was once Ann Sheridan's husband.

The two little Niven boys will precede David to England. He very much wants the little boys to see their maternal grandparents and he cannot possibly finish "The Bishop's Wife," before May, so he'll send the children ahead and he will follow and remain there to make "Bonnie Prince Charlie" for Korda.

The trip will be a sad one for David and at the same time a solace. He hasn't been home since the death of his lovely English bride, who died in an accident soon after arriving in Hollywood.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: For 24 hours, on the hour, Valentine's Day, Ann Sheridan received a telegram from Steve Hannagan saying, "I love you."

Mrs. Astor's dinner dance was given at the home of Annabella, and it was one of the very nicest affairs of the season. Benny Goodman gave with some of his marvelous music.

Margaret Sullivan says that Leland Hayward is still pretty sick, but improving. She came with Jimmy Stewart and looked prettier than I ever saw her.

The Ronald Colmans and the Jack Bennys, who had a radio show together next day, stayed up much later than they intended, but they were so good on the air no one could have guessed the late hour they went home.

Anita Loos' escort was Charlie MacArthur, by permission of Helen Hayes.

Joan Caufield with Gregory Bautzer, Margaret Chapman with Charlie Feldman, Eleanor Parker and Bert Friedlob, and Milten Bren with the Jack Ford's pretty daughter were among the guests.

Eddie, who planned the whole party was a grand host. The cake in valentine colors, the red and white table decorations, all showed a lot of thought.

Johnny Mack Brown has written a western song "You're Roping In My Heart." It will be introduced on a hillbilly program.

Gertrude Lawrence and Ralph Forbes are doing great business in San Francisco in "Pygmalion." They will be here soon. Ralph's pretty bride, Doris Sayers has a small part in the show.

Curt Bernhardt, who was so crushed over the sudden death of his wife, has called off his European trip and instead will go to work as soon as possible here in Hollywood.

Connie Bennett's husband, Col. John Coulter, gets here this week, but they'll have just one day together. He has to fly back to his post within 36 hours.

City Softball Loop Expands To Ten Teams

Gilchrist, Howe And Kelly Named League Officers

Circuit Holds Next Session On March 19

The City Softball League was reorganized for the 1947 season at a meeting held last night at the Amvets' Home and indications are that the circuit will operate with at least ten teams — two more than were represented last year.

The complete setup, however, will not be certain until March 19 when the league holds its next session and forfeits are posted by the clubs planning to place teams on the field.

Gilchrist Heads League

Thomas E. Gilchrist, Jr., who was elected president of the circuit, reported that the ten teams that are being considered for berths are:

Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion; East Side, Maccabees, Henry Hart Post, V. F. W.; North End Social and Athletic Club, and Lacy's Delicatets, all of whom were represented in the loop last season; the Astor Cab Company, formerly the William Street Merchants, J. Louis Wolford Post of the Amvets, the Silver Grill and Virginia Avenue Merchants.

The eleventh application for a franchise came from Joe Hartman, representing the Legion of Guardsmen, but action was deferred because this aggregation was uncertain where it would play its home games and because the seven holdover clubs voted to limit the loop to ten teams. It was indicated, however, that the loop could be jumped to 12 teams if an application from another club is approved.

Ormond W. Howe was elected vice president of the league and John R. Kelly, Jr., was named secretary-treasurer.

Team Representatives

Fort Cumberland Post, John R. Kelly, Jr., East Side, Stanley Goodrich. Maccabees, Fred J. Hillebrecht. V. F. W., Harold Hipsley. North End Social and Athletic Club, Robert V. Chisholm. Astor Cab Company, William Underdonk. Lacy's, William Crabtree. Amvets, Frank Riehl. Silver Grill, Ray Cleggett. Virginia Avenue Merchants—Maurice Mullan.

Loving Elected By Hardy Group

Sportsmen To Hold Supper On March 17

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Feb. 19—Louis Loving was named vice president of the Hardy County Rod and Gun Club at the meeting at the club's lodge at Bass. Loving was named to act for George Creel who is out of the county.

The new lodge, converted from the old post office and residence at Bass, is a seven room structure with ample room for meetings and headquarters for hunting and fishing parties. New flooring has been laid in the meeting room, a new arched doorway was cut in the wall and lights have been installed.

The club will hold a shrimp and oyster supper for the members on Monday March 17 and a shooting match is scheduled to be held Sunday afternoon February 23. The public is invited to attend the shoot which will be for chickens and other prizes. A series of game and seafood dinners is being planned for the members.

A new automatic reel, fly rod and casting line will be given away by the club prior to the opening of trout season April 26.

District Game Protector John Shanholtz reports the distribution of another shipment of 96 cottontail rabbits in Hardy county. The animals were received here last week and released in various sections of the county.

The express shipment was sent from C. L. Miller in Missouri, the same firm that shipped rabbits late in January. Shanholtz reported that adjoining counties also received shipments of rabbits.

McGaughey To Assist "Hooks" Mylin At NYU

McGaughey was graduated in 1935 from Bucknell, where he played center under both Mylin and Coach Carl Snavely. After two years as a high school mentor, he was line coach at Lafayette from 1937 through 1941.

He coached the line for Jim Crowley's North Carolina Pre-Flight squad in 1942 and served in a similar capacity at Wabash College in Crawfordville, Ind., last season after a three-year hitch in the navy as a lieutenant.

Jack Must Support His Three Children

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—At least $2,500 of the money which former lightweight champion Beau Jack earns in his ten-round fight with Tony Janiro at New York's Madison Square Garden Friday night will go to support his three children—by court order.

The onetime Augusta, Ga., shoeshine boy, whose real name is Sidney Walker, was summoned to Westchester children's court today to answer a charge of non-support.

Judge George Smyth declared it was to the interest of the children to have the fight go on and ruled that $2,500 should be withheld from Jack's purse for their support.

Davis Defeats Tygart Valley

Wildcats Score 25 Goals In 55-37 Win

DAVIS, W. Va., Feb. 19 — Coach Bill Talbott's Davis High School Wildcats poured 25 field goals through the hoops tonight to trounce Tygart Valley High School, of Mill Creek, by the score of 55 to 37.

Arnold headed the Davis offensive with seven fielders and a total of 15 points. He was ably supported by Heath and McDowell, both of whom racked up an even dozen markers. Russell was top scorer for Tygart Valley with 20 points on eight field goals and four free throws.

Davis jumped off to a 21-6 lead at the quarter and stayed on top throughout. At half time the score was 33-17 while at the end of the third stanza the figures stood 44-25.

Truman Endorses Memorial Stadium

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP) — President Truman endorsed today a move to erect a memorial stadium to baseball pitcher Walter Johnson in nearby Maryland.

The Montgomery County (Md.) Board of Commissioners has proposed a 5,000-seat stadium at Richard Montgomery High School, Rockville, Md.

Brooke Johns, chairman, said after a White House call that Mr. Truman was enthusiastic and promised to write a letter endorsing the project.

Johnson, former Washington and American League great, lived on a Montgomery county farm after retiring from baseball. He died recently after a long illness.

Three Season Tickets To Maryland's Tracks Asked For Legislators

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 19 (AP)—Members of Maryland's General Assembly would get to the races for free if a bill introduced by two of their members clears the various legislative hurdles.

The measure by delegates Milanicz (D-Balto 1st) and Todd (R-Somerset) would require all racing associations in the state to supply each legislator with three season tickets or badges to every meet.

If they refused, a fine of not more than $500 could be imposed.

Middies Convert 15 Fouls In Row, Beat Penn 55-53

Navy Notches 12th Straight Victory

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 19 (AP)—The "Mighty Mites" of the Navy basketball quintet overcame a first half Pennsylvania lead today to go on to win their 12th straight game, 55-53.

The Middies won their margin of victory on the foul line. They had 15 free throws at the Penn basket and made good every attempt, while Penn had a nine for 16 foul shot record.

Penn jumped into a lead shortly after the contest started and had built up a 29 to 22 halftime margin.

The smaller Navy quintet found itself in the second half and by the time seven minutes had elapsed had tied the score at 34-all. Jim Durham put the Tars ahead with a corner shot, but two minutes later Penn went back into the lead, 38-37, with a layup basket by Greer Heindel.

Don Dick's shot turned the seesaw affair to Navy's advantage on the next play with a field goal and from that point on, the Middies stayed in front.

With just 30 seconds to go and the score 55-51 in Navy's favor, John Colberg, Penn reserve forward, sank a one-hander to pull the visitors to within two points of the Sailors, but Navy took the ball over and held it until the final whistle.

Penn had declined to take foul shots on three different occasions during the last minute of play.

It was a rough and ready affair, with 16 fouls being called against each quintet.

Babe Zaharias Seeks Fifth Straight Title

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Feb. 19 (AP)—Mrs. Mildred (Babe) Zaharias, national women's amateur golf champion, goes after her fifth straight Florida golf title of the year in the second annual women's international four-ball tournament which opens tomorrow.

Mrs. Zaharias, who won the Palm Beach tournament last week, will pair with Peggy Kirk, of Findlay, Ohio, for the match play event.

The defending champions, Louise Suggs, of Lithia Springs, Ga., and Jean Hopkins, of Lakewood, Ohio, were placed on the top of the upper bracket, and the team of Mrs. Zaharias and Miss Kirk on the bottom of the lower bracket.

Mrs. Zaharias started the year by winning the Tampa women's open by five strokes, and then defeated Margaret Gunther, of Memphis, Tenn., 12 and 10, in the Helen Lee Doherty tournament at Miami, she paired with Gerald Walker of Orlando to win the Florida mixed two-ball, 5 and 4, and defeated Jean Hopkins, 1 up in the Palm Beach tourney.

Three Games Tonight

Ridgeley will play host to Fort Ashby in a Potomac Valley Conference game and Bruce High of Westernport will play Central High at Lonaconing in a W.M.I. League contest tonight. Parsons High is scheduled to play Pickens at Parsons.

CAPTAINS TEAM—Jimmy Murphy, above, is captain of the Westinghouse Apprentice School quint of Pittsburgh, which meets Potomac State School at Keyser tomorrow night and faces Frostburg State Teachers' College Saturday night in the Mountain City. Murphy holds the Bronze Star Medal for heroic achievement in action near Hatten, France, January 13, 1945. He is also holder of the Purple Heart, two battle stars for combat in France and Germany and the Presidential Unit Citation. Westinghouse, coached by "Bucky" Dearbeck, former Potomac State football captain, has a record of 14 wins and 4 losses.

Everett To Take Eighth Berth In Interstate Wheel

Plays Night Games; League Awaits Fees

Everett, Pa., will take the eighth berth in the Interstate Baseball League provided the other teams in the circuit will agree to play night games in the Pennsylvania town and permit Everett to play its Sunday games away from home.

This message was received last night from Mr. Sipes, representative of the Everett team, by Phil Fleming, vice president of the Interstate League.

President John J. Long said that inasmuch as Everett has already been voted a berth in the league the team will be accepted under the conditions set forth by the Keystone State Club. Long added, however, that a franchise will not be assured Everett until the fee is received from that club.

Everett is thirty-six miles from Cumberland. Night games will be played there but the backers of the team are said to be opposed to staging games there on Sunday. No objection, however, will be raised against the team playing away from home on the Sabbath.

Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division was the seventh club admitted to the league. This organization has posted the fees required by the league along with six holdover clubs, namely, Fort Cumberland Post, Barrelville, Cumberland Moose, Cumberland Eagles, Moorefield and Centerville.

LETS DANCE ONCE SOLD FOR $1,500; HAS WON $95,220

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 19—(AP)—The $50,000 added Widener Handicap comes up at Hialeah Park Saturday and one of the contenders was once a "plug" picked up for less than the price of a new automobile—$1,500.

His name is Lets Dance, and he was bought by Miami's Sunshine Stable for less than any self-respecting claiming price. Since then, he has won $95,220 in little more than two years of racing.

Lets Dance is best remembered as winner of the $50,000 added San Pasqual Handicap at Santa Anita early this year, but an even greater achievement would be a victory over the Calumet Farm Star, Armed, in the Widener.

Terrors And Georgetown Top C. U. And Scranton

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 — (AP) — Western Maryland overcame a 13-point deficit tonight to nose out Catholic University's basketball team 49 to 48.

The game was the nightcap in a doubleheader, Georgetown University cutting off a brilliant Scranton University rally in the first game to win 68 to 59.

Catholic U. led Western Maryland 27 to 17 at the half, and stretched that to 33 to 20. But, in the stretch, Walt Sibiski and Johnny Adamovich led Western Maryland in a smashing drive to victory. Adamovich scored the winning basket, a side shot, 40 seconds before the gun ended the game.

Bob Vanderhout Takes Runner-Up Spot In Scoring

LaSalle Star Trails Fort Hill's Freeland

Scoring 74 points in his last five games, an average of 14.8 per game, Bobby Vanderhout, the most improved scholastic basketball player in Cumberland, now holds the runner-up position in the city race with 203 tallies to his credit.

LaSalle's lanky center has collected 82 field goals and converted 39 of 72 free throws in the 24 games played by the Explorers. Five games remain on the Blue and Gold schedule.

Elmer Freeland, Fort Hill, forward, who has figured in 23 games played by the Sentinels, is well out in front in the city points scoring race with a total of 263 markers. Holding a 60-point margin and with three games yet to go Freeland looks like he'll retain the lead right down to the final whistle.

Milford Dean, of Fort Hill is third with 191 points followed by Jack Stotler, LaSalle, with 179 and Gene Shaw, Allegany, with 170. The Campers have played 18 games and have five still on their schedule.

City players who were 20 points or more are:

Fritzie Zivic Will Have Nose Reshaped

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 19 (AP)—Fritzie Zivic, one-time king of the welterweights, is going to turn glamor boy.

The 33-year-old boxer, who swears he has retired for the last time, said today he would enter St. Joseph's Hospital next month to undergo an operation to reshape his nose into more classical lines. The one he had now has little resemblance to a nose after being battered for 16 years.

"Boy, won't I be pretty if I can have a nose like that," said Fritzie as he looked at the profiles of several famous movie actors. "I understand they can do wonders these days with a fellow's face. Mine can use a little help."

Columbia Wins Meet

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (AP)—Victory in a bitterly fought mile relay, last race of the afternoon, gave Pennsylvania its first polar bear meet track victory over Columbia and Princeton at Columbia's South Field today. The Quakers tallied 49 points to Columbia's 48 and Princeton's 20 in the tenth renewal of the meet, discontinued since 1943.

Moose Passers Win Interstate Contest, 69-26

Double Header Will Be Staged Tonight

Cumberland's Moose quint ran roughshod over Fulton Myers Post, American Legion, in an Interstate League game last night on SS. Peter and Paul court by the score of 69 to 26.

The victory was the seventh for the Moose quint and placed Coach Jim Angellatta's club one half game in the rear of Lonaconing and Cumberland Legion teams which are tied for the top berth in the second half race.

Norman Mason, the league's high point man, collected 24 points in last night's tilt and was forced to leave the game in the final period when badly shaken after running against the concrete wall. He marked up ten field goals and sank four out of five tries at the 15-foot line. Morris and Hollen scored 13 and 12 points.

Fulton Myers trailed throughout, the quarter scores being 14-8, 31-13 and 46-19.

A double header will be played tonight on SS. Peter and Paul court. At 8 o'clock Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, will play the Paw Paw American Legion while at 9 o'clock the Cumberland Amvets will oppose the Lonaconing American Legion. Gilbert Becker will referee the first game and Ken Gerard the nightcap.

Lonaconing has entered a formal protest against Fort Cumberland Post, claiming the game scheduled here last Thursday by the forfeit route. Two games were postponed thatevening because of a broken basket at SS. Peter and Paul gym. Lonaconing claims it was not advised of the situation and made the trip here. President Clifton Van Roby will meet with officers of the club and a representative of each club on Saturday at 3 o'clock in the Central YMCA to act on the matter.

Riskolater Scores

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 19 (AP) — Circle M. Farm's Riskolater won the $10,000 added Everglades Handicap at Hialeah Park today.

Riskolater had little difficulty beating the field of eight—which included four previous stake winners—by taking an early lead and galloping home by a four length margin. He ran the mile and an eighth event in 1:51 3-5 and earned $8,800 for his owner. The dollar backers were rewarded with $4.80, $3.40 and $2.70 across the board.

Leo Gerngross' Michael B. Michael B. rated the favorite, was second and Mrs. Tilyou Christopher's Donnas' Ace was third.

Allegany Beagle Club Field Trial Set For Sunday

Initial 1947 Event To Start At 9 A. M.

The Allegany Beagle Club will hold its first field trial of 1947 on Sunday at the club grounds, eight miles south of Cumberland on McMullen highway.

This trial will be a club trial for derbies only and drawings will be made on the grounds at 9 a. m. Both thirteen inch and fifteen inch classes will be run and local beaglers will handle the judging.

Sunday's event will enable local beaglers to get a line on their most promising derbies in actual competition prior to the club's Tri-State Association Spring Derby Trial which will be run on the same grounds Sunday, March 16 and which is expected to draw entries from over a large area covered by the Tri-State Association.

The club grounds were stocked recently with several dozen rabbits and the club has eleven dozen more on order which will be stocked before March 1. This should insure local beaglers plenty of game to follow and enjoy their favorite sport throughout the year.

Plans are under way for the construction of a club house and kennels on the club grounds and for an AKC sanctioned trial to be held in the fall. Completion of this program will make the local organization eligible for an AKC license and to hold licensed trials. Due to its central location and easy accessibility, the Allegany is expected within a year or two to become one of the leading beagle trials in the east.

The club's membership has exceeded the 100 mark and is steadily growing. Hugh Stevenson of Ellerslie is president and T. James Stevenson of Cumberland is secretary of the organization.

Fight Is Cancelled

Graziano, Robinson May Box In NBA States

NBA Prexy Charges Unbalanced Justice

By SID FEDER

Abe J. Greene

NBA President Abe Greene asserted the "involvements of Graziano and Robinson were of a similar pattern," since both were accused of failing to "report bribe offers." As a result, Greene declared the New York Commission's action in revoking Graziano's license—possibly for life—and then only suspending Robinson for 30 days "smacks of unbalanced justice, if not of political witch-hunting."

"Our members are therefore free to proceed with Graziano and Robinson as they see fit" Greene explained in announcing the decision of the organization which governs boxing policy in 30 states and five cities with individual commissions, as well as in Canada and several Latin-American countries.

Graziano was barred for failing to report a $100,000 offer to throw a fight. Robinson was suspended for failing to tell the commission about a $25,000 bid not to make the required weight for a welterweight title bout. Neither fight ever came off.

The NBA decision today was based on recommendations of its more than 40 commission members and permits both fighters to box in any NBA territory, providing the local boxing fathers give them the go-ahead. Already, Graziano has had offers to go through with his scheduled title bout with Champion Tony Zale—cancelled here by the New York Commission action—in Chicago, and has received bids for appearances in some two dozen other places.

New York Commission actions in two other cases in recent years also "confused" the NBA, Greene said. One involved heavyweight Freddie Fidacia, who received a bribe offer in a fight a year ago, tried to inform the New York Commission of it, was told the commissioners were too busy to see him, and ultimately was suspended for 60 days for failure to report the bribe attempt. The other case was that of the late Al Bummy) Davis, who, the NBA recalled, "was suspended for life in New York State" on one occasion, and "six months later, he boxed in a New York ring."

28 TICKET HOLDERS RECEIVE $2,691 EACH FROM HIALEAH DOUBLE

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 19 (AP)—A daily double of $2,691—largest in the history of Hialeah Park—was paid 28 two-dollar ticket holders today when Cedar Farm's Fiery Dawn won the first race and Mrs. E. Biller's Bud's First copped the second.

Fiery Dawn paid $79,60 in the opener and Bud's First returned $39.50 for $2 in the second.

Hialeah's previous high double return was $1,459.20, dating back to February 4, 1936. At Tropical Park some years ago, a double paid slightly more than $7,300, which still is high for Florida.

Thomas Plays 'Em Close

Carnera Visits Romans

"Obie" Runs Irv Ragged

Davis Halts Rowlesburg

By C. V. BURNS

Coach Emil Suder's high flying Thomas High School quint has won five games and lost one by the margin of a single point this season.

The Tucker countains have bagged 15 out of 17 to date, their only losses being at the hands of University High at Morgantown and Parsons. The score of the latter game was 33-32.

Games won by a single tally were Terra Alta 44-43 and 31-30, Moorefield 35-34, Davis 36-35 and Tygart Valley High of Mill Creek 46-45. The last two games were played last week and were won by foul goals in the closing seconds of play. That's playing 'em close.

A local amateur boxing promoter recently asked if the A. A. U. would permit girls to appear in an exhibition bout.

Another matchmaker wanted to know if the A. A. U. would approve of two professional boxers appearing in an exhibition on his card.

The answer from the A. A. U. on both questions is a definite "No."

"Big Irv" Barnett, the Wheeling Valans' center, whom the Baltimore Bullets threatened to sue for breach of contract, failed to impress local basketball fans in his two appearances here against the Amvets.

In the second game, Oberhaus ran Barnett ragged, outscoring him 11 to 1 in field goals and outpointed the highly publicized Wheeling pivot man 26 to 2.

The Wheeling Valans, who dropped a 78-61 decision to the Amvets last Sunday night, have scored over 100 points against three different teams this season. Prior to their second visit here, the West Virginians, converted 20 of 23 foul shots while losing to the Detroit Gems, of the National League, 71-58.

Three winning streaks will be placed in jeopardy next Monday night when the American Legion holds its fourth amateur boxing show of the season at the state armory.

"Skeets" Starkey (9-1) and Jimmy Catanese (6-8) have won their last five bouts.. Bobby Goss (8-3) has chalked up seven wins in a row.

A Paterson, N. J., newspaper features a three-column spread on the birthday party held there for Bridget Roman, daughter of Gene Roman, former Cumberlander, who operates a wholesale grocery business and is an official boxing referee for the State of New Jersey.

The article is accompanied by a two column cut of Mr. and Mrs. Roman, their daughters, Bridget and Connie, and last but not least Primo Carnera, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, who is now a big drawing card as a professional wrestler.

For his mat endeavors, Primo pulls down 40 per cent of the net receipts everywhere he goes, after federal and state taxes are deducted, so you can understand why he's mighty grateful to be back in the United States and is angling for his American citizenship papers.

Gene writes:

"After the party we got Carnera over to New York just in time to wrestle at the St. Nicholas Arena. When we arrived at the New York hotel at 7:30 p. m. we found his manager and the promoter in the lobby pulling their hair out. The match was a sellout and they turned away about 2,000.

"Primo works about every night and is doing better now than he did when he was champion.. He picks up about $6,000 a week after all expenses are taken out and that's not hay. We have him booked for the Paterson armory, February 21."

Bill Talbott, Davis coach, reports that Rowlesburg had won 17 consecutive games. The Lions lead the Preston County League which includes Kingwood.

Rowlesburg is coached by George (Newt) Ayersman, who played great ball at Shenandoah College and later at Marshall under Cam Henderson. "Newt" and Talbott are old friends, their relationship dating back to their days at Shenandoah together in 1932 to 1934.

Coach Bruce "Pop" Fisher, who coached at Ferndale High School for a quarter-century before transferring to Bedford, directed his Bisons to a 30-24 victory over the Ferndale Yellow Jackets last Friday night at Johnstown. The coach's son, "Bud," who cut his eye teeth at Ferndale, racked up 20 points on seven field goals and six fouls, for the Buffaloes.

Ferndale comes to Bedford, February 28.

Players in the Interstate League are getting quite a kick out of the referee who says: "Ball out-of-bounds for our team" whenever the home club is given the ball on an out-of-bounds play.

Commission Sets Ohio Race Dates

Tote Board Sought For North Randall

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 19—(AP)—The Ohio Racing Commission disposed of one running horse meet date dispute today and asked again when Ohio tracks could get totalisators to keep mechanical tab on betting.

The answer, given by George M. Gillett, Jr., general sales manager of the American Totalisator Company, of Baltimore, was that the company wasn't out of its war-time shortages yet but that it might be possible to get one installed at Cleveland's North Randall track by early fall.

An effort of the management of Thistle Down track at Cleveland to have its summer meeting follow that of its neighbor, North Randall, to give 88 consecutive days of racing was blocked. The commission granted Ascot track at Akron the July 9-30 spot following Randall's May 16-July 5. Thistle Down was given August 2 to September 20.

Other dates granted were Beulah Park, Columbus, May 10-31 and September 20-October 19; River Downs, Cincinnati, May 23-July 12; and Hamilton, August 11-September 1.

Bosox Sign Hayes

BOSTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—Frankie Hayes, veteran American League catcher, today signed with the Boston Red Sox.

Hayes, who was made a free agent by the Chicago White Sox, has appeared with four clubs during his 14 years in the majors.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Guy Thomas Hite, who died three years ago, February 20, 1944.

Do not ask us if we miss him,
There's such a vacant place.
Oft we think we hear his footsteps
And see his smiling face.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow,
Memory keeps him ever near us
Though he left us three years ago.

Burns And Allen To Observe Their 15th Year On Air

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—Burns and Allen, looking back at their radio years, are going to celebrate 15 of them when their program makes its regular NBC stop at 8:30 Thursday night. To do so they will have the guest cooperation of Al Jolson.

Like quite a few others of the microphone veterans Burns and Allen are graduates of the old Rudy Vallee hour, which was the stepping stone in their transition from the stage to the radio.

The closed shop question comes up for America's Town Meeting debate on ABC at 8:30. Specifically, it will be put this way: "Should Congress Outlaw the Closed Shop?" On one side will be Sen. Jos. H. Ball of Minnesota and on the other Sen. W. G. Magnuson of Washington.

Salute to the Paul Lavalle Melody, which on Friday night is to start its 21st year in continuous broadcasting on NBC for the same sponsor, will be provided on NBC at 6:15 by Serenade to America. Guest soloist is Mac Morgan, regular singer in the Melody show.

Family Theater of MBS, newly introduced drama series, has picked for its second edition at 10 "Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory." To do the principal acting there will be Gene Reynolds and Jennifer Holt, as well as Walter Brennan and Beulah Bondi.

Review Of Club Tax Exemptions In County Ordered By Tax Commission

Not Provided By Law, Secretary Declares

Return to the Allegany County tax books of an estimated $1,400,000,000 worth of property owned by clubs and now exempt from taxation appeared likely last night in view of instructions forwarded yesterday by the State Tax Commission to Somerville Nicholson, supervisor of assessments.

Albert W. Ward, secretary of the Tax Commission, informed Nicholson that he should review all clubs in the county "with a view of placing them on the books this year for 1948," since such exemptions are not provided for by state law.

Nicholson, told of the letter being sent to him and which should arrive today, declared "If the Tax Commission has ordered them to be put on the books they will be assessed and presented to the county commissioners to be taxed. If the County Commissioners refuse to tax them I shall inform the Tax Commission."

Over 50 Exempted

There are over 50 clubs in the county now exempted from taxation, Nicholson estimated, but he added that some of these clubs, while they are exempt in the county, are still on the state tax books and are paying state taxes.

On the present county tax rate of $1.77 on each $100, the return to the tax books of the estimated $1,400,000 worth of club property would mean revenue to the county in the neighborhood of about $24,780.

In addition, it was indicated that property owned by veterans' organizations is valued at about $425,000, which, if taxed, would mean revenue of an additional $7,522.

However, Secretary Ward said some property owned by veterans' organizations is exempt by state law. This includes property owned by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans, 29th Division of World War I, and the Society of Cincinnatians.

He explained that to be exempt, title to properties must be in the name of the veterans' organizations and cannot be held by individuals.

Gives Credit To Cook

Ward gave credit for his action in forwarding a letter to Nicholson to Noel Speir Cook, a member of the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly.

Cook was approached by constituents who objected to the great number of clubs granted tax exemptions in the county, Ward said, and was preparing a bill to be introduced in the legislature that would remedy the situation when he read the tax exemption law and found the condition already covered and that clubs are not exempted by state law. Cook then contacted the Tax Commission, Ward added.

One sub-section of the tax exemption law provides for exemption of property of any fraternal or beneficiary association, incorporated or licensed under the laws of Maryland, with the exception of real estate, chattels and office equipment, according to Ward, who explained that this means that even if a fraternal organization is licensed under the state insurance law its real estate is not exempt from taxation.

Exemptions provided are for buildings, equipment and furniture of hospitals, asylums and charitable or benevolent institutions, and for buildings, furniture and equipment of education and literary institutions.

"Very Strictly Construed"

To be exempt, Ward emphasized, an organization must operate for charitable purposes or be listed by law as are the veterans' organizations.

"Exemptions are very strictly construed," Ward stated.

In instructing Nicholson to review club exemptions with the view of placing them on the tax books, Ward wrote that each of the taxpayers should be given notice of assessment and an opportunity to protest.

"In any case where there is doubt as to whether the property is exempt," Ward wrote, "you should take an appeal to the State Tax Commission and let this commission determine the case."

Nicholson pointed out last night that the County Commissioners determine who pays taxes, and said it has been the custom in the county since long before he became supervisor of assessments for the County Commissioners to give exemptions of this type.

Trio Of Boys Admit Setting $8,000 Fire

Three Meyersdale, Pa., boys who admitted setting fire to a barn, causing damage of between $8,000 and $10,000 last Thursday, were ordered placed in the Somerset County detention home for an indefinite period yesterday by Judge Norman T. Boose.

Judge Boose said the boys, Woodrow Gearhart, 9, Jack Gearhart, 10, and Walter Beal, Jr., 11, were too young to be confined for institutional training but thet they will be confined to the detention home under the supervision of the probation officer, A. E. Shaffer, until final disposition is made of the case.

Arrested a few days ago by Chief of Police James A. Brocht, Meyersdale, the trio admitted setting fire to the large barn on the John Mosgrave farm, several miles northeast of Meyersdale, and Judge Boose said they did it "for a thrill."

The only thing firemen were able to save was a farm wagon.

Divorce Decrees

Divorce decrees were signed yesterday, by Chief Judge William A. Huster, granting absolute divorce to Pauline Skidmore from George R. Skidmore, and to Ethel Wilson from George G. Wilson.

Skidmore was ordered to pay his wife $10 per week alimony for the support of an infant child placed in the custody of Mrs. Skidmore.

Mrs. Wilson was given the right to resume her maiden name.

Delegation Introduces Measure To Raise Teachers' Salary Scale

Proposed Rate Ranges From $2,400 To $3,900

A bill setting a salary scale for Allegany County teachers at $2,400 to $3,900 was introduced in the House of Delegates yesterday by the Allegany County delegation.

Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., delegation chairman, said the bill was introduced in the afternoon after it was submitted to the delegation yesterday morning by the Legislative Committee of the Allegany County Teachers Association and Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools.

The bill provides a starting salary of $2,400 a year for the teacher with a degree, and increases in increments of $100 a year after the second year until reaching the maximum of $3,900 in 17 years.

Differential Provided

Teachers without a degree would receive $200 less than the scale and those with a Master's degree would receive $200 more than the scale.

A teacher who has been teaching for 14 years or longer would receive the salary proposed for the 14th year—$3,600.

The present scale is from $1,800 to $2,700.

Kopp, Harold C. Wickard, Lewyn C. Davis and Stanley Hunter submitted the bill to the delegation for the teachers. Kopp will remain in Annapolis today to participate in a joint hearing by the House Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Finance Committee on state education proposals.

The bill, after being introduced, was referred to the Allegany County delegation.

A state-wide bill, pertaining to dealers' license tags for motor vehicles was introduced by Delegate William H. Geppert and was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Under present law, license tags are required on the front and rear of automobiles, but this law was waived during the war to conserve metal and only one tag was necessary. Now, however, the state is planning to go ahead with the two-tag system, and Geppert's bill would eliminate one of the license plates as far as dealers' tags are concerned.

Passed in the House yesterday was a bill introduced by the Washington County delegation which would permit the judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit—Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties—to set the salaries for court stenographers.

Under terms of a statewide amendment introduced yesterday by Delegate John T. Fey, money realized from a $4 seat tax on public motor conveyances would go to the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles who would then return the money to the mayors and councils of the respective cities.

Counties Would Benefit

Money from a seat mileage tax (about 1-18th of a cent per seat mile, figured on the number of seats in a bus times the number of miles traveled) would be returned to the respective counties.

Before 1922 an act was passed with these provisions, Fey said, but the state comptroller did not return the money to the municipalities and counties. In 1922 the attorney general ruled that the act could not take effect unless in each annual budget a specific provision was made for return of money realized in the seat tax. However, this never was done.

Should this bill pass, it would ease Cumberland's revenue problem to a certain extent. One of the measures suggested to the delegation by the Mayor and Council Tuesday was a seat tax not to exceed $6, but the delegation said it would withhold this bill pending action on the statewide proposal.

Fey yesterday explained a bill he introduced Tuesday which would require the Board of Education to submit an annual report to the County Commissioners.

Required To File Report

Under a 1939 act of the legislature, the superintendent of schools was required to file an annual report of expenditures with the Board of Education and the County Commissioners, Fey said. Under this system, state authorities appointed an accountant to draw up a report of expenditures, but the County Commissioners had nothing to do with the auditing, Fey explained.

Under the proposal introduced by

Textile Workers Request Conference

Officials of Celanese Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, said last night that they will request the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference to call a meeting of all organized labor in Allegany County to organize against the "attacks of Big Business."

William Boyd Coleman, president, said the union's executive board asked Monday for the conference so that labor may bring before the people the position of labor as opposed to the position voiced by the National Association of Manufacturers and "monopolistic big business".

Coleman, who is vice-president of the Labor Unity group, said the union will present the call for action at a meeting of the council tonight at 7:30 p. m. in Allegany Trades Council Hall.

National Action Planned

The action will follow the line of Philip Murray, CIO president, who has issued an invitation to all organized labor to join in a fight against restrictive legislation.

George Meyers, chairman of Local 1874's legslative committee said last night the local has gone on record as supporting the rent sontrol bill introduced by Senator Ellison, Baltimore, which would provide continued rent controls in Maryland in case federal controls are discontinued.

Meyers, with Arthur Schustermman and Clair Mease, chairman of the veterans committee of the union, presented the union's position before a Maryland Senate committee Tuesday.

Opposes Sales Tax

The Celanese union is also strongly opposed to any form of the sales tax, he added, but is endorsing Senator Kimble's bill which would prohibit Allegany County Commissioners from granting tax exemptions to corporations in this county.

Meyers said the union feels that if more money is needed, one way to get it is to support Senator Kimble's bill.

Local 1874 support of American Federation of Labor program for Maryland teachers has also been voted by the union, he said.

Union representatives were present, Meyers said, at a hearing in Annapolis Tuesday on Senator Della's bill for a wage and hour law which would set a 65 cent minimum wage for all Maryland workers.

Coleman said wires have been sent to the six members of the county delegation stating the union stand on pending legislation.

Clerk's Salary Will Not Be Increased Under Kimble's Bill

The Senate Bill introduced by Senator Robert B. Kimble providing $10 per day for the Clerk to the County Board of Commissioners, which passed the Senate Tuesday, does not represent a salary increase to the clerk, it was explained at the Court House yesterday.

This $10 per day is in payment for each day the clerk serves with the board of commissioners when it sits as a board of review on tax assessments. This board of review meets twice each month.

Under present law each County Commissioner receives $10 per day for each board of review meeting, or an extra $20 per month. The attorney to the County Board and the Clerk receive a like amount. However, the law which Kimble has proposed makes the clerk's payment mandatory, and does not leave it to the discretion of the commissioners, as is the case under present law, it was explained.

Independent Department Of Smoke Control Is Proposed By Avirett

University Women Sponsor Discussion

Listing provisions which should be included in a smoke control ordinance for Cumberland, James Alfred Avirett, local attorney and chairman of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission, said last night that an independent department of smoke control should be set up, headed by a paid trained combustion engineer with one or two assistants.

Avirett was one of four speakers at a panel discussion on smoke control, which featured the monthly meeting of the Cumberland branch of the American Association of University Women, held at the Girl Scout House, Greene Street.

He explained that it would be the duty of the board to inspect industrial plants and all institutions which are large users of coal, to make sure that equipment was adjusted so that a minimum amount of smoke or fumes would be emitted.

Other provisions, Avirett said, should include limitation of the amount and type of smoke which could be emitted either from plants, institutions or railroads, with moderate fines against both the individual railroad firemen and the railroad company in cases of excessive smoke from locomotives.

Would Restrict Coal Piles

He also urged that there be a provision making it unlawful to store large piles of coal within the city, stating that on windy days quantities of dirt are blown from such coal piles. Avirett added that the grade of coal used should be regulated to provide that no "high volatile", or smoke-producing, coal could be used. This, he pointed out, would help coal mines in the state, since good grades of coal are produced in this county.

His final point was that later on, provision might be made for inspecting home stokers in individual residences, to make sure that they are properly adjusted to cut down on the amount of smoke coming from dwellings.

Declaring that the Potomac Edison river plant "must be cleaned up or be moved out of the city," Avirett exhibited a box of gray fly ash and stated that four or five tons of the ash is spread over the city daily from the plant. He said the company has taken action to correct the condition but that more corrective work is needed.

Max Shaffer, Celanese engineer who assisted Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, in assembling data in preparation for drawing up an ordinance here, recalled that in St. Louis

Allegany Senior Class To Present "Ten Little Indians" Next Month

Ann Martin and Howard Peterson will portray important roles in the mystery play, "Ten Little Indians," senior class production which will be presented at Allegany High School on Thursday and Friday, March 6 and 7 under the direction of Harold C. Wickard.

Ann Martin will characterize Emily Brent. Miss Martin is a member of the Allegany Girls' Tri-Hi-Y, Spanish Club, History Club, O. K. S. and National Thespians. She has appeared in several O. K. S. productions including "Snafu" and "Funny Business." She enacts effectively, the role of a tall, thin spinster with a disagreeable, suspicious face.

Howard "Dutch" Peterson will portray the role of Sir Lawrence Wargrave. A prominent Alleganian, "Dutch" is the president of the Allegany Boys Hi-Y, treasurer of the senior class, a fire marshal, and an active participant in football and baseball activities. He will create a sinister atmosphere as he delves into the mysteries of each scene.

Tolerance Urged In Brotherhood Week Broadcast

In observance of National Brotherhood Week another radio broadcast, featuring representatives of the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish religions, was sponsored last night over WTBO by Western Maryland Lodge, B'nai B'rith, in cooperation with the National Association of Christians and Jews.

Robert Kaplon served as moderator and the speakers were Rev. W. Randolph Keefe, pastor of Grace Baptist Church; Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, and Rabbi Maurice Feuer, B'er Chayim Temple.

Rev. Mr. Feefe stated that brotherhood week is an institution for which we should all be grateful, as "there is a real need for directing our attention to the intolerance in our land because it endangers our healthy and happy American way of thinking."

Must Fight Indifference

He enumerated the debt we owe to every race in existence in the world saying, "From every race of men on earth there has come great and noble characters. Some of the races that have been most despised have produced the world's greatest philosophers, statesmen, musicians, scientists and religious leaders. There is no reason why we should have anything but gratitude and good will toward the members of all other races."

Rev. Mr. Keefe warned his audience to be tolerant and to be continually on guard lest indifference break down the fight toward good will and love of neighbor.

"Justice is a virtue, a principle, a practice of rendering to others what is due them according to equality," Father Landrigan stressed. "Yet, whether from experience or observation, many of us are aware that some who frequently have the word upon their lips are often void of the virtue in their hearts and this lack of sincerity gives rise to national and neighborhood disturbances of racial discrimination, class hatred and religious bigotry.

"It is for each of us in his private judgments and public acts to give solid testimony to fraternal charity, justice and truth; to strive to resist hatred, columny and prejudice; then efforts and movements like ours today may become effective instruments of international peace and domestic tranquility for the good of ourselves and the general welfare of our fellow men", Father Landrigan concluded.

Unity of Purpose

Rabbi Feuer stressed the fact that the privilege of talking freely and frankly about religion and brotherhood was a privilege that is ours only by virtue of the fact that we live in a free, democratic nation.

"America owes its greatness and its very survival to this fine tradition of liberality and tolerance toward all races and faiths," he said.

"There is no place in the minds of civilized men and women for intolerance and hatred toward those who happen to differ in religious opinion or racial background. We have no moral right to the freedoms and opportunities of our democracy unless we are willing to accord the same rights to our neighbors of every creed and faith."

In concluding his talk Rabbi Feuer stated "Only when the people of America learn to rise above religious bigotry and racial prejudice and a real unity of purpose—only then can we hope to preserve our American democracy."

Dairy Union Seeks Contract At Keyser

Cumberland Local 924, Dairy Workers Union, AFL, reported last night that a Keyser, W. Va., dairy which it termed the only unorganized major dairy of the Tri-State area, has declined to sign a contract.

Jack F. Moore, president, said a union committee conferred with Arnold Haggerty, manager of the Royale Dairy, and that Haggerty said he was willing to enter into wage negotiations only if a majority of the 11 employes request it.

Moore quoted the Keyser dairy operator as saying he would still insist upon an individual contract for the plant since he did not think Cumberland area rules would suit the Keyser section.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dyer, 111 Laing Avenue, announce the birth of a son Wednesday morning in Memorial Hospital.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lehew Miller, Route 4, Christie Road, Wednesday morning in Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson B. Woodson, 4816 Chevy Chase Road, Chevy Chase, announce the birth of a son Wednesday morning in Sibley Memorial Hospital, Washington. The mother is the former Miss Jean E. Torbet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Torbet, 758 Piedmont Avenue.

Henry Hart Post Continues Work To Get Hospital

Members of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, VFW, voted at a meeting Tuesday night to pursue the matter of a hospital for veterans in Western Maryland, and a plan of action was proposed, with reports to be made at the next meeting.

Post Commander Raymond Reynolds said other veterans groups here have indorsed the project and added that the VFW welcomes their co-operation.

Members were informed that Rep. J. Glenn Beall and Senator Herbert R. O'Conor have replied to letters and resolutions from the post asking for their support in efforts to have a hospital for veterans established in Western Maryland, and also protesting sugar rationing and urging their efforts in having all ration controls lifted.

The Post was advised by Rep. Beall that he is interested in a hospital for Western Maryland and will continue to work on the project, and Reynolds said Beall has been interested in the project for sometime. Beall reminded the veterans that it was largely through his efforts that Newton D. Baker Hospital at Martinsburg, W. Va., was kept open to serve veterans of this area.

According to Reynolds, Senator O'Conor sent a letter and a long printed report outlining the plan and purpose of sugar rationing and explaining various rules and regulations.

The veterans said they have not received replies from Beall as to sugar rationing, from O'Conor about the hospital plan or from Senator Tydings on either sugar rationing or the hospital project.

Guests at the meeting included James H. Arthur, past department commander of Baltimore, who spoke briefly on veteran problems, and Louis Zieve, department national home chairman.

Zieve stated the Maryland cottage at the National Home has been entirely refurnished, and expressed appreciation for the living room suite and other furnishings provided by the local Ladies Auxiliary.

The post voted to contribute $25 to the Red Cross Campaign and $10 to the Greek War Relief Drive.

Man Killed In Train Wreck Was Known Here

The NEWS was informed last night by members of Queen City Council No. 49, Junior Order United American Mechanics that one of the firemen killed in the wreck of the Pennsylvania Railroad's crack passenger train "Red Arrow", near Altoona, early Tuesday morning, was C. P. Saylor, Hollidaysburg, Pa., who instituted the Juvenile Council here on January 30.

According to members of the Junior Order Mr. Saylor also instituted two other Juvenile Councils in the county, one at Lonaconing, and the other at Frostburg. Mr. Saylor was national representative of the Benevolent department of the Jr. OUAM.

The funeral of Mr. Saylor will be held in Hollidaysburg on Friday afternoon.

Low-Cost Rental Housing For Vets To Be Discussed

State FHA Director Will Speak Here

Two representatives of the Baltimore office of the Federal Housing Administration are in Cumberland to discuss low-cost rental housing for veterans, E. Price Steiding, housing expediter for the Western Maryland area, announced yesterday.

They are Charles T. Batterden, executive assistant to E. Lester Muller, state FHA director, and Owen McFadden, housing consultant.

Batterden said builders, bankers, architects, public officials, contractors, realtors, manufacturers and dealers will be invited to attend a meeting scheduled for Tuesday, March 4, at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall auditorium to discuss a stepped-up home building program during 1947 as a result of changes in the FHA's insurance procedures and the relaxation of building controls.

To Confer With Smith

Batterden and McFadden will confer with H. W. Smith, secretary of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, this morning to ask for that organization's sponsorship of the meeting.

Similar meetings were held in Baltimore and Salisbury within recent weeks. Following the Cumberland meeting March 4, it is planned to arrange for other meetings in Hagerstown and Frederick, the FHA representatives said.

The state director will be guest speaker at the meeting here, Batterden said. Muller also addressed the Baltimore and Salisbury meetings to outline new regulations on insurance of mortgages under the FHA system, stating that much of the emphasis in the FHA program for 1947 will be placed on rental housing for veterans of World War II and their families.

"The supplanting of the 'priority system' with the new 'permit system,' under which non-veterans as well as veterans may build homes and finance them on the basis of 90 per cent loans insured by the FHA, should give immediate impetus to the program of home building in Cumberland," Batterden said.

New System Explained

He explained that under the new "permit system," authorization can be obtained from the FHA by any individual to build a home limited to 1,500 square feet of floor area and fixtures for one bathroom, but with no price ceiling. A 90% 25-year loan at 4% interest may be obtained under the FHA plan, provided non-veterans will agree in the event of subsequent sale or rent to give preference to World War II veterans.

"This financing plan," Batterden said, "makes it possible for non-veterans to build a duplex or an apartment building, live in one of the units, and rent the other units to World War II veterans. The rent ceiling is established by the FHA to permit a 6½% return on the total investment and is not subject to review by OPA."

Pointing out that much of the demand for housing by veterans is for apartments for rent, Batterden said that FHA procedures affecting the insurance of mortgages on rental properties have been simplified to encourage this type of construction.

Terms Are Cited

"It is now possible to finance the construction of duplexes and apartments on the basis of 90% insured loans on terms up to 25 years," he said. "On large rental projects the terms may be up to 32 years, or longer if the interest rate is less than 4%."

Under the new program, Batterden explained, the main need is for a site for such a project. He said it will be the FHA's intention to urge holders of such sites to become sponsors and developers of rental projects under the new and liberal terms of the FHA program.

Discussing the matter of ceiling prices on construction, the FHA representative said these were discontinued when President Truman ordered controls lifted. Builders who are constructing homes under the old "priority system" are still required to sell the homes to veterans at maximum prices established by the FHA in existing orders under the old system.

Motorist Pays Fine

Frostburg College Will Not Be Closed

Kaylor Warns Of Woods Fire Peril

State Forester Joseph F. Kaylor, returned to Annapolis yesterday after making a tour of Allegany and Garrett counties, with William Parr, the new district forester, recently transferred to Western Maryland from Laurel.

Kaylor contacted personnel of the department in this area, and reminded them that the time draws near when "for a period of three months, day in and day out, danger will lurk in our fields and woods."

Kaylor was referring to the danger of forest and woods fires which usually occur in the Spring of the year after the first thaws. "A roaring hot forest fire," he declared, "will consume everything above ground, and while it cannot be compared to Hiroshimo or Nagasaki, it will take everything on the farm from the homestead to the chicken house if not controlled."

"Every forest fire that does not occur," Kaylor emphasized, "means just so much property saved." With this in mind the Commission State of Forests and Parks, under authority granted it by law, has established a regulation designed to prevent fires and keep down property damage.

In brief, the regulation provides that in the three spring months of March, April, and May, and in the four fall months, September 15 to December 15, inclusive, brush and other field trash may be burned only between the hours of 4 p. m. and 12 midnight, EST. It also provides that when brush is burned within 200 feet of woodland or of other ground cover that may carry fire to the woods, and in the absence of natural barriers to the escape of fire, the landowner shall plow around the material to be burned a safety trap not less than 10 feet wide, free of all inflammable material. He must also have on hand, sufficient help, with tools, to control the fire at all times, nor can he leave it unattended until the last spark is out.

"This regulation," Kaylor declares, "is a public safety measure, and it is both our duty and desire to enforce it this year, as in the past, with every means at our command. In this connection, I should like to give one last piece of advice. Don't burn in windy or overly dry weather. And this applies to housewives as well as to their men folks. We have had a number of woods fires which started when house trash or field brush was burned when the wind was blowing or when vegetation was unusually dry. Such fires would never have occurred if those responsible had used a little common sense. Let us all pull together to make Maryland a fire-free state."

Sanitary District Bill To Be Presented Board

A group of 35 citizens representing all parts of the county met last night at the Cresaptown Fire Hall and discussed the proposed bill establishing sanitary districts in Allegany county.

Several amendments were proposed and a number of changes made, designed to put safeguards in the measure, J. Milton Dick, chairman said. Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, city and county health officer who has been acting in an advisory capacity to the sanitary group was present and offered a number of suggestions, Dick stated.

The bill in its new and present form will be submitted to the Board of Allegany Commissioners Tuesday for its consideration, Dick explained, at which time it will be fully explained.

Many Taxpayers Are Filing Returns Here

Although early filing of returns on 1946 income is heavier than last year, Richard J. Stakem, division chief of the Internal Revenue office here, said the waiting line is being kept under control satisfactorily.

He added that five deputies will be on hand, beginning February 28, when deputies now working in the area, return to the office in the post office building.

Grocers Oppose Proposed Bills On Wages, Alcoholic Beverages

Letters Are Sent To Legislators

The Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland went on record at their monthly meeting Tuesday night as opposing House Bill No. 289, which provides for the issuance of more than one license to the same person for the off premises sale of packaged beer at retail; and Senate Bill No. 181, the proposed "Maryland Wage and Hour Act."

Under terms of the latter bill, a minimum wage of 65 cents an hour would be set for all employes except for those in domestic service or in farm operations. It also provides for the creation of wage boards and for wage investigations anywhere in the state upon request of 50 or more citizens.

In regard to the alcoholic beverages bill, the association sent a letter to Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., chairman of the Allegany county delegation to the General Assembly.

The letter stated that the bill "might result in one person establishing a number of taverns or beer parlors throughout the county and, in the hopes of a large volume, lead to the cutting of prices to the point that it would not be profitable or fair to competitors. Also, it would probably lead to the introduction of out-of-state cheap beers, thereby working a hardship upon state brewers."

Regarding the wage and hour proposal, the association sent a letter to State Senator Robert B. Kimble, who is a member of the Senate Committee on Labor, stating that the measure "will force upon business and industry an army of investigators," requiring more state employes "at a time when our state is facing a financial crisis."

The letter also warned that the measure would require employers to keep extensive wage and hour records and "would set up wage boards, which have proven generally ineffective."

Stating that "this bill has no place on the statute books of the Free State of Maryland," the letter declared that the greatest danger of the measure "lies in its encroachment upon the rights and liberties of individuals" by imposing a minimum wage and hour standard regardless of the feelings of the individual businessman, employer or employe.

Albert E. Windish, president, was in charge of the meeting, attended by 50 members, which was held in the LaVale Fire Hall. Roy C. Lottig, manager of the Coca-Cola Bottling Works, gave a talk on modern merchandising methods.

Miss Compton Tells Optimists Good News

State Teachers College at Frostburg will not be closed, Miss Lillian C. Compton, college president told members of the Cumberland Optimist Club last night at their regular weekly dinner meeting in Central YMCA.

Speaking on the general subject of "Education," in which she outlined the trend in the country, and emphasized the need for more and better teachers, Miss Compton told her audience, "Western Maryland is better off than most other parts of the state, and many parts of the United States because we have a Teachers' College here."

She explained that throughout the years, the Frostburg school has made it possible for many people to enter the teaching profession who could not have done so, if it had been necessary for them to go to the University of Maryland or some other distant point. The board of Education in this and adjoining counties has steadily drained off the best teachers graduated from the schools, while other sections without teacher colleges have suffered the shortage.

"And even so," she exclaimed, "we have not been able to fill the need. But Allegany County is better off than most places, because we had a school here." Of 215 students presently enrolled at the college, Miss Compton said a survey shows that only 10 of them could have attended college at all, had it been necessary to go farther from home.

Two hundred and five indicated they could not attend the University of Maryland for family reasons, such as a baby brother to care for, an invalid mother or father to look after, part time employment, financial reasons and others.

Need New Facilities

While she praised the job the Frostburg College has done over a long period of years, Miss Compton reminded her listeners, "there have been no improvements or new buildings to the college since 1934, and our facilities are far from sufficient to do the kind of job we would like to do."

The cost of educating teachers in these smaller schools, Miss Compton said, was probably one of the major considerations of those who recommended that Frostburg, Towson, Bowie and Salisbury Colleges be closed. They failed to consider the fact that there are many people who cannot attend the University and would not fit there.

The recommendation has been rejected, she declared, and the State Board of Education does not intend to close these schools, and in fact may consider plans soon to improve their facilities, because people are beginning to appreciate their true value.

Speaking of the teacher shortage, Miss Compton expressed the view that "there are not enough men entering the teaching profession, primarily because salary scales are too low." She said it is not a good practice or policy to feminize the schools with mostly women teachers, particularly in the high school levels. Men are needed in high schools to meet boys with boys' problems, just as women are needed to meet girls with girls' problems, she exclaimed.

Need For Teachers Cited

She referred to numerous figures and reports, including some from the United States Chamber of Commerce and the National Education Association, showing the trend of teaching requirements, teacher ability, teacher pay, and the over-all cost of education in relation to other costs.

In 1940, she said, superintendents reported 90,000 vacancies in school rooms. In 1944, the number had risen to 127,000, or one-seventh of all teachers employed. Classrooms normally staff 900,000 teachers, she explained, and there just aren't enough to go around.

One superintendent suggested, she declared, that schools be closed and children sent home, so people would realize the plight of the teachers and the great shortage. But she expressed the opinion that people are awakening to the situation without such drastic measures, and the picture is changing for the better.

However, NEA estimates that 4,000,000 public school children are presently under incompetent teachers, and many more are in overcrowded class rooms, getting inadequate instruction and little individual attention.

Enrollment Declines

Of the 728,000 veterans enrolled in G. I. Bill of Rights, higher education programs, less than 18,000 of them are preparing to teach, Miss Compton said. In 1920, 22 percent of all college students were attending teacher colleges. By 1945, the number had dropped to seven percent, she said. "The carefully selected, highly educated, professional teacher is vanishing from the American scene at a time when our country must develop the talents of its children."

"The U. S. Army found it necessary to create schools to teach adult males to read and write in order that they could perform duties of war. You know something of the cost of this program and you also know had we invested enough in education prior to 1941, these statistics could have been different: Selective Service rejected 600,000 men for illiteracy; 360,000 men in Selective Service could not write their names; 13 percent had attended less than the third grade; 56 percent less than the eighth grade

Superintendent Confirms Report

Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., state superintendent of schools, in an Associated Press release last night, confirmed earlier reports here that Frostburg State Teachers College, Frostburg, will remain open. The State Board of Education has rejected a recommendation of a commission that the school be closed, as the smaller colleges throughout the state are filling a need in higher education for those who cannot attend universities or centralized colleges.

HOUSE GOP BACKS BUDGET SLASH

Break Is Seen In Britain's Power Famine

Midlands Will Turn On Electric Monday

LONDON, Feb. 19 (AP)—Britain's labor government announced today that industries in Central England, shut down for 10 days by the coal famine, will be permitted to reopen next Monday—first break in the power crisis that has slowed the nation's recovery program to a crawl.

Prime Minister Attlee, telling the news to the House of Commons, said, however, that the present five-hour-a-day switchoff of electric current to domestic and other non-industrial users throughout the country would continue indefinitely.

Despite pressure from both Conservative and Labor benches of the House, he declined to say when industries in the other "blacked out" areas—the Northwest, London and Southeast England—might be allowed to resume production.

Central England, where production starts up again Monday, includes the heavy industrialized Birmingham area, and has more than 1,000,000 factory workers, many making automobiles for the vital export trade.

Attlee said all but three power stations in this area would have two weeks' supply of coal by tomorrow, but he warned that coal deliveries to industries would be less than normal at first and proposed widespread staggering of work hours to "spread the load" on electricity supplies.

His statement came as the cold spell which precipitated the power crisis continued without prospect of an early break—London had its 18th consecutive sunless day, an all-time record—and the number of workers asking unemployment pay rose to 1,272,000. Temperatures continued below freezing.

Soviet Newsmen Point With Alarm At U. S., Britain

MOSCOW, Feb. 19 (AP) — Soviet newspapers and the Soviet radio are following the line of pointing with concern and alarm in their accounts of the activities of the United States, Britain and the British dominions.

Non-Russians who are convinced that the people of America and Britain desire sincere friendship with the Soviet Union can sense a growing concern among Russians over the relations between this country and her two chief allies of the last war.

Russians generally nevertheless profess belief in the American and British people and when you get them down to the bedrock of talk about the situation they express the opinion that the people of the two Western nations will prevail over what Russians consider the "evil forces."

With the council of four power foreign ministers less than three weeks off, there is a possibility that Russian concern may be quieted when Secretary of State Marshall and Foreign Secretary Bevin sit down with Soviet leaders and begin some plain talk.

Whatever the course of Russian opinion about what lies ahead in relations of the Soviet union and the Western powers, it must be emphasized that the Russian people have full confidence in their leaders and trust them implicitly.

(The Russian masses have little access to information about the West beyond that given them by their government-controlled press and radio.)

They believe that these forces exist in many "capitalistic" countries but that the great power of them is concentrated in the United States and Britain. Britain, they believe, because of her economic position is almost a stooge of the United States.

Lord Wavell Called Home From India

British Evacuation Possible In Year

LONDON, Feb. 19 (AP) — The British Government summoned Viceroy Lord Wavell home from India today, authoritative government informants said, and Prime Minister Attlee prepared a statement of "crucial importance" before the House of Commons tomorrow on the sub-continent's faltering progress toward freedom.

One informant said outright British evacuation from India "within a stated period," perhaps within a year, was not out of the question.

Many Preparing To Leave

If the British decision was to withdraw on a definite date—and New Delhi dispatches said hundred of British officers and thousands of other ranks were preparing to start their return home next month—the effect would be to leave the Indians to settle their affairs or fight it out among themselves.

American newspaper correspondents were advised tonight that a special news conference would be held by Lord Pethick Lawrence, India secretary, Sir Stafford Cripps, board of trade president, and A. V. Alexander, defense minister, the three members of the 1946 cabinet mission to India, immediately after the Prime Minister's statement and the issuance of a government white paper.

These unusual steps, almost unprecedented in an intra-empire matter, spurred speculation that developments as important as last Friday's decision to refer the Palestine case to the United Nations was in the offing.

Summons Is Unexpected

Wavell's unexpected summons to London came against a background of crisis threatening a complete breakdown of the Indian interim government, first step in the cabinet mission's plan for Indian independence.

The crisis stage was reached recently when Jawaharlal Nehru, chief minister of the interim government and strategist of the predominantly Hindu Congress Party, served a demand upon Wavell for withdrawal of the five Moslem league members of the government.

The Moslems continued to sit tight, however, and Nehru renewed his demand last week. Wavell thereupon sought guidance from the government in London. Attlee's pronouncement tomorrow was expected to cut the knot.

Truman Seeks End Of War Emergency

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—(AP)—In a major new stride toward normal national life, President Truman today asked legislation by Congress to permit "early ending" of the 7½ year old "state of emergency."

The President's message urged extension of only 16 of the 102 emergency laws on the books, including the power to arm merchant ships and the maintenance of defense housing, now in use for veterans.

Congress was asked to repeal immediately 24 laws dealing with "problems of the war which no longer face us," such as the lease of public lands for arms production and the use of dollar-a-year men.

On his own, the Chief Executive ordered federal agencies to suspend activities under the emergency clauses of 36 permanent statutes at once or "in any event not later than March 15."

Mr. Truman made it clear that he hopes to declare an end of the emergency before midyear, if prompt Congressional action on today's recommendations makes such speed possible. Thereupon, all the laws which remain in force for the period of emergency will end automatically.

This will accomplish the second of the three big steps unwrapping the tangle of war powers and defense controls. The first was taken December 31, when the President proclaimed the end of hostilities and thereby knocked out 53 statutes including the federal authority to seize strikebound private plants.

Kids Will Be Without Jellybeans Again This Easter, Candy Men Say

BALTIMORE, Feb. 19—(AP)—Hey, kids, no jellybeans!

That was the bad news as retailers on the first day of Lent began their annual stockup of Easter specialities.

"There may be a few five-cent packages, but the old-fashioned jellybeans sold by the pound are definitely out," said Henry W. Loock, president of the National Confectioners' Association and a Baltimore candy jobber.

The sugar shortage is to blame, he said. Jellybeans are 60 per cent sugar.

"Limited amounts" of hollow chocolate rabbits and chicks will be on the candy counters, Loock said.

"A very few jelly eggs," agreed Bernard J. Baumiller, president of the Maryland Wholesale Confectioners' Association. "There's some of the hollow stuff, but not anywhere near the demand."

Only packaged chocolates will be available in abundance, and they're strictly for grownups.

Even the few eye-popping sweets for the small fry will be four or five times as expensive as in prewar days.

"The kids seem to be taking a licking on this candy business," said Roy F. Kopp, a Baltimore wholesaler. "Anything that used to be a penny is two cents now—when you can get it.

"Lots of kids brought up during the war don't know what a penny is. They got nickels instead."

Gov. Lane Asks Tax Increase, Sales Tariff

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 19—(AP)—Governor Lane, performing what "is never a pleasant task," asked the legislature today for a two per cent sales tax and an increase in state income tax rates to bring in an extra $25,000,000 annually.

In a message read at the afternoon session of the legislature, Lane announced he was accepting the recommendation of the Board of Revenue estimates for a sales levy but that he could not agree on its proposed rates on income taxes.

The Governor, who has been ill with an infected throat, did not appear to deliver his message in person.

Differs With Committee

The Board of Revenue estimates and its Advisory Committee had suggested the personal income tax be raised from two per cent to 2.75 per cent, and the rate on corporations be increased from 1.5 per cent to 3.5 per cent.

Lane said he could not subscribe to such a large increase in the personal rate, recommending instead that the personal income tax figure be 2.5 per cent and the corporation levy be a flat four per cent.

The sales tax, with its several exemptions, will bring in $18,400,000 a year, Lane said. The income tax increases, effective in 1949 in 1948 income, would produce $6,528,000 a year.

The expanding needs of schools, roads and the cities and counties were cited by the Governor as making necessary the request for more money from indirect taxes. He already had set himself against any increase in the current 10-cent tax which the state collects on real estate.

"The levying of additional taxes is never a pleasant task," he told the General Assembly. "A more happy condition obtains when we are able to give additional services to our citizens from surplus revenues under an existing tax system.

"However, our budget is piled high with requests for additional funds for education, roads, the Sherbow Report and other desirable requirements. We must jointly decide whether we want these services enough to pay for them in additional taxes."

The governor pointed out that because $15,167,321 in state surplus and postwar construction funds have been put into the pending 1948-49 budget only $18,010,000 in extra revenue will be needed in each of the next two years.

Needs Will Jump

In the years 1950-51, however, the total extra money needed must jump to $25,595,000 a year, based on present forecasts, which he divided as follows:

Restoration of cuts made in requests in the budget, $2,866,000 a year; tax sources for the 1950-51 budget, $7,584,000 a year (this amount now cared for by using up the state's surplus funds); roads, $4,075,000; education, $10,190,000; Sherbow recommendations on distri-

Georgia's White Primary Measure Goes To Talmadge

"Other Governor" Refuses Comment

ATLANTA, Feb. 19 (AP) — The Georgia General Assembly completed today legislative action on the White Primary Bill under the Democratic party plans to bar negroes from its primaries.

The measure now goes to the gubernatorial offices for the signature of Herman Talmadge whose father, the late Eugene Talmadge, was elected to an unprecedented Fourth term on a white supremacy platform that included the negro ban.

Capital sources predicted Talmadge would get the measure tomorrow and sign it immediately.

Lt. Gov. M. E. Thompson, rival claimant to the governorship, declared himself in favor of a white primary but did not commit himself to the Talmadge-sponsored bill.

Legislative enactment of the bill was completed when the Senate receded from its amendment requiring Superior Courts to prosecute frauds in both the primary and general election. Sponsors of the amendment claimed it was necessary to safeguard the primary ballot. Opponents argued that it would conflict with a United States Supreme Court decision that negroes cannot be barred from state's regulated primaries.

The bill seeks to evade the Supreme Court decision by establishing the party primaries as club affairs. Democratic party membership, under regulations adopted at the state convention last August, will be limited to white Democrats.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People called a meeting in Atlanta of its Georgia branches for Friday when it will make plans for a court attack upon the bill.

Landis Wants Coal Dispute Settled

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—Rep. Landis (R-Ind) said today President Truman and Interior Secretary Krug should "go the limit" in trying to bring soft coal operators and miners together to settle their differences.

Asserting he is "at a loss to know why something is not being done," Landis declared in a speech prepared for delivery in the House that unless the operators and miners meet soon "we can expect a big coal strike in April."

John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers chief, called off a strike last fall until March 31 after he and his union were fined for contempt for ignoring a court order against the walkout.

Landis, a member of the House Labor Committee, noted that an appeal is pending in the Supreme Court but said "we can not afford" to wait for the decision.

He said he is "certain the miners and northern operators are willing and anxious to meet" and, in his judgment, could arrive at an agreement that would end government operation of the mines.

He added the northern operators, particularly in Indiana, "have not shared with any enthusiasm the 'dog in the manger' policy of the southern operators and would be glad indeed to have a peaceful settlement on reasonable terms."

Southern operators have taken the lead in opposing some of the UMW's demands, especially for continuation of a welfare fund which Lewis won in an agreement with the government.

Brakes Go On The January Dip In Common Food Items

Indications that the brakes had been applied to a January dip in many food prices was given yesterday in a cross-country survey of a number of common items.

With weather and other seasonal factors coloring parts of the picture, price tags on some foods were shown to have been revised upward, at least temporarily, in several cities. Others held firm or showed signs of continuing a downward trend.

Against this checker-board pattern, in which prices frequently varied widely from city to city, there stood out the latest figures of the Federal Bureau of Labor statistics that if all food prices were considered in one lump the trend was up from last month's level.

Most meat prices in New York, for example, were advanced markedly over last week. The same movement was shown in some other cities, but was not reported nationwide. Freezing weather raised hob with citrus and fresh vegetable prices in some sections. Dropping butter prices firmed or went up in several cities.

Even when prices went down or held to recent lows, however, the survey showed that in most cases they were still considerably removed from one-time OPA price ceilings.

The survey showed also that men's clothing prices in the nation's principal cities frequently were 10 to 20 per cent above old OPA levels, and might go up before they came down. Women's medium priced dresses generallly were up, from slightly to a lot, but with an improvement in quality and selection.

A housewife who could afford nylons wouldn't go broke on the relatively small increases recorded for them in most cities, the survey showed, and she could replenish her supply of bed sheets at somewhere near OPA levels in a number of metropolitan areas if she shopped around long enough.

China Government Reports Victory Over Red Armies

U. S. Naval Force May Be Withdrawn

NANKING, Feb. 19—(AP)—The Chinese Government tonight reported a big victory in its civil war but said it expected to call upon other nations to help enforce its new emergency economic measures.

Meanwhile, Adm. Charles M. Cooke, Jr., commander of United States Navy Forces in the Western Pacific, flew to Washington for urgent conferences amid unconfirmed reports that American Navy forces would be withdrawn from China. Cooke declined enroute to discuss the nature of his mission.

The State Department last month ordered American military personnel—nearly 2,000 at Peiping and some 10,000 marines in the Peiping Tientsin area—withdrawn. There was no indication at that time, however, that the Navy might quit the Tsingtao base, where it is training Chinese sailors.

On the Chinese Military Front, Peng Hsueh-Pei, Minister of Information, announced that two Communist armies had been "utterly defeated" in the government seizure of Lini in Shantung Province. He said the new fourth and the 18th Route Armies practically "ceased to exist" after being smashed in the Lini Campaign.

Turning to the economic crisis, Peng told a press conference that detailed measures are being drawn to request foreign governments to freeze or report assets held on account of Chinese Nationals residing in China. One of the new emergency measures requires Chinese Nationals to surrender their foreign assets at the new 12,000 to $1 rate or to deposit the accounts in Chinese banks.

Lewis' Daughter Will Pack Pistol

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—John L. Lewis' daughter, Kathryn, secretary-treasurer of District 50 of the United Mine Workers (AFL), today received a permit to carry a pistol.

The 35-year-old union leader, who has worked with her father for many years in the UMW, asked permission to carry the pistol "for the protection of life and property since I live alone in a sparsely-settled section."

Novelist Dies

A native of Chicago, Street was graduated from Ridley College, St. Catherine's, Ontario, Canada, and began newspaper work on the Old New York Mail and express in 1899.

Taft Opposes Joint Parley Of CIO-AFL

Committee To Make Decisions, He Says

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—(AP)—Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) dashed cold water today on a surprise CIO suggestion that the Senate Labor Committee call in AFL and CIO leaders to a three-cornered parley on ending jurisdictional strikes.

CIO President Philip Murray proposed the idea.

Taft Tells Newsmen

Taft's reaction was that this is no way to do business. He told newsmen:

"We can't sit down and write a bill with all the controversy that would be going on. After all, the committee has to make its own decisions."

One of these decisions is what to do about jurisdictional strikes, called when unions disagree over which is to handle a job. Committee members have criticized such strikes as injuring innocent employers and the public.

Murray told the questioning Senator Morse (R-Ore) that "I know there is no moral justification for jurisdictional strikes." He added that the CIO "has not precipitated them."

Morse commented that he would "like to see what the results would be" if Green and Murray got together with the committee on the subject. However, Taft said he is opposed to closed meetings or either "corporations or labor executives" with the committee.

Murray tore into all pending bills to outlaw the closed shop, under which a man must be a union member if he is to work; to forbid industry-wide bargaining, such as is conducted in the coal and steel industries, to change the Wagner Act, which guarantees collective bargaining, and to alter the Norris-La-Guardia Act's restrictions on the use of injunctions against strikes.

Opposes Legislation

Such legislation, he argued, will only encourage business monopolies and lead to "a serious depression involving all Americans."

"In this and the years immediately ahead—barring intemperate and ill-considered action by Congress—there is for the first time promise of developing maturity in the collective bargaining process in those industries recently organized," he testified.

Murray listed as examples the steel, auto, electrical appliance and farm equipment industries. He said that in these fields the issue of the closed shop is not present at all.

The CIO leader snorted, "a lot of tomfoolery—a lot of nonsense," at what he said was the theory of Senator Ball (R-Minn) that there had been a union conspiracy to break off contrract negotiations all at once with companies using steel products.

He got excited again in defense of unions by asking heatedly:

"God Almighty, what crime have these organizations committed except to perform patriotic duties to America?"

Murray claimed that the real reason for labor-management difficulties is that the workers' income is going down while the companies' profits are going up.

Taft argued that the way to solve the problem is to decrease profits through lower prices—"so all can benefit"—and not by higher wages—"where only a small portion benefits."

Female Disguise Ends With Arrest

FAIRHAVEN, Mass., Feb. 19 (AP)—A 17-year-old youth's story of female impersonation so successful that he held jobs as a carnival dancer and domestic came to light today with his arrest on jewelry theft charges.

The arrest resulted from his service last August—in skirts—with the family of K. A. Zilkha, of 300 Central Park West, New York City.

State Police Detective Herbert Hales said the youth, booked as Albert H. Cook, alias "Ruth Hathaway," of Fairhaven, admitted theft of $25,800 worth of jewelry from the Zilkha home while working there as a girl domestic.

Fairhaven Police Chief Norman D. Shurtleff said Cook told him he flew to Chicago with the jewelry and hired a private detective to protect him and the gems.

The police chief said the youth told him he donned a wig, filled out his figure with false forms and roamed the Atlantic Seaboard as a girl for six months, sometimes under the name of "Ruth Hathaway," a cousin, and other times under the name of high school girl friends.

Police Chief Shurtleff quoted the youth as saying he joined a carnival show in Tennessee—as a "cootch" dancer—and stayed with the show until it got to Lake City, Fla. After that he switched back to male clothes and came to Fairhaven.

Byron Price Named U.N. Assistant Secretary-General

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 19—(AP)—Byron Price, wartime chief of censorship, was named today as an assistant secretary-general of the United Nations.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie announced that Price would take over the post held by John B. Hutson, whose recent resignation now is effective. It pays $22,000 tax free, including expenses.

In his new job Price will have charge of U. N. administrative and financial services.

Price, who was executive news editor of the Associated Press until the United States entered the war and he was called to Washington by President Roosevelt, joined the Hollywood office of Eric Johnston upon termination of his government censorship duties.

Hearing In Wreck Of Pennsy Train Set For Friday

22 Reported Dead; 128 Are Injured

ALTOONA, Pa., Feb. 19—(AP)—A hearing on the wreck of the Pennsylvania Railroad's "Red Arrow," which claimed 22 lives and injured 128, seven of them critically, will be held Friday morning in Pittsburgh by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Inspectors G. C. Finney and Harry Hanson of the ICC arrived on the scene of the accident today and after a preliminary investigation announced through the railroad the date of the hearing. The railroad also is investigating the reason for the fast train jumping the rails two miles west of horseshoe curve and sending half of its 14 cars plunging down a 150-foot embankment.

The last of the dead were identified today by the railroad and Coroner Daniel M. Replogle of Blair county with one exception. Mrs. Lillian Pettigrew of Adele, Ga., was listed among the fatalities but there was belief the body may be that of her sister, Mrs. Beatrice White of Bridgeton, N. J. Mrs. Pettigrew's brother, Willie Seabrook of Bridgeton, was said to be en route to establish definite identification.

Originally, the number of dead was thought to be 25 but was reduced as confusion over names was straightened out and badly mangled bodies were identified. There was a Mrs. Renetti listed among those dead but later the body was identified as that of Mrs. Innocente Brunatti of Wyandotte, Mich.

About 50 of the injured remained in either the Mercy or Altoona General Hospitals. In addition to the seven listed in critical condition, five were reported serious and nine fair.

Plane Lands Safely At Casablanca

PARIS, Feb. 19 (AP) — An Air France Constellation with 17 persons aboard landed safely at Casablanca at 8:21 p. m. (3:21 p. m. EST) tonight after its crew jettisoned part of its cargo when one engine failed during a trans-Atlantic flight, headquarters of the airline announced.

The trouble occurred on the four-engined aircraft shortly after take-off from the Azores, officials of the line said. The plane was flying the regular New York to Paris run.

Because the plane was closer to North Africa than its regular Paris stop at Orly Field, it was rerouted to Casablanca.

The New York office of Air France said that extra printed copies of the recently-signed peace treaties with the five Axis Satellite nations were among the 111 packages included in the plane's cargo. These packages weighed 4,500 pounds.

A spokesman for the airline said it could be presumed that the copies of the treaties were jettisoned.

Would Reduce Truman's Plan By 6 Billions

Army-Navy Funds In For Big Cut

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP) — House Republicans rallied solidly today behind a $6,000,000,000 budget slash carrying what its sponsors called "very substantial" cuts in Army-Navy funds.

The report on the closed meeting action came from party leaders, who said the word on Army-Navy cuts was coupled with 'assurance that nothing would be done to harm the nation's fighting strength.

Unanimous Vote

Not a single Republican stayed in his chair, Rep. Bender (R-Ohio) told reporters, when they were called to a standing vote on the issue of trimming President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget to $31,500,000,000.

And not a single speech was made in behalf of a smaller cut, Rep. Taber (R-NY) added.

Taber said he and Rep. Engel (R-Mich) told their colleagues that while "very substantial" military cuts are in the works, "we don't intend to hazard the national defense. We intend to take the waste out of defense."

The Taber-Engel argument was similar to one delivered on the Senate floor by Senator Byrd (D-Va) who declared "there is not a man" in the armed forces who doesn't know first hand of senseless waste.

The speeches were set off by introduction of a compromise proposal by Senator Millikin (R-Colo) to hold the budget cut to $4,500,000,000.

Taft Says Cut Important

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), declaring the nation is carrying a load of taxes nearly one-third the size of its total income, told the Senate "it is more important to cut taxes than even the national debt."

Taft estimated that a cut of $4,500,000,000 from the Presidential figure would enable Congress to reduce income taxes 20 per cent next July and leave $2,500,000,000 to apply on debt. This was based on an estimated excess of $6,000,000,000 in revenue over a spending figure of $33,000,000,000.

On the other hand Senator Aiken (R-Vt) said the Republican Party "will not be serving the best interests of the nation if it tries to cut taxes indiscriminately without carefully studied judgment."

Albania Denies British Charge Of Laying Mines

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—Albania flatly disclaimed today any responsibility for laying mines in the Corfu Channel as charged by Great Britain and in turn accused British ships of violating her territorial waters.

Albanian Representative Hysni Kapo, appearing before the United Nations security council to answer an official complaint, said:

"I deny flatly and categorically the charges that have been made."

Then counter-charging the British with "flagrant violations" of Albanian waters, he said that Royal Navy Warships entered the channel off the Albanian coast to provoke and intimidate his country.

Kapo talked for nearly two hours in opposing the complaint under which the British seek an apology and compensation for loss of life and property. Two destroyers struck mines in the channel last October 22 and 44 sailors were killed.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, sprang to the defense of Albania immediately in debate and engaged in a sharp verbal exchange with Sir Alexander Cadogan, Great Britain's delegate.

The council adjourned in the midst of the tussle and will resume discussion of the case Friday morning (11 a. m. EST). Meanwhile the council will go back into session tomorrow (3 p. m. EST) to resume debate on proposed international control of atomic energy.

Individual's Importance In Order Of Economics Recognized By Church

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 19 (AP) — A gathering of Protestant Church leaders today rejected the classic economic doctrine of Adam Smith as being "irreconcilable" with the teachings of Jesus.

The action was taken by Section No. 1 of the National Conference on the church and economic life.

This section, made up of people from various economic groups, comprises one-third of the 350 delegates to the conference sponsored by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. No actions have yet been taken by the conference.

The section unanimously voted that—

"The Christian Church should oppose the classic doctrine as defined by Adam Smith 'that the individual in pursuit of his selfish gain will be led by an invisible hand to work the good' as an unsatisfactory answer to present economic problems.

"We hold this to be irreconcilable with the emphasis of Jesus upon service as the basic motivation of life as exemplified in his command: 'seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness and all these (material) things shall be added unto you,' bearing in mind that Jesus also laid upon man responsibility for the full use of his talents and abilities."

Adam Smith was the 19th century English economist whose teachings have had enormous influence on economic thinking.

Meantime a labor leader told another section of the conference that Christ would be "horrified" if he came into the meetings and saw the hesitancy of Christians to apply his principles in economic affairs.

Markey's Request For Vote Recount In State Refused

Results Of Spot Check Not Known

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—(AP)—The Senate Rules Committee rejected today a request that it order at once a statewide recount of votes in the contested Maryland Senatorial Election.

It voted unanimously, Chairman Brooks (R-Ill.) said, to follow the procedure set up when it assumed jurisdiction in the contest between Senator Herbert R. O'Conor (D-Md.) and D. John Markey, unsuccessful Republican candidate.

Recount Now On

A rules subcommittee headed by Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) now is recounting votes in five Maryland counties. Brooks told reporters after a closed committee session that no decision on a statewise recount will be made until the partial recount is completed.

Hickenlooper's three-man subcommittee unanimously recommended that Markey's new petition be rejected for the present and promised to speed up the present check, Brooks said.

Asked whether Hickenlooper made any report on results of the recount thus far, Brooks said:

"He did not, and he stated that until the staff they now have can make a final report, there are no figures that can be taken as conclusive."

At the same time, he disclosed that Markey, a retired brigadier general from Walkersville, claims that an uncompleted recount in Baltimore City and three counties has cut O'Conor's margin of victory from 2,232 to 1,040 votes.

Markey said in his petition that this change is sufficient to "warrant and require the committee x x x to order forthwith a recount of all paper ballots cast in the Senatorial election in Maryland," or to recommend such action to the Senate.

His petition asserted that a recheck of voting machine totals in Baltimore City and Montgomery County by the campaign Investigating Committee of the last Senate reduced O'Conor's margin by 426 votes—416 of them in the city.

Anne Arundel Completed

He said that in Anne Arundel County, where representatives of both contestants have reviewed challenged ballots in 21 of 49 ballot boxes, Markey picked up 57 votes. Except for the challenged ballots, the Anne Arundel recount is complete.

Msgr. Babcock Named Cardinal Mooney Aide

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (Thursday) (AP)—The Apostolic Delegate today announced the appointment of the Rev. Msgr. Allen J. Babcock of Detroit as auxiliary bishop to Cardinal Mooney of Detroit and the Right Rev. Msgr. Mark K. Carroll of St. Louis as bishop of Wichita, Kas.

Senate Reported Ready To Appoint D. E. Lilienthal

"Grave Doubts," Declares Wherry

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—A Democratic Policy Committee official said tonight the Senate is presently inclined to confirm David E. Lilienthal as chairman of the Atomic Control Commission, but Senator Wherry (R-Neb.) said there is "grave doubt" about this.

The Democratic official, who declined to be quoted by name, said confidential information from Senators who have not publicly stated their views point toward Senate approvals of Lilienthal's nomination.

McKellar's Estimate Cited

On the other hand, Wherry, the Republican whip, cited to a reporter the estimate by Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.) that 15 Democrats will vote against confirmation. If that is approximately correct Wherry said, Lilienthal's chances are slim.

Thus far, 15 Senators, including three Republicans, have announced publicly that they favor confirmation. Fourteen senators, including four Democrats, have said they are against.

Lilienthal's supporters, meanwhile, hailed a statement by Chairman Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) as an indication that the patience of Senate Atomic Committee members is wearing thin under the protracted attacks McKellar has launched against the nominee.

Hickenlooper told the committee that he thought some of the witnesses who had been summoned "have been brought here at a complete waste of government money."

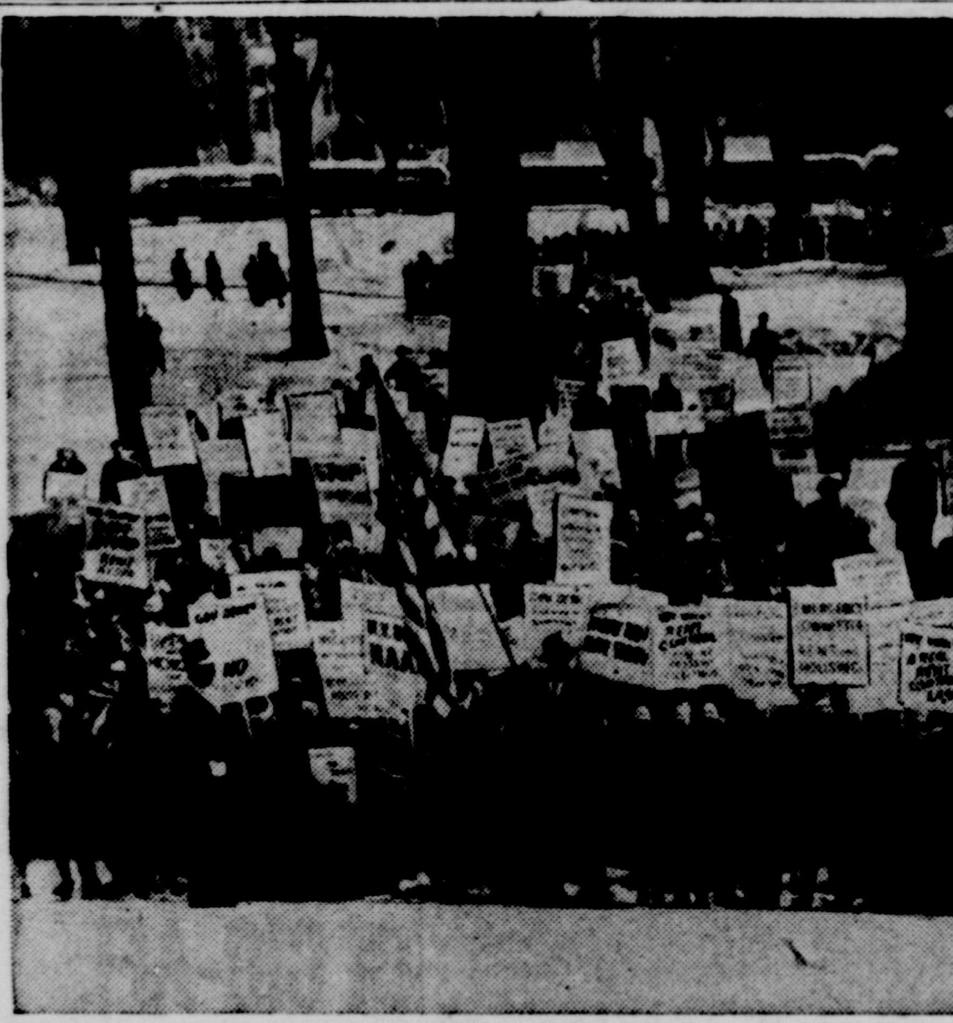
Later he told reporters he believes the committee will want to know, before it subpoenas any future witness, whether the individual involved has any "pertinent" testimony.

McKellar Criticized

An atomic scientist, Charles A. Thomas, told McKellar in today's hearing that his attitude against a world control plan would lead to "an atomic race" between the nations.

McKellar, demanding to know "why we should give away this secret," was told by Thomas that "we are not giving anything away" but getting "security for ourselves and stability for the world" if the proposed control system is setup.

Thomas is vice president in charge of research and development of the Monsanto Chemical Company. He called Lilienthal "particularly fitted" for the place.



RENT MARCHERS—Some of the 1,000 delegates from New York City, stage a demonstration on the steps of the State Capitol, in Albany, N. Y., in a protest against Gov. Dewey's "failure" to enact low-rent housing legislation. Demanding more housing and continuance of rent control, the marchers were not allowed to enter the building. The legislative chambers were barred by Troopers to all except legislators and newsmen.

Britain Laborites Oppose Giving U.N. Holy Land Question

LONDON, Feb. 19—(AP)—Britain's decision to send the troublesome Palestine question to the United Nations, without recommendations for a solution and with no interim increase in Jewish immigration, was reported today to have run into a "stormy" session of Labor members of Parliament.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's plan also met with heavy criticism from leading Zionists and, it was reported, the renewed insistence by the United States that immediate and substantial Jewish immigration be permitted.

A leading labor member of Parliament said that Bevin, facing critics in a Laborite caucus, blamed pressure of American Jews on the United States Government for his failure to reach an agreed settlement in Palestine.

This informant quoted the Foreign Secretary as saying that "I could have solved the Palestine problem in a way that would have insured peace for 20 years," except for the pressure of American Zionists.

Another reliable source said the United States Government had informed Britain it still considers that a substantial increase in Jewish immigration into the Holy Land is a prerequisite to a satisfactory Palestine settlement. The United States has urged that 100,000 European Jews be admitted immediately.

The source said the United States expressed its opinion in a reply to a British note informing the United States of the decision to refer the Palestine question to the United Nations. The United States "expressed understanding" of the decision, he added.

These leaders of the Jewish agency—David Ben-Gurion, chairman; Moshe Shertok, political director, and Berl Locker, British member—conferred with Colonial Secretary Arthur Creech Jones and asked that the immigration and land restrictions be lifted, pending action by the United Nations.

The Governor already has submitted a budget calling for $91,000,000 from general funds in the next two years. The $36,000,000 increase would make the 1948-49 budget total $127,000,000. In 1950-51, on the same basis, it would amount to $141,000,000.

In revising his fiscal program to meet expected revenue, Lane told the beneral assembly these things:

It will not be feasible to restore the $5,260,993 "borrowed" from the postwar reconstruction fund, but rather finance projects by bond issues. Part of a $4,625,000 issue voted by the assembly in 1945 would be available for commitments already made.

It will not be necessary, through economy and probable business conditions, to set up a $3,000,000 "cushion" against falling off of revenues.

The two per cent titling tax on automobiles, now worth $2,625,000 annually, should be taken from the general funds and given to the Roads Commission.

The $1,450,000 spent annually for the state police, "which now are used for many purposes other than road patrol," should be removed from Road Commission funds and transferred to the general fund.

Loss of revenue from the titling tax and transer of police costs will mean more taxes to make up the difference in general revenue, Lane asserted.

Four-Year-Old Boy Kills Mother Accidentally

PONTIAC, Mich., Feb. 19—(AP)—Mrs. Loudene Hargraves, 23, was accidentally shot to death today by a shotgun blast fired by her four-year-old son, Jerry, police reported.

Neighbors said they heard the shot and entered the Hargraves apartment to find the young woman fatally wounded. She was dead on admittance to Pontiac General Hospital.

The child was playing with a light, single-barrel shotgun. Mrs. Hargraves' husband, Clyde, who was at work at the time, told officers the gun ordinarily was kept in a closet.

Too Much Crosby?

LONDON, Feb. 19 (AP)—Walter Elliott, conservative party member of Parliament from Scotland, argued in Commons tonight that the British Broadcasting Corporation was playing too many Bing Crosby records.

"It's not merely three or four hours of Bing Crosby," he said, "but 30 or 40 or 300 or 400 and this allocation is rained on the heads of many households."

Mrs. Jean Mann, a laborite, claimed that the sentiments expressed in many of the modern tunes played over the BBC helped lure married couples into illicit affairs.

Maryland Senate Would Take Boats With Oyster Laws

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 19 (AP) — The Maryland Senate voted today to permit its authorities to confiscate boats of Virginians caught violating oyster laws in the Potomac River and send the violators back to their home state for trial.

The action was taken when the Senate concurred 23-6 in a House amendment to a measure which would have permitted Marylanders to try violating Virginians in Free State Courts.

Earlier the Senate adopted a favorable report of its judiciary committee to repeal Maryland's declaration of intentions law which requires would-be voters to declare their intention of becoming a citizen a year before they may cast ballots.

Both Houses received Governor Lane's tax program which would bring in $25,000,000 a year through a two per cent sales tax and increase in corporation income taxes. He called the proposals the only means by which the state can take care of its financial problems.

The house of delegates passed 27 bills and had 32 introduced in one of its biggest legislative days.

One of the measures passed would permit absolute divorce of either party in Maryland after voluntary separation for three years. The present law requires five years' separation. At the 1945 General Assembly a similar bill was adopted but Governor O'Conor vetoed it.

It passed today 117 to 1 without debate, with Delegate Ramsberg (R-Frederick) asking to be recorded against it.

Another House-passed measure would require annual registration of all Maryland dentists. This was proposed by the legislative council with the support of the Board of Dental Examiners and the State Dental Society. It passed 105-12.

Repeal Of Declaration Of Intentions Approved

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 19 (AP)—The State Senate by a 19 to 10 vote approved today a committee's favorable recommendation of a bill which would strike Maryland's old declaration of intentions act from the election law.

The vote on the floor came after a report that the committee had approved the measure by an 8 to 1 margin.

Yesterday, proponents of repeal testified at a public hearing that the act was a hindrance to Democratic Government and thousands of would-be voters had been deprived of participation in governmental affairs.

The bill moves up to passage stage.

State Measure To Curb Utility Strikes Opposed

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 19 (AP)—Acknowledging considerable opposition to his bill to curb strikes in public utilities, Senator Stromberg (D-Howard) said today he was convinced it was vital to protect the public from 'possible disaster.'

Doubts as to the measure's effectiveness and constitutionality were raised at a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing by both labor unions and the few utilities.

Senator Bolton (D-Baltimore) said a number of utilities had declined invitations to testify because their "relations with labor have been so cordial." Most letters received from concerns that would be affected by the bill indicated "neutrality," Bolton said, although some said it would not do much to insure labor peace.

Schmidt questioned whether the bill conflicted with federal statutes and admitted anxiety about a provision that would turn the operation of utilities over to the Public Service Commission in case of a work stoppage.

Senator Della (D-Balto Sixth) raised doubt at the hearing as to the state's jurisdiction in view of the National Labor Relations Act, granting labor rights in industries engaged in interstate commerce. Later he also questioned the "need" for such legislation.

The bill would forbid strikes in firms under supervision of the Public Service Commission, allow the Commission to operate utilities if work ceased, and require arbitration by a three-man board appointed by the governor if commission orders for settlement of a dispute proved "onerous" to labor or management.

Dr. Pullen Urges $2,200 Minimum For Md. Teachers

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 19 (AP) — Passage of legislation granting an adequate minimum salary for Maryland Teachers would make the proposed state incentive fund to pay the instructors unnecessary State School Superintendent Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., said today.

Dr. Pullen told the House Education Committee there would be no need for the fund and that the five cent tax planned for that purpose could be used for maintenance.

He urged a minimum salary of $2,200 annually.

Dr. Pullen, in recommending minor modifications in the Sherbow Report as it relates to education, called for simplification of Administration of school funds by reducing the funds to four groups.

The funds include a state payment of $400 to political sub-divisions each year per teacher in place of the present $150; plus $20 for each pupil; part payment of salaries by the state or county and city supervisory officials; and retention of the equalization fund.

He pointed out that legislative council bills already introduced would create two incentive funds, one for teachers and the other for buildings.

Dr. Pullen also said he favored retention of Frostburg State Teachers College, although its closing was recommended in the Marbury Commission report.

Portal-to-Portal Issue Foggy Despite Court Ruling

The portal-to-portal pay issue continues' in a dense fog of uncertainty, despite Federal Judge Picard's new decision in the Mount Clemens Pottery Company case. The Judge tossed out of court all claims for such pay by employes of the small Michigan firm, holding them too trivial to be of concern of the law. He held, also, that if the United States Supreme Court overruled him on that point, the company should not be liable for portal-to-portal claims dating back beyond last June 10—the date on which the Supreme Court ruled originally in the Mount Clemens case.

Some months hence, presumably, the case will reach the Supreme Court again. And eventually that Court will undertake to decide whether Judge Picard is right or wrong on both points. But even if it upholds his entire decision, that is not likely to dispose of the issue, because considerations that led Judge Picard to pronounce the Mount Clemens claims trifling may not be found to apply to many other industries and companies.

Under the laws of many states, it may be found impossible for Federal Courts to fix last June 10 or any other fairly recent date as a limit for back portal pay claims. So there is the prospect of much delay in obtaining a new Supreme Court decision, and grave doubt how general the effect of that decision might be. Meanwhile, employers against whom some $5,000,000,000 worth of portal pay suits have been filed cannot be sure that they won't be subjected to ruinous judgments. And the Federal Government cannot be sure that it won't be liable for huge tax rebates to such employers, as well as for large additional payments on cost-plus war contracts.

The decision by Judge Picard, we think, has not removed the need for action by Congress on the portal-to-portal controversy. That situation is largely the result of careless legislation. Congress, when it wrote the Wage-Hour Law in 1938, failed to define the term "work week." The Supreme Court, therefore, wrote its own definition and so opened the gates to the flood of suits.

Congress should remove the many uncertainties by remedying the defect in the Wage-Hour Law, make it possible for future portal-to-portal claims to be adjusted by collective bargaining, and put a limit on past liabilities, if any, of employers and the Government.

Putting Germans On Road To Democracy Has Been Slow

During the last few weeks, because the problem of peace with Germany will soon be attacked at Moscow, American periodicals have been filled with reports on what has been happening in the United States zone since the war ended. These articles have made earnest effort to acquaint the public with the policies of American authorities and with the results achieved.

Moreover, there seems to be general agreements that conditions in the American zone reflect considerable credit on those responsible even though there is plenty of room for criticism. But the opinion seems to be virtually unanimous that attempts to put the German people on the road to democracy have so far made little progress. The German attitude toward free political institutions is still skeptical if not hostile.

This judgment now finds support in a survey that has recently been conducted among German war prisoners returned to Britain. Asked whether they believe that the English brand of democracy could be successfully introduced in Germany, 57 percent of them replied in the negative. As for those who considered it possible, a large proportion were doubtful but were willing to concede that the German attitude might be changed in the course of time.

Thus the great weight of the evidence supports the conclusion that the only way to turn Germany into a democratic nation is to make certain that the Germans will not be able to follow their inclinations. That may involve a generation of control, but anything less can have only one result.

Businesslike Talks Replace Those Of Verbal Fireworks

According to a dispatch from Washington the United States has lost its flair for oratory. With the possible exception of Senator Arthur Vandenberg, who can make the rafters ring on occasion, the old-time orators are gone. Instead of indulging in verbal fireworks, the Senators are inclined to make businesslike speeches on the floor, and to spend more and more time working in committees.

It strikes us that the lack of oratory in the Senate isn't due to any shortage of potential orators, but rather to the decline of oratory itself as a method of winning friends and influencing people. Not so many years ago, the man who could make his voice perform like a pipe organ was an important feature at every public gathering. It didn't matter so much what he said, as how he said it. Oratory was appreciated as an art, like dancing or juggling.

Now, however, the trend seems to be in the other direction. Many audiences would rather have a speaker say something, sincerely and clearly, instead of putting on a show of verbal pyrotechnics.

Even though he may be saying something important, the orator is suspect. His bellowing and whispering, his pear-shaped sounds, remind many moderns of the sauces that are thrown over doubtful foods in doubtful eating places. To carry this thought a bit further—the human race, in most of its activities, seems to be getting away from the high-sounding but empty phrases.

For instance, salesmen, by and large, no longer depend upon a glib tongue that "can talk a bird out of a tree." The "bird" is more likely to be sold by facts, a good product and decent treatment. Modern writing, modern conversation—yes, from all reports, even modern courtship—eschew the flowery phrases that were dear to our ancestors.

Oh yes, there are golden voices on the radio, and on the lecture platform. And some of the radio commercials are worse than the old-time purely rabble rousing oratory. But generally speaking, the spoken and written word is becoming more and more a tool, less and less an ornament.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

FACTS AND FALLACIES ON SHAMPOOING

We are asked now and then how frequently the hair should be washed—once a week, every 10 days, or four times a year. Common sense dictates that the answer should be "whenever it is necessary." In all probability this is more often than the average person realizes.

The scalp acts as an excellent dirt catcher. It retains dust, soot, and smoke particles as well as the secretions of the sweat and oil producing glands of the area. If such grime appeared on the face, no one would waste a minute seeking soap and water. Hence a daily shampoo is recommended especially for individuals with extremely oily skins; and perhaps once or twice a week for those in whom the grease factories are overactive.

But the angle of cleanliness may not enter the picture for there are many who think that washing the hair leads to undue dryness, will interfere with growth, increase the tendency to scales, or cause harm in some other fashion. Some women particularly still adhere to old wives' tales and consequently let it go for two or three months at a time. Actually there is no scientific basis for such beliefs as abnormalities usually develop for other reasons. On the other hand, uncleanliness invites infection and the oils undergo chemical changes resulting in objectionable odors.

The task can be an oreal, especially to women, but seldom requires special equipment or magic preparations. Any good toilet soap that produces a rich lather which can be rinsed with ease is acceptable. Plenty of water, either from the shower or a detachable spray, is advised.

Occasionally soap particles precipitate, leaving a flaky debris. This may be mistaken for dandruff, leading to the false notion that washing has a parching effect on the tissues. When the material cannot be removed easily, the use of vinegar or one of the many water softeners on the market will help. The newer surface active agents are similar to soap in their detergent action, dissolve readily, and do not require a rinse other than water. A few of the creamy preparations, however, leave a film on the hair which picks up dirt.

Another common fallacy is that washing the head makes a person more susceptible to colds. If drying is thorough, no one should be endangered. Drying with a towel is preferred to heat lamps but is more time consuming.

Nor will frequent shampooing lead to baldness. We do not know why the tresses fall out except that the phenomenon "runs in families" and nothing that is done or not done has much influence.

NOT NOURISHING

N. M. writes: How many calories in a cigaret?

None that we can use. Eminent medical authorities can show that there is not a calorie in a carload and consequently they are of no value from this angle as a treat or treatment.

THYROID AND HEART

Mrs. A. P .writes: If a person has a thyroid condition, does this mean that the heart is also affected?

REPLY

No, although the pumping apparatus can be involved in the presence of an abnormality of the thyroid gland, particularly if severe.

STYLE OF ROOF

C. W. writes: The roof of my mouth is ridged. What causes this?

REPLY

The condition is natural in many and usually causes no concern. If, on the other hand, it represents a slowly growing tumor or changes in the membranes due to infection, examination is in order.

NUMEROUS CAUSES

Mrs. T. writes: How many conditions have been found to be responsible for pain in the head?

REPLY

The causes are so numerous that space does not permit a listing of all. They vary from sinus trouble, eyestrain, and constipation to high blood pressure, adenoids, and fatigue. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on headache.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The "blurb" is a beautiful piece of writing appearing on the back page of the jacket which tells you that buying that book is the smartest move of your life.

Just over the "blurb" is the author's picture. If he's a decent-looking fellow there are ten lush paragraphs describing his romantic background. If he is not so handsome, the camera catches him from below, smoking a pipe and looking as if he knew something.

Next there are about 100 words describing the book, certain phases, which the publishers carefully set up in bold type, invariably catch your eye: "racey, fiery passion — brute strength—each other." This is directed toward people who are tired of reading about love cases and divorces in their daily papers and want a few laughs.

The most fascinating part of the blurb, however, is the "publisher's commercial." This is a listing of every book the company has put out in the last twelve years with a hitcha summary of each, next to each title is the price and a review by the best friend of the author.

As a "blurb happy" friend, I'm looking forward with joy to the day they bring out a novel filled with nothing but blurb and the story on the back cover.

Invention Of Atomic Bomb Ushers In Era Of Buck Rogers Fantasy; Republican Movie Czar Eric Johnston Supports Administration's Trade Policies

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—It is difficult for the average person to understand the amazing vistas opened up by science during World War II and realize that the unbelievable era of Buck Rogers fantasy is now actually here.

The most obvious development was the atomic bomb. Not as well known but perhaps even more fantastic are the numerous secrets of the earth which the bomb's invention also opened. For the past three years, for instance, geoclastic scientists have been working on a project for setting off a controlled chain reaction in the crust of the earth.

This project is described by the scientists as a hrydrogen chain reaction, in which the hydrogen in the surface of the earth would be made to burn in a slow but continuous stream. Simultaneously, these scientists are reported to be preparing a means for speedily extinguishing such blazes by the system of back fires and chemical devices which could hold its spread at the borderline of any country.

Fantastic as this may sound, it is only a small phase of the field which science opened up at a time when the Government, in desperation and out of fear of what enemy scientists might be doing, gave American scientists full freedom to work.

An earth-crust chain reaction is now deemed a reasonable possibility and might mean the end for a country even as large as Russia. A chain reaction of this type could carry across mountains, through ice and snow, searing everything in its path with the relentless force of a gigantic, fire-burning steam roller.

American scientists warn that what they are working on is also worked on by scientists all over the world. No nation has a monopoly on knowledge. What American science has is a head start and the "know-how."

Note--Yet there are still some people who wonder whether it is a good idea to have international control of atomic energy!

Under The Dome

President Truman not only has told intimates he will back Lilienthal's confirmation fight to the limit, but added that he would even argue with the TVA director if he asked to be withdrawn. Truman told friends that he could have got Edwin W. Pauley as Undersecretary of the navy if Pauley hadn't lost his nerve . . . Just before he left for Hawaii, Interior Secretary Cap Krug ordered a ten-foot square sign erected in the lobby of the Interior Department Building, bearing the now famous statement on Democracy by David Lilienthal . . . Almost the entire Cabinet will speak at a dinner to be given by Florida Democrats to raise a quarter of a million dollars to back Truman's 1948 election. The dinner will cost $250 a plate . . . American Ambassador Arthur Bliss Lane, who is not returning to Poland, will probably go to The Netherlands. Secretary Marshall will appoint a new Ambassador to Warsaw, but not until after the Moscow Conference.

A Strange Republican

While Senator Bob Taft of Ohio was opening fire on the reciprocal trade program, another prominent Republican was firing from the opposite direction—right inside President Truman's private office.

The second Republican was Eric Johnston, scrappy Hollywood movie czar, who called at the White House not only to recommend retention of reciprocal trade, but to uncork some views of the coming Geneva Conference, at which time the USA will sit down with 17 other nations to iron out bottlenecks in world trade.

Johnston, former president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and frequently mentioned as a GOP Presidential dark horse, emphasized that he was speaking as a Republican when he expressed hope that the Geneva Trade Conference will succeed. He strongly urged Truman to do just the reverse of the Taft policy and work for the mutual lifting of restrictive tariffs on international trade.

Unless this is done, Johnston told Truman, all countries will have to go back to barter and national isolation. World peace depends more on opening up the channels of trade than in restricting them, Johnston added, and the Geneva Conference may be the last chance to make a sick world well.

Johnston argued that all nations will have to learn to sacrifice some trade advantages to gain others, and no nation can expect always to get the best of the bargain. In the long run reciprocity works out for the advantage of everybody.

England, for instance, Johnston told Truman, sells Scotch whisky cheaper in New York than in London because of the advantage it gains in the exchange of other goods.

If the United States expects other nations to continue looking to us for leadership, we must continue to take the lead in world co-operation, the movie czar declared.

President Truman's reaction to this unusual Republican declaration could be described as pop-eyed approbation. He was almost speechless. Though Johnston is known for his forthright, liberal views on foreign affairs, not since Franklin Roosevelt was alive had the President's office heard such two-fisted philosophizing.

Capital Chaff

Of course it wasn't announced as such, but California politicos consider that their Governor, Earl Warren, launched his 1948 campaign when he arrived in Washington last week. Host at the lavish cocktail party given him at the Statler Hotel upon his arrival was Senator Bill Knowland, with the guest list carefully including just about everyone who could be helpful in swinging a GOP nomination—even including Senator Bob Taft of Ohio . . . Arrogant Chairman Harold Knutson seems to think he can speak for the Ways and Means Committee, without even taking a vote of its members. During a meeting of the Joint Committee on the legislative budget a Senator remarked that it might be well to wait until the Ways and Means Committee had reached a decision on a certain matter. "I'll give you the answer of the Ways and Means Committee right now if you want it," whispered Knutson to Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire.

Tax Cut With Budget Saving Is Given Secondary Priority

By MARK SULLIVAN

The budget battle, so far as it can be compressed into a nutshell, which actually it cannot, begins with the position of President Truman. He recommends that the expenditures of the Federal government be cut to 37½ billion dollars. Many Republicans, and the Joint Congressional Committee officially, say the cut can be $6,000,000,000 greater.

Battle begins, several battles in one. The primary one is whether the cut can be or should be as great as many Republicans and the Joint Committee say. Protest against a greater cut comes from persons and agencies that would be affected adversely to their interests. Some of the protests call for earnest considering, and get it. Army and Navy heads say that a larger cut in the amounts allotted to them in Mr. Truman's estimate would be a menace to the national interest. About this, it is practically impossible for the public to judge. Other protests are easier to judge, in principle at least. Every government agency has at all times an interest in avoiding or minimizing cuts in the appropriations for them. The influence these have on Congress is great.

One pressure comes from a source for which the public as a whole will have little consideration. The Joint Congressional Committee, in its proposal for a greater cut, recommended "deferment . . . of public works projects." This brings protest from communities, especially in the West, which wish to retain projects for hydro-electric dams, irrigation and the like. The communities thus concerned have influence upon their Congressmen. Some of the pressure comes from persons everywhere who believe in public works projects for the sake of extension of the government in industry.

Goes To Heart of Battle

To this whole pressure for going on with public works, for whatever motive, the Joint Committee makes a conclusive answer. It calls for "the elimination of those functions of the Federal government which might be regarded as . . . not imperative . . . in light of a towering public debt."

That, as a declaration of policy, goes to the heart of the battle. Unless we are willing to refrain from every expenditure that is "not imperative," we shall not reduce the National debt, it will go on growing. And unless we reduce the National debt now, under present conditions, when will we ever reduce it?

This is put with especial force and terseness in statements from two sources. One is a private institution, the National City Bank of New York: "Here we are . . . at the highest level of National income ever reached, and this on the basis of a business boom . . . if we cannot, under these favorable conditions . . . pay off debt . . . when can we hope to do so?"

To the same effect, and with equal force and terseness, is Democratic Senator O'Mahoney of Wyoming. He points out that our "national income is 165 billion dollars, the highest peak ever reached in the history of this or any other country." Then Senator O'Mahoney turns to the National debt: "If we do not pay for it while we have the money with which to pay, if we do not pay off the debt while the National income is at this high level, we will never pay it off."

Would Apply Saving To Debt

In the battle of the budget as a whole, a secondary fight, though not so very secondary, is what to do with the extra $6,000,000,000 which many Republicans and the Joint Congressional Committee recommend to be cut from expenditures. It can be used for either of two purposes, reducing the National debt or reducing taxes. Many Republicans and the Joint Committee recommend a roughly equal division between the two puropses. Democratic Senator O'Mahoney, and many others, urge strongly that the whole amount be applied to reduction of the National debt.

It is not exclusively a choice of alternatives, it can be with good reason considered as a choice of priority. Both purposes are helpful in the one broad purpose of a sound economy. Of the two, reduction of the National debt would have the most concrete effect. Knowledge that the United States had reached its National debt would have a greater psychological effect on ourselves and the world, would create a stronger conviction that we are going to take the path toward soundness, than knowledge that we had reduced taxes. Actually, reduction of taxes is being given secondary priority. Says Republican Senator Smith of New Jersey: "The tax-cutting program must follow and not precede budget balancing."

True "Liberals" Facing Choice Of Closed Shop Or Civil Rights

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19. — An astonishing statement has just been made by the undersecretary of labor, David Morse, namely, that there are "closed shop" provisions of one kind or another in 77 per cent of the 50,000 collective bargaining contracts with unions.

This means that monopoly is far more extensive than any previously available information has even remotely suggested.

Mr. Morse was using the statistics to argue that the "closed shop" must not be disturbed by congress. This is reminiscent of what the big business men used to say — that monopolies and trusts should not be disturbed by the courts because it would upset established arrangements.

It's the same kind of argument that has been made again and again in defending monopoly, and it is an example of how far gone the monopolistic system on the labor side is when a government official of a so-called "liberal" administration is arguing for the "status quo" in favor of labor union monopolies.

Expediency has never stayed the hand of the federal government in matters of court action where evil has been uncovered. The anti-trust laws were enacted by a Republican Congress in 1890 to save the nation from exploitation. It could have been argued then that the monopolies had built up the country and developed its resources and that hence they should have immunity.

Today the labor union monopolies have been established by economic pressure under which, in effect, a gun has been pointed at the head of the employer so that he must agree to the "closed shop," or suffer considerable loss. None of these "closed shop" agreements has ever been passed upon by the Supreme Court of the United States. In the Wagner Law there is a provision which says the employer must not make membership in a union a condition of work and yet in the same law there is a provision which says that "voluntary agreements between employers and unions involving union membership as a condition of employment are not discriminatory. This conflict has never been passed upon either by the highest court because no case involving that specific issue has been brought before the court.

Incidentally, several states have adopted amendments to their own constitutions barring the "closed shop" and the issue of whether these amendments are valid has not yet been passed upon by the Supreme Court of the United States. In one case recently the Supreme Court by-passed the issue. Another test is expected shortly.

The problem is a simple one if civil rights are to be considered. No union has a right to determine who shall or shall not work. The right to work is one of the rights reserved to the people under the constitution of the United States, and not even the federal government may say who shall or shall not work in private industry or business.

If a union has the constitutional right to regulate employment and, by its own rules, determine who shall not work, then the supreme court was wrong in invalidating the NRA in 1935 when it held that congress could not delegate the law-making authority to any private organization. The labor unions and the "code authorities" which emerged under NRA are on a par when it comes to units exercising powers of economic life or death over individuals or their businesses.

True Liberals Face Choice

Because the "closed shop" has reached so deeply into the economic system of this country, there are those who wish to appease the unions by offering plans to "regulate" rather than abolish the "closed shop" monopoly. This would be more dangerous than outright abolition. For it would mean that political government would undertake to permit certain monopolies to function, and this would result in delegation by Congress to some agency, like the labor board, of the task of administering these rules. It would open the way to complete regulation of labor unions by government—a source of greater friction than the "closed shops."

There is no justification in law or equity for a "closed shop" monopoly. No individual or group of individuals has a right to say in America that a man or woman shall not be permitted to work unless he or she pays tribute to a private organization and agrees to abide by union-made laws.

The right to work is impaired by the "closed shop" and true liberals will not accept it any more than they would the impairment of any other civil right.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

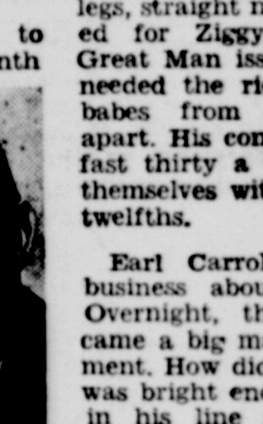
Every so often I'm invited to judge a beauty contest. Every month or so, some college yearbook editor mails in a package of photos, and asks me to select the prettiest co-ed in the class. I guess he's read somewhere I'm a professor of pulchritude, and, having seen it in black and white, believes it.



Billy Rose

Well, it's nice work if you can get it, but all this stuff about my being a picker of pretties is 100-proof malarkey. And the same goes for Ziegfeld, Carroll, White and Goldwyn. I think anybody who can cross the street without a Seeing-Eye Dog can pick a pretty girl.

Don't think I'm getting a rush of modesty to the head. When it comes to taking bows, I'm like Eddie Leonard. I once tried to cut his act to eight minutes. "Why, Mr. Rose," smiled the old minstrel man, "I bow for fifteen."

I've been in this grift too long to be taken in by the mumbo-jumbo connected with it. Especially when I started so much of this mumbo-jumbo myself.

Any boy who likes girls can pick them. It's the one game in which everybody is born good. When it comes to judging glamour, the whistle is much more important than the tape measure. The physical culture magazines tell you a girl should have a 24 waist, 34 hips, and 34 you-know-whats. Her chin angle should be eleven degrees west of the concave, and the square root of the hypotenuse the same color as her hair. Bunk and double bunk! If she gives you goose bumps, hire her.

The key to collecting cuties is the same as the key to so many other vexing problems — Money! What you're willing to spend for salaries and costumes is ninety-nine per cent of it. The other one per cent is an eye sharp enough to read the top line on an optician's chart.

I'm writing this piece in Ziegfeld's old office. Let's see how the all-time boss of the beauty business used to go about getting his girls. When the Equity minimum for show girls and dancers was something like thirty bucks a week, Ziggy was paying girls like Gladys Glad and Lillian Lorraine as much as three hundred (a thousand Truman dollars). When his competitors were dressing girls in sixty dollars worth of cheesecloth, the Great Glorifier was dolling them up in six-hundred dollar Irish lace petticoats.

Well, no one ever scared off a honey by offering her clothes and money. The news got around, and every girl in America with straight legs, straight nose and carfare headed for Ziggy's office. When the Great Man issued a chorus call, he needed the riot squad to keep the babes from taking the building apart. His contemporaries, paying a fast thirty a week, had to content themselves with seconds, thirds and twelfths.

Earl Carroll hit the producing business about twenty years ago. Overnight, this ex-songwriter became a big man in the girl department. How did he do it? Simple. He was bright enough to pay every girl in his line a hundred dollars a week.

A couple of years ago, I put on a revue called "Seven Lively Arts." There was plenty of disagreement on the show's merits, but none on the show girls. People kept asking we where I got those Eyeful Towers. I winked and played genius.

Here's the story. After several unproductive chorus calls, I dropped in to see Harry Conover, the model merchant. I told him I was willing to pay a hundred a week American for real sigh-catchers. The next day his camera chicks mobbed me. Herbert Hoover could have taken it from there. George Jean Nathan complimented my keen eye. I pasted his review in the scrapbook and kept my yap shut. Until now.

Let me tell you how a so-called beauty expert works. I'll describe a chorus call. Let's see how smart you have to be to pick 'em.

You put an ad in the paper that you want tall beauties for your new show, "Cucumbers of 1947." Several hundred gals show up. Some are four-foot-eight, with little mustaches and legs like parentheses. In their hearts, they're six feet tall and beautiful. If you're a right guy, you keep a poker face and tell them you're looking for another type. Eugene O'Neill showed us what happens to people when you blow away their pipe dreams.

First you eliminate the impossibles, about three out of every five. If baby has Roquefort cheese teeth, or is too bow-legged to catch a pig in an alley—thank you, my dear, leave your name and address and we'll let you know. You ask the remaining girls to parade slowly around the stage. What do you look for? The same things you look for when you're standing on a windy corner.

See? Anybody can do it.

Did I say anybody? Yes, anybody—female company excepted. Asking a woman to appraise another woman's beauty is like asking Senator Taft what he thinks of the other Republican candidates.

Maryland Jaycees Endorse Teacher Salary Measures

State Directors View Numerous Problems

Commenting on a meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors in Baltimore over the weekend, the delegation representing Cumberland Jaycees reports favorable action taken on endorsement of pay raises for teachers, a statewide basketball tournament, survey and improvement of state mental institutions, traffic safety, state supervision of a physical education program and discussion of plans for the coming state convention.

John M. Robb, local attorney who is chairman of the convention committee, David Kauffman, local Jaycee president, Harry Kauffman, James P. Wilkinson and C. William Gilchrist, past state president, represented Cumberland at the conference.

Robb said last night he conferred with the state president, J. Rutledge Clark on preliminary plans for the annual state convention here May 16, 17, and 18. Clark plans to announce within the next few weeks, Robb said, the complete convention program along with the full convention committee, award committee and committee on resolutions.

Favor Teacher Pay Bill

Kauffman stated the state organization went on record favoring passage of the proposed salary bill for public school teachers, fixing the state minimum at $2,000 per year, with $100 increments over a period of years, and also the measure giving this county and Baltimore city a base pay of $2,200.

Jaycees further recommended that (1) non-teaching principals for 15-teacher schools; (2) classes of not more than 30 students each; (3) low tuition junior colleges in Maryland; (4) increased expansion of vocational training programs; (5) increase in compulsory age limits for students; (6) broadening of teacher retirement pay benefits; (7) immediate attention to refurbishing schools throughout the state.

Dr John G. Seidel, assistant state superintendent of schools attended the conference and provided the Jaycees with answers to scores of questions on education and Maryland's system.

A traffic safety report of the Traffic Committee submitted by Chairman James Rowe, Baltimore, was approved and the Youth Welfare Committee report from Chairman Harry Kauffman, this city were submitted for study and will be made public later it was indicated.

Dislike Tournament Plans

There was some criticism of and disagreement with the proposed state basketball tournament, as Baltimore City is not included. Sports Chairman Robert Fair, Salisbury, termed present plans for the tournament are inadequate and below the standard hoped for by Maryland Jaycees.

At the last state convention in Frederick, Jaycees went on record favoring a statewide basketball tournament among high schools, as an annual event in Maryland, and committees have been working on the idea since.

The State Health Supervisor of Physical Education made plans and recently announced them. The Jaycees expressed their dissatisfaction, claiming the tournament set-up would make "automatic champions" and will not be a true test of basket ball caliber in Maryland.

The executive board proposed to ask the University of Maryland to sponsor a state wide tournament for high schools along lines of those in other states where such a program has been beneficial to the youth in many ways.

Endorse Shepperd

Maryland Jaycee leaders went on record endorsing John B. Shepperd of Texas, for 1947-48 national president. The national election will be held at the United States Jaycee convention at Long Beach, Calif., June 9 to 15.

A forum discussion of Junior Chamber work over Baltimore station WITH, with presidents of Jaycee organizations in Baltimore, Frederick, Salisbury, Cumberland, Hagerstown and Frostburg was presented as a special feature during the conference. Kauffman represented Cumberland and Ray Layman represented Frostburg.

Mrs. Loris Wathen Is Improving

Mrs. Loris Peters Wathen, 33, Augusta, W. Va., who was admitted to Allegany Hospital Monday night for treatment of a shotgun wound in the left hip was reported "resting comfortably" last night.

Trooper L. W. Kelley, Romney, W. Va., who investigated for West Virginia State Police, said both Mrs. Wathen and her husband reported the accident occurred when the gun Wathen was cleaning in the kitchen of his home went off accidentally.

Wathen explained to Trooper Kelley that the 12 gauge shotgun shell was one which had been left in the gun since deer season.

Harold Stouffer, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stouffer, Cresaptown, was treated in Allegany Hospital last night for a slight cut on the back of the head. The child was hurt when he fell against a radiator, attaches were told.

Oswald G. Zollner, 56, 401 Laing Avenue, was treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon for a finger injury. The B. and O. Car department employe said he hit his hand with a hammer while at work.

Walter Dennison, 39, Springfield, W. Va., a B. and O. back shop employe, was treated in Memorial Hospital late last night for a laceration of the left thumb. He told attaches he was injured when the air gun he was using slipped.

Mrs. Cupler Urges Qualifications For Juvenile Judge

Letters and telegrams have been sent to Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., urging that the State Legislature set up a list of qualifications for judge of Juvenile Court, Mrs. John A. Cupler, II, education chairman of the Cumberland Branch, American Association of University Women, said last night.

Mrs. Cupler said she contacted various women's groups in the city on the matter, and stated that in her opinion a candidate for judge should be a lawyer and a sociologist as well before being considered for the appointment.

Stating that she herself wrote to the governor as an individual, Mrs. Cupler said she opposed the proposed appointment of Thomas B. Stakem as judge of Juvenile Court to succeed Judge John Barnard, who is not a candidate.

Mrs. Cupler said a candidate for the appointment should have a law degree and should also be experienced as a sociologist, in order to handle Juvenile Court cases.

Zoning Board Grants Occupancy Permits

Two appeals for occupancy permits, denied by the city engineer, were granted last night by the Board of Zoning Appeals.

Walter Gross, 408 North Mechanic street, secured a permit to use the first story of a two-story building at 253 Henderson avenue as a retail hardware store. He said he plans to increase the size of the building to 96 feet in length and to reconstruct the walls, using brick. The addition, which will require tearing down two frame buildings in the rear, will have concrete block walls.

Mrs. Josephine V. Smith, Flintstone, was granted a permit to use a vacant lot at Lot No. 529, Potomac Street, as a site for a planing mill. and Pittsburgh, ordinances are enforced on the type of coal burned, limiting the amount of fly ash, specifying correct designs of furnaces, and limiting the amount of smoke.

Shaffer said that Pittsburgh has a bureau of smoke prevention as a branch of the board of public health, which appoints supervisors and qualified inspectors to see that the provisions of the ordinance are enforced.

Mrs. John A. Cupler, II, education chairman of the AAUW here, discussed smoke control from the housewife's point of view, as well as from a health standpoint. She quoted one local merchant as stating that dirt is his worst competitor, since its limits the type of clothing apparel he can sell, and damages goods to some extent. Other merchants in different types of business, Mrs. Cupler said, expressed the same view.

Statistic Are Given

Regarding health, Mrs. Cupler said nose and throat specialists have informed her that many cases of so-called "sinus" trouble are actually catarrhal conditions often resulting from irritations caused by the city's atmospheric condition. She said that physicians reported lung cancer may result from unfavorable atmospheric conditions, including fumes and gases as well as smoke.

Shaffer remarked that St. Louis reported a decrease in cases of sinus trouble after a rigid smoke control ordinance was put into effect.

Replying to Avirett's charge that the railroads are the primary cause of Cumberland's smoke problem, W. E. Sample, Baltimore, superintendent of fuel conservation for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, stated that the railroad is doing all it can now to prevent smoke, whether or not an ordinance is passed.

Economy Crew Used

He explained that for the past year an expert fireman has been stationed here to instruct firemen in correct firing of engines, and that a 10-man "fuel economy" crew makes periodic visits of six weeks here to study local conditions of railroad smoke and to see that firing regulations are carried out.

The railroad has a great investment in steam locomotives, and it is difficult to obtain petroleum for Diesels, so that the conversion from coal-burning to Diesel locomotives will take time, Sample said. He stated, however, that the B. and O. will continue fighting smoke whether an ordinance is passed or not.

Mrs. Gilbert Miller, social studies chairman, acted as moderator and introduced the speakers.

Mrs. John J. Hafer, president, opened the meeting and reminded members that the state AAUW meeting will be held Saturday, April 26, in College Park. She said that Mrs. Harry B. Simpson, LaVale, has been named as a delegate to the national convention at Dallas, Tex., April 14-19.

Mrs. Miller reminded the members of a public meeting on recreation to be held tomorrow at 8 p. m. at the Cumberland Free Public Library, recalling that a proposed recreation ordinance is scheduled for discussion at Monday's meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Refreshments were served following the meeting, which was attended by about 40 persons.

"Democracy cannot hope to survive unless we have higher percentages of educated citizens," Miss Compton exclaimed.

Mentions Comparative Cost

Citing a few more figures, she made these interesting comparisons: "In 1943, with a national income of 149 billion dollars, a total of 1.5 percent was spent for public school education. In the same year, 5.2 billions or three percent was spend for alcoholic beverages. Two and a half billions were spent for tobacco, and a billion and a half was spent for cosmetics and beauty treatments.

"For the first time in the history of education, the percentage spent for public education declined during a war period. Good schools and good teachers cost money, but America must provide educational opportunities for all its citizens, the rich and poor, the old and young, regardless of race, creed or color. By development of our human resources, we can solve most of our problems. If we neglect areas or individuals, we create special problems.

"People determine the great social trends that carry a nation forward to the ideals of liberty and justice for all, and by the same token can carry it backward to barbarism and brutality.

"This country finds itself in a position of world-wide leadership," she concluded, "and this leadership can be maintained only as we develop our talents through education.

"A nation is not made great by its land, its forests, its mineral wealth alone. But a nation is made truly great by its people. Only as our children are educated, can this nation be truly great."

LaVale Legion Plans To Enlarge Roster And Build Own Home

Members of LaVale Post No. 219 American Legion met last night and discussed plans for several activities including a spring membership campaign and the possibility of establishing a permanent home for the new post.

Commander Sampson Sions said no committees have been named, but preliminary plans for increasing the membership of the post were discussed in detail. Resident-veterans of the LaVale section interested in joining the post may contact Adjutant Ralph Martin or any post member, and will be welcome at the post's regular meetings.

Sions also declared that the members want to build their own post home as soon as possible, and plans along this line will be embarked upon at future meetings.

Amvets' Election Is Set For March 8

J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets, will hold its election Saturday, March 8, from noon until 9 p. m. at post headquarters, according to William B. Orndorff, post commander. Only paid-up 1947 members will be eligible to vote.

A report of the nominating committee will be made tonight at 8 o'clock, and nominations may also be made from the floor.

The board which will have charge of the election March 8 is comprised of C. William Spangler, William Burns, Homer Higgins and Glenwood Reel.

DEATHS

JOSEPH CORRIGAN RITES

A requiem mass for Joseph C. Corrigan, 81, former postmaster of Corriganville, who died yesterday morning in Allegany Hospital, will be conducted Saturday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Interment will be in the church cemetery.

Mr. Corrigan was admitted to the hospital February 7 after he suffered a fractured hip at the Windsor Hotel here.

Relatives said Mr. Corrigan, a retired grocer, had been in "excellent health" prior to the accident. He operated a store at the old home place in Corriganville for a number of years, retiring about three years ago.

Mr. Corrigan was a charter member of Cumberland Council No. 586, Knights of Columbus.

A native of this city, Mr. Corrigan was a son of the late Matthew and Anne (Garvey) Corrigan. He belonged to St. Patrick's Catholic Church here.

Surviving are a sister, Miss Catherine Corrigan, at home, and a number of nieces and nephews, including Martin M. Corrigan, 110 Greene Street, superintendent of the city Street Department.

Mr. Corrigan, who was born September 19, 1865, served as postmaster at Corriganville for a number of years. His grandfather was appointed postmaster there shortly after he settled in the area and his father served as postmaster throughout his life.

He was active in the affairs of the Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company.

HARRY BROCK RITES

A funeral service for Harry Brock, 60, who died Sunday at his home in Washington, D. C., was conducted yesterday afternoon in Locust Grove Brethren Church, Bismark, W. Va., by Rev. Earl Cosner and interment was in Cosner Cemetery.

Pallbearers for Mr. Brock, who was well known here, were Brook Heavener, John Barrick, Elwood Odell, William F. and Junior Cosner.

Mrs. Florence Jane Bonnell Davis, 72, died yesterday afternoon at 4:10 o'clock at her home in Star City, near Morgantown, W. Va., after a long illness. She was the widow of Tilbert Davis.

She is survived by one son, Murrlen Davis, Rivesville, W. Va., a foster son, Arthur L. Mayhew, this city; two daughters, Mrs. Clarinda Green, Luke, and Mrs. Mabel Snyder, Star City, Mrs. Rosa Bonnell, Salem, W. Va.; a brother Ethen Bonnell, Lost Creek, W. Fey, the act would be amended to require an annual report on the source and application of public funds used in county schools, and an operating statement of profits and losses on athletic activities and cafeterias.

The bill also would require an annual audit to be published at least twice in Cumberland newspapers, and would give the County Commissioners authority to have an audit made once a year if they saw fit.

Two Motorists Fined And 12 Forfeit Bonds

Two motorists were fined and 12 others forfeited bonds before Magistrate Roy S. Bowman in Cresaptown last night as a result of charges of motor violations preferred by Maryland State Police this week. They were:

Richard M. Craig, Bedford Street, forfeited $6.45 bond after he was arrested by Troper Glenn D. Folk Monday on a charge of passing a school bus discharging passengers on Route 40 at LaVale.

Arthur D. Amstutz, 300 Pulaski Street, forfeited $6.45 bond on a charge of exceeding 30 miles at Bowling Green. He was arrested Monday by Trooper William McElfish.

Edward F. Malloy, Mt. Savage, forfeited the same bond on a charge of exceeding 30 miles in LaVale. Trooper McElfish preferred charges Monday.

John B. Warner, Route 5, forfeited $11.45 bond on a charge of driving without an operator's license at Fairgo. He was arrested Tuesday by Trooper G. M. Rotruck.

Wendell H. Perrill, Tunnelton, W. Va., forfeited $11.45 bond on a charge of exceeding 50 miles at Danville.

Paul D. Hansell, 613 Oldtown Road, forefited $6.45 bond on a charge of passing on a curve at Cresaptown. All three of the above were arrested by Trooper Rotruck.

Robert W. Elliott, Cresaptown, forfeited $6.45 bond after he was charged with driving at a speed greater than reasonable, on Route 220 at Cresaptown, yesterday.

Kenneth E. Gray, Corriganville, was fined $5.75 last night after he pleaded guilty to a charge of parking on the highway at the Celanese plant.

John W. Donnelly, 465 Spruce Street, Westernport, was fined $5.75 last night after he pleaded guilty to the same charge. Trooper Barton preferred charges in the four above cases.

A. G. Warren, 1505 Race Street, Philadelphia, forfeited $11.45 bond on a charge of exceeding 50 miles at Rawlings, and Raymond G. Wilson, 47 Blakiston Avenue, forfeited $11.45 bond when charged with exceeding 50 at Bowling Green, Troper Rotruck preferred charges against both.

Corriganville Votes For Street Lights

The Corriganville Improvement Association last night went on record in favor of installing street lights in the community, according to Joseph C. Stuckey, association president.

Stuckey said the association hopes to have Corriganville incorporated under a charter form of government and that money to pay for the street lights would be raised through taxes on assessable property.

The proposal to incorporate Corriganville will be submitted to the county delegation at Annapolis at a later date, Stuckey said.

The next meeting of the association will be held February 26 in the Reformed church hall at Corriganville.

Henry Hart Post Membership Now 1782 For 1947

Henry Hart Post No. 1411 Veterans of Foreign Wars membership now totals 1,782, for 1947, according to Post Commander Raymond Reynolds following Tuesday night's meeting when a number of applications were approved. The post expects to have more than 2,000 members enrolled before the year ends.

Reynolds announced that a special meeting of the post will be held tonight at 7:30 for the purpose of organizing a softball team, and a pistol and rifle team. Harold Hipsley, athletic director, and James E. Stemple, assistant athletic director of the post, will be in charge of the meeting.

All members of the post who are interested in sports, especially in softball, baseball, etc., are urged to attend this special meeting, Commander Reynolds said. The post expects to sponsor teams in city leagues, he explained, and the large membership indicates that sufficient material should be available for an outstanding team among the younger veterans.

Curtis MacA. Kime has charge of forming the pistol and rifle team.

Following the special meeting, a buffet luncheon will be served.

Ridgeley Sisters Get Susnended Sentences In Shoplifting Case

A trio of Ridgeley, W. Va., young women admitted in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday afternoon that they were guilty of shoplifting, and were sentenced to 90 days in the County Jail, but the sentence was suspended on condition that they remain out of Cumberland for the duration of the suspension.

The women, who moved to Ridgeley from Baltimore a short time ago and once resided near Elkins, W. Va., said they took a portable radio from the local Montgomery Ward store and a dress from Rosenbaum's. They told Magistrate Bruce they intended to keep the articles and did not intend to dispose of them.

Given the suspended sentences were Marie Fansler, Betty Fansler and Mrs. Irene Moore. They were severely reprimanded by the magistrate before being released. Mrs. Moore is the mother of a three-month-old child.

MURRELL WILL HEAD RIDGELEY CAMPAIGN

Jack Murrell, Ridgeley, commander of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, will direct Ridgeley's participation in the 1947 Red Cross fund campaign in this area, according to Mrs. Ferman H. Moreland, chairman of the Ridgeley branch of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Ridgeley's quota in the campaign will be $375. The total goal for Allegany county is $29,560. Murrell said last night that he will appoint committees within a few days to make plans for the campaign, which will be held March 1 to 10.

Murrell, a salesman in the merchandise department of the Potomac Edison Company, served as a first lieutenant in the Ninth Air Force, and was overseas 15 months. Pilot of a C-47 cargo plane, he was shot down over Holland and was a prisoner of war for six weeks before escaping from a hospital, contacting the Dutch underground organization and eventually making his way back to Allied lines.

Coin Club Will Be Incorporated Soon

Final plans for incorporating the Western Maryland Coin Club were made at the regular meeting last night at Central YMCA, and an application for a charter will be sent to Annapolis, according to Holmes H. Cessna, one of the three incorporators.

The other incorporators are William L. Wilson, Jr., and Russell R. Wagner. Three new members were accepted at the meeting, Herman J. Miller, Wilson, and Fred Driscoll.

Cessna said that William L. Wilson, Sr., chairman of the committee making arrangements for a hobby show to be held March 27-30 under the sponsorship of the club, will hold special meetings within the next few weeks to complete preliminary plans.

Transparent mirrors developed by Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company are made by bombarding chrome to glass, coating it with a film so thin it would take 11,000 such coats to equal the thickness of newsprint.

Textile Workers Plan Installation

The installation of officers of Celanese Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, will be held Friday, February 28, at 7:30 p. m. at the union hall, 34 North Mechanic street, Lewis "Red" Chaney, acting chairman of the Special Activities Committee of the union, announced yesterday.

Following the installation, a dance wil be held in Woodmen Hall, Union street, from 9 p. m. to 2 a. m. with music by Bill Gray's orchestra, Chaney said.

All but four positions were decided early this month after returns from the election were counted. A run-off election for other posts ended early this morning.

Elected on the first balloting were William Boyd Coleman, president; Earl Snyder, vice president; John G. Thomas, business manager; Joseph J. Barley, recording secretary; Clarence Barnhart, warden. Roy T. Craze, Stephen Cesnick, William Starkey, Charles E. Jones and Richard Boyden, board of trustees, and Howard "Red" Bush and William E. Meagher, executive board, and John F. Patkin and James Boyland, auditing committee.

Candidates in the run-off were Robert Baker, Arthur Green, Carl Hinkle, James Martin, Albert Starkey and George Zeigler, for the three executive board posts, and Ernest Madden and Addis Wilson for the third member on the auditing group.

Crash Victim Improves

The condition of Dr. Robert W. Rice, 41, 511 Decatur street, who was injured in an automobile crash early Tuesday morning, was reported "good" in Allegany Hospital yesterday.

Police said the car operated by Dr. Rice, of the Cumberland Dental Laboratory, struck a parking meter and then crashed against a telephone pole on North Mechanic street. He was admitted to the hospital for observation after treatment for lacerations of the forehead and neck.

District WSCS To Hold Annual Meeting Feb. 28

Two Guest Speakers To Feature Program

The annual meeting of the Hagerstown District of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church will be held, February 28 in Centre Street Methodist Church.

There will be two guest speakers, Miss Bessie K. VanScyoc, superintendent of the McCrum Community House, Uniontown, Pa., and D. Stewart Patterson, executive secretary of the Methodist Commission on Chaplains, Washington, D. C.

Miss VanScyoc will address the morning session. She is a home missionary for the Methodist church and prior to her mission work in Uniontown, she spent several years in Arizona.

Mr. Patterson will give an address on "Stewardship", which is the emphasis of the year in the Methodist Church, at the afternoon session.

The program will also include solo selections by Rev. James Richards of First Methodist Church, city; and a group of the women of the WSCS of Trinity Methodist Church will enact a religious playlet, "Stewardship Ceremony."

Mrs. John G. Cook, Frostburg, district president will preside at the meetings, which include a district board meeting at 9:30 and the general session at 10 o'clock. The theme of the meeting is "Thy Kingdom Come on Earth."

Reports will be given by Mrs. Cook, Mrs. S. B. Williams, Martinsburg, district treasurer and Mrs. E. F. Phillips, city, district promotion secretary.

Dr. Walter Marion Michael will extend greetings from his church and Mrs. Harry B. Simpson, president of the WSCS of the host church, will give the welcome. Devotionals will be conducted by Mrs. B. Ralph Mark, district secretary of Spiritual Life. Other pastors contributing to the program will be Rev. William F. Wright, Hagerstown, district superintendent; and prayers by Rev. Watson E. Holley, First Methodist Church, Frostburg; and Rev. Louis P. Chastain, Rawlings Circuit.

There will be a consecration service closing the morning session and will be directed by Mrs. Samuel E. Rose, conference promotion secretary. She will give the challenge and prayer assisted by the district officers. The Centre Street WSCS will serve as hostesses for the day.

Mrs. Elsie Kilroy Is Re-Elected CTP President

May Get-To-Gether To Be Held At Dinner

The Women's Division of the Cooperative Traffic Program elected officers and celebrated it's 13th anniversary Tuesday night at the Queen City Hotel, with Mrs. Elsie Kilroy presiding and Miss Mildred Dreschler, special representative of the CTP from Baltimore, as honor guest.

Miss Dreschler conducted the election, at which time Mrs. Kilroy, president; Mrs. Pearl Bachman, vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Nave, financial secretary and Mrs. Mary Conn, recording secretary, were reelected to office. Mrs. Virginia Brant was elected treasurer.

Plans were formulated to have Miss Dreschler return to officiate at the installation March 18; it was decided to have the May get-together in thef orm of a dinner at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club instead of the usual luncheon; and Mrs. Elizabeth Nave was named chairman for the March meeting.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Kilroy reading a poem, "In the Morning," which stressed the need of God in one's heart in the morning if one hopes to have a successful day.

Mrs. Nave reported the club gained 21 new members during the year, not counting the three enrolled Tuesday night; and that there are 112 members in good standing. The new members are Mrs. C. T. Lindell, Mrs. C. T. Carney and Mrs. Blanch McKnight; Mrs. Kilroy and Mrs. Conn in giving their reports gave a resume of activities of the year.

Speaking of the CTP, Miss Dreschler discussed it's origin and purpose, and explained that the charter organization was formed in Baltimore by the B. and O. through the superintendents' office who at that timew as Hice Laughlin, Margaret Talbot Stevens, Baltimore, who is now B. and O. research librarian, came to Cumberland January 24, 1934 to organize the local unit at a mass meeting. The first official meeting was held February 19, 1934.

Mrs. J. F. Barnett, now of Washington, D. C., was the first president; Miss Lillian Judy, now Mrs. G. W. Eichner, city, secretary; and Miss Shirley Romiser, now of Baltimore, treasurer.

Miss Dreschler stressed the fact that the purpose of the CTP was to solicite and secure business and the CTP group did only that except at Christmas time and in case of furloughs, then they collected old toys, had thef urloughed men do them over and later distributed them to neey B. and O. families. Money was also raised to purchase coal and groceries for the needy B. and O. families during the depression.

Mrs. George Wenrick, Mrs. Clarence Kennedy and Mrs. George Arbogast, charter member were presented, and a musical program presented by a string band from the Stewart studio.

During the social hour handkerchiefs and Valentines were exchanged and Mrs. Kennedy cut the large birthday cake, which carried out the Valentine theme in red and white, with the CTP emblem adorning it and "Happy Birthday" inscribed on the side. The base was also decorated with red and white carnations which were presented to the president, special representativ and chartr members. It was also repeated in the heart favors. Sixty-three members attended.

Black Lingerie Debunked By Prof.

NEW YORK, (AP)—Following reports that men shoppers bought more black "undides" for American women last Christmas than ever before, a Long Island professor of psychology has declared that "ladies in black lingerie are not particularly alluring."

Admitting that a contrary belief appears to be widely held, Dr. Douglas Spencer, of Queens Village, Flushing, New York, added: "In fact, black lingerie sometimes makes women look dirty."

He explained that black makes objects seem thinner because no light rays are refracted, but that the idea of jet-colored undergarments being "sexy" had been implanted by designes.

"A beautiful and curvaceous female in a black nightgown might be considered glamorous," Dr. Douglas said. "But the same girl, beautiful and well-rounded, would be glamorous in pink or white or blue or yellow. It's the girl, not the gown that counts."

Hadassah Names Nominating And Other Committees

Cumberland Chapter of Hadassah named a Nominating committee and a Donor Dinner committee at the meeting Tuesday night in B'er Chayim temple, with Mrs. Jack Yankelevitz presiding.

Mrs. Louis Sider was named chairman of the Nominating committee which includes Mrs. George Waingold and Mrs. Louis Lutz. They will give their report at the meeting March 10.

Plans were also discussed for the Donor dinner, to be held sometime in May. The committee in charge of arrangements consists of Mrs. Samuel Jacobson, Mrs. Marvin Kaplon, Mrs. Lutz, Mrs. David Kauffman, Mrs. Norman Pliner, Mrs. Harold Marx and Mrs. Yankelevitz. Tentative plans are to have the dinner in the newly redecorated vestry room.

Tentative plans were also formulated for a rummage sale and the Jewish National fund card party.

Junior Woman's Civic Club Plans Monthly Party

The Junior Woman's Civic Club, co-sponsoring a Young Adult program with Central YMCA, held its first party Tuesday night and formulated plans for one each month and a square dance after Easter.

Approximately 50 guests attended the affair, which included dancing in the "fiesta" room, cards, bowling, ping pong, and swimming.

Mrs. John McMurray won high prize for bridge; Miss Ann Mooney, Robert Stein, other games and Robert Gross, bowling.

The program is for all young people over 21 years of age.

The American-built, British-owned ship, James Baines, is credited with setting an all-time sailing-speed record when she reputedly hit 21 nautical miles an hour and held the pace for several hours.

Purple Heart To Mark Washington's Birthday

Wreath To Be Placed In City Hall Tomorrow

George Washington's birthday will be observed by the Ladies Auxiliary Order of the Purple Heart and the chapter tomorrow. A wreath will be placed in the rotunda of the city hall at 7 tomorrow night and a program will be presented at the home afterwards. There will also be a display in Schwarzenbach's window for a few days, beginning today.

Mrs. Anna Kirby and Mrs. Joanna Weimer, two gold star mothers, will make the presentation of the wreath at the city hall, in behalf of the organization. The public is invited to attend the ceremony, which will also be witnessed by Mayor Post and members of the Chapter and Auxiliary.

At 8 o'clock the program will be presented at the home. It will include patriotic selections by Phyllis McKenzie, Carol Jean Marker, accordianists; and Kenneth McKenzie on the marimba. There will also be various readings pertaining to the life of Washington, given by members of the Auxiliary.

A social hour will conclude the meeting and refreshments will be served. Mrs. Ada Hamburg is chairman of arrangements. Her committee includes Mrs. Mary Brinkman, Mrs. Berdella Leib and Mrs. Margaret Pownell.

The display in Schwarzenbachs will include a national flag, the Purple Heart banner, a picture of Washington, the Purple Heart prayer and charters of the Chapter and Auxiliary as well as several Purple Heart medals.

Cheese Test

A very sensitive test for detecting un-pasteurized milk in Cheddar cheese has been developed by dairy specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It doesn't matter how old the cheese is. If as little as one pound of raw milk in two thousand pounds get by without the proper treatment in the pasteurization process, this new test can detect it.

The fourth and fifth grades of the West Side School entertained their parents and fellow pupils, yesterday afternoon with a program consisting of songs, poems, dances and dramatics. The program was in honor of Washington and Valentine day.

State Teachers Not To Have Summer School

There will not be a summer session this year at Frostburg State Teachers College. The decision was made at a meeting of the presidents of the three Maryland state teachers colleges earlier in the month, with Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Baltimore.

Miss Lillian Compton, president of the Frostburg college, quoted Dr. Pullen as saying that this does not mean permanent discontinuation of summer school at Frostburg. It is possible that at some future time a summer school at Frostburg will be deemed feasible, even though the other state teacher colleges maintain no summer school.

Marriage Announced

The marriage of Miss Josephine Bennett to Theodore P. Albright, son of Mrs. Pearl Albright, Cash Valley, and the late William Albright, has been announced by Mr. and Mrs. Osburn Bennett, Chaneysville, Pa., parents of the bride.

The ceremony was performed February 13, in the parsonage of Centre Street Methodist Church, with Rev. Walter Marion Michael officiating.

Mr. Albright, recently discharged from the Army, is employed by the Celanese.

Emmanuel WSCS Plan Participation In Three Affairs

The Women's Society of Christian Service of Emmanuel Methodist Church formulated plans for participation in various activities, later this month, at the meeting Tuesday night, in the Sunday school room.

Mrs. Alice Trout presided and Mrs. Anna Zimmerly led the devotions on the topic, "Your Master Proclaims." At the business session it was decided to take part in the World Day of Prayer service, Friday, in Trinity Church and also to attend the district meeting in Centre Street Church, February 28.

Plans were also formulated to serve the luncheon for the regular meeting of the Methodist Ministers Association and their wives. Mrs. Regina Sulser is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

A short missionary study on "Children of One World," was conducted by Mrs. Nettie Gerard, assisted by Mrs. Opal Simpson and Mrs. Bertha Cover.

The next meeting will be held March 17 in the church.

O.U.R. Class Buys Sanctuary Vases

The O. U. R. Class of Cresaptown Methodist Church met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Louis P. Chastain, and received a report that the class has purchased vases and ivy for the sanctuary of the church. It was also suggested that the different Sunday school classes put fresh flowers in the sanctuary each Sunday.

Mrs. Marguerite Sindy presided and Miss Evelyn May conducted the prayer group with each member participating.

A recreational hour followed the meeting and Valentine games were played. Prizes were won by Miss Helen Lechliter, Miss Catherine Rotruck and Mrs. Betty Simpson. The Valentine motif was repeated also in the decorations of the refreshment table. Mrs. Frances Walston and Miss May were co-hostesses with Mrs. Chastain.

Other members present were Arbutis Miller, Virginia VanMeter, Beryl Horton, Beulah Feight, Elizabeth Higgs, Virginia Krnaya, Marguerite Richardson, Frances Powell, Sensony Powell, Catherine Sindy, Ruth Biever, and Mary Lewis. Rev. Louis P. Chastain and Ronald Feight were guests.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Sensony Powell, teacher.

Woman's Sport Club Plans Easter Party, Has Dinner

The Woman's Sport Club held its annual dinner for retiring officers and a short business session, Tuesday night at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, with Mrs. Anne Everline presiding.

Tentative plans were discussed for the Easter party, and Mrs. Edward Diehl, Mrs. Eugene Gerkins and Mrs. Alvin Serf, Jr., named the Entertainment committee. Mrs. Patricia Maloney was admitted as a member.

Corsages of spring flowers were presented to the honor guests and smaller ones given as favors to each guest. The same theme was carried out in the iris and jonquils and tapers centering the table.

Cards featured the entertainment during the evening with prizes won by Miss Marguerite Mullan, Miss Beatrice Smith, Mrs. Harry Cole, Mrs. Serf, Mrs. Frederick Palmer, Miss Elizabeth Hoover, and Mrs. Donald Knieriem.

Miss Mary Joan Hartman, Miss Helen Hardinger and Mrs. W. Ewald Ruehl were in charge of arrangements.

RADIO IN REVIEW

INNOCENTS IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 19—The nation's two most popular art forms, radio and the movies, are owned and controlled by New York front offices and New York banks but the creative processes are highly concentrated in this land of the Lotos. The centralization of culture has had a sweeping and possibly uplifting effect on our exteriors—our women's clothes, out interior decorations, our speech and our mannerisms. Its effect on our thinking is, at best, questionable.

Ossie Nelson

In the long run, radio programs and movies originate with the writers, and Hollywood is not a good place for writers. As a matter of fact, the concentration of the nation's best writers in any American city is hardly a good idea; in Hollywood it's particularly bad. There is a state of mind about southern California, not necessarily an evil one but a pervasive one. An idea born in this balmy, mild, damp climate comes out in pastel shades. Honeysuckle gets into a writer's prose, sticks to the adverbs, smells up the plots. The same idea born in New York, where the subways are crowded, the gin is strong and the golf courses, for all practical purposes non-existent, is more vigorous, possibly uglier but certainly sharper. There's nothing the matter with the California brand of idea (John Steinbeck is an excellent example of the pastel-shaded writer who has done magnificently with the California idea), except that if all the writers gravitate out here, our ideas will become lopsided.

Perhaps the easiest but also the most unfair example of this localization of ideas is the Hollywood reference, that is, Hollywood and Vine, the Brown Derby, the Hollywood smog, the Hollywood automobile accident rate. Actually, all good radio writers and producers strain valiantly to avoid this sort of thing. But the Hollywood state of mind is difficult and perhaps impossible to avoid.

A prominent radio producer pointed out that nothing happens to writers out here, at least nothing resembling the experiences of people outside Hollywood. The writers' options are picked up or dropped; their swimming pools are completed or not completed; their horses run the wrong way at Santa Anita. But the writers are so insulated from cold, hunger and poverty that the struggle for existence, which motivates most of us, is remote Consequently, the problems of most radio programs are either very tiny (Ozzie ate too much Christmas dinner) or out-size ("He's got the secret formula for the atom bomb. If we don't head him off, New York City will be in ruins by morning.")

You can't make up what happens to the boy next door unless you have had some experiences with the boy next door. Out here, the boy next door is likely to be another writer. Radio producers, I find, at least the good ones, are as conscious of this as anyone else. A producer who had better be nameless, informs me that his search for good radio writers is constant and heartbreaking. Writers, he says, are interested in their contracts and in their salaries but not in their work. For obvious reasons, they are eager to please the producer but an eagerness to please is hardly conducive to real creative writing.

This is the logical result of the radio writing system. Since a script is a collaborative job with four or five writers, a producer, a comedian and sometimes the guest star all contributing ideas, the individual writer's interest in the total work is not that of, say, a novelist whose novel is entirely his own. Also, the writer gets no credit outside the trade in spite of the fact that no actor could exist without nim.

Radio writers, I find, are neurotic, keen-witted specialists. Their appreciation of writing is highly developed. Just as an engineer sees more in a bridge than you or I, they see more in a joke than you or I. Writers at a Jack Benny rehearsal, I discovered, laughed harder at their own jokes than anyone else. If there were any gags in that scrip (and it was a very funny script), that failed to amuse the average listener, I'm sure Mr. Benny's writers could have explained to him with overpowering logic why the joke was funny and why he should have laughed.

They are specialists, you see, living in a world of other specialists, in a land far removed from most people who hear them. Their contcat with the listener is a set of figures, a Hooper rating, or a sales chart, which tells them nothing about the hopes, the interests, the fears, the joys, the sorrows of the world outside.

Fellowship Of Prayer

Daily Lenten Devotional

Prepared by
DR. VERE V. LOPER

DIVINE PRESENCE

Father, into Thy hands I commend my spirit; Luke 23:46. Read John 17:20-23.

Prayer was a house of a thousand candles for the Master. Prayer was a voice from Heaven saying, "this is my beloved son." Prayer was the beauty of a flower, finer than the glory of a Solomon. Prayer was radiant comradeship in thought shared with a father.

These experiences were the most precious in the life of Jesus, and he longed to share them fully with us. The Gospel of John carries us deeply into his heart. The curtains are drawn aside from his inner aspirations and we see him pleading with God that we also may know this most sublime of all experiences—conscious oneness with God. As we come to know this deep yearning in his heart to bring God into the life of men, we understand better his willingness to bear the cross.

LET US PRAY: Eternal companion, we have become sensitive to thy voice in the stillness of the forest. We have lingered with thee beside a mountain lake. We have known thee in quiet meditation by the fireside. We have felt thy presence in the shadows of dawn. We have seen thy face in men made in thy image. We have been at one with thee. We pray for the deepening of this sense of unity. Amen.

Cupid May Save French Stowaway

MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 19, (AP)—An attractive, 19-year-old blonde-haired French woman who stowed away on an American steamship has been ordered sent back to France, but a Baltimore seaman has informed immigration authorities here he plans to bring her back to the United States—as his wife.

Charles S. Price, chairman of a special board of inquiry for the United States Immigration Service, said the board had ordered the exclusion of the young woman, Emilie Beyer, 20, from this country and her deportation to France. He said the decision was subject to review in Washington.

A seaman who gave his name as Emil Abent, of Baltimore, told the board at its hearing that he intended to return to France, where he would marry her and then seek passport for her entry into the United States as the wife of an ex-serviceman. He said he had served in the Seabees.

Miss Beyer, from Rouen, France, arrived here aboard the SS James Gunn last week. She told authorities a brother and sister and three other close relatives were killed during one World War II bombing raid and that her mother had since died.

September Issue

LONDON, Feb. 19, (AP) — Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin announced today that Britain probably would not refer the Palestine question to the United Nations until September, that she would make no recommendations as to the solution, and that Palestine immigration would remain for the time being at 1,500 Jews a month.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh
Where Cissy Spent Her Honeymoon
Most of the young newlyweds in our town spend their honeymoon at Roundstone Lake or Jackson Falls; why the Martins even went as far as New York City.
But when Cissy Cupper married the young Carter boy, they allowed as how they were going to spend their honeymoon right here.
"There's no place better than our town," Cissy says. "And I'd like to start married life at home, with things Bud and I are used to."
Makes sense, come to think of it. Folks naturally left them alone; and except for occasional visits to the Garden Tavern for a glass of beer, they stayed at home, getting used to married bliss.
My missus prefers traveling—and that's her right. But from where I sit, there's no place better for a honeymoon—or second honeymoon—than right at home—with your own possessions, good home cooking, and a friendly glass of beer or two—with the best companion in the world.

Another in a Series by Phineas Q. Twitch, Eminent Economist
1 Sell your electric refrigerator to the junkman, and get back some of the money you wasted on it. Besides taking up too much room, it costs you about 5 cents a day to run. This substantial saving will help balance your budget these days of rising costs. Of course, without refrigeration, food will spoil—but that can easily be avoided by eating out of cans. Or by not eating at all. This will undoubtedly build up your character, though it may break down your physique.
2 Donate your electric sewing machine to an orphanage, and start stitching by hand. Of course, it takes a lot of time. And maybe it is a little hard on the eyes. But, just think, you'll save one whole penny for every eight hours your sewing machine doesn't run. Anyway, Grandma made the family clothes by hand. Why can't you?
3 Turn off your radio during the Electric Hour—"Hour of Charm"—every Sunday afternoon at 4:30 over CBS, EST. In this way, of course, you'll miss the All-Girl Orchestra under the direction of Phil Spitalny, with Evelyn and Her Magic Violin—but you'll actually save one-sixth of a penny every time you do! In two years this self-sacrifice on your part will have saved you the price of a pack of cigarettes!

● Watch for more of these practical, money-saving suggestions by Dr. Twitch. He really knows his subject. We hope he'll help you realize how many jobs electricity does for you, and how little it costs.

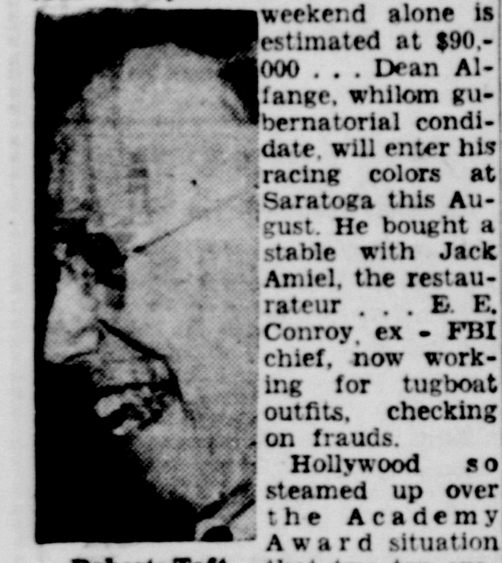
MANHATTAN MEMORANDA

Miami Beach holding its first Jefferson Day dinner Feb. 28, with 1,000 guests paying $250 per plate. Jefferson's anniversary, of course, isn't until April, but Miami couldn't wait. Attorney General Tom Clark will be principal speaker . . . Miami Beach costume jewelry salesmen having a field day peddling substitute baubles to ladies who are afraid to wear the real thing because of the epidemic of holdups and burglaries. Mary Kirk Brown's mother was robbed of $72,000 in gems and has been bedded since from a nervous collapse. The take for last weekend alone is estimated at $90,000 . . . Dean Alfange, whilom gubernatorial condidate, will enter his racing colors at Saratoga this August. He bought a stable with Jack Amiel, the restaurateur . . . E. E. Conroy, ex - FBI chief, now working for tugboat outfits, checking on frauds.



Robert Taft

Hollywood so steamed up over the Academy Award situation that two top executives had to be separated after throwing punches over the relative merits of Olivia de Havilland and Rosalind Russell . . . Dave Selznick so far has made 40 cuts in "Duel in the Sun" to placate the Legion of Decency . . . The national magazine which was too timid to consider a profile on James Petrillo may be interested to learn that his phiz will grace the front cover of a trade sheet's issue . . . New Yorkers amused at Arthur Schlesinger's description of Senator Taft's "receding hair line" in a current national weekly. Just how far can a hair line recede? . . . After two years of struggle, "This Month" magazine folded and a quarter of a million dollars went down the drain . . . The Joseph Lewis who wrote "Tom Paine, Author of the Declaration of Independence" (thereby hoping to stir up a controversy) is a brother of Broadway haberdasher Nat Lewis.

Wendell Berge, protegee of Thurman Arnold, will be the next and last of the aggressive New Deal trust-busters to quit the Justice Department. Now he'll privately defend the biggies who fear trust-busting procedures . . . A film and camera concern will be making news along this line soon . . . Whatever other result may be obtained, the State Department won't be able to get a Crosley or Hooper rating on those radio programs beamed to Russia in hopes of penetrating the iron curtain. According to the N. Y. Times, only 500,000 citizens of the Soviet's 197,000,000 population have received sets. As the French might say, "Il n'y a pas de la peine" (What's the use?) . . . Lin Yutang, who has become so disgusted with the situation in China that he has vowed to write only about ancient Chinese history, will have excerpts of his new, untitled book in the UN Magazine for March, all about a dictatorship set up in China in the year 1066.

Kirsten Flagstad, whose postwar concerts in the European capitals have been sensationally successful, will sing at Chicago's Orchestra Hall April 11 . . . Lauritz Melchior, her former sidekick at the Met, will sing at the Horace Mann School for Boys Feb. 27 to benefit the scholarship fund. His godson, Laurence Schadur, is a student there . . . Incidentally, whatever became of Melchior's 3,000-acre estate at Chossiwitz, Germany? . . . Balletomanes will be interested in Merle Armitage's "Dance Memoranda," edited by Edwin Corle, which Duell, Sloan & Pearce is publishing Feb. 20. A veritable cavalcade of the dance, ranging from Isadora Duncan to Martha Graham, Nijinsky to Jerome Robbins, with profuse illustrations, some of them museum pieces by now . . . Christine Ell, once of the Provincetown Players, is making a comeback in pictures, after 27 years of retirement, in Charlie Chaplin's movie, "Monsieur Verdoux."

Ellen Drew, West Coasters tell me, will move right up into the glamour brackets with Rita Hayworth, Lana Turner, et al, after the release of "Johnny O'Clock." . . . Victor Moore comes into his own in pictures with "It Happened on Fifth Avenue," to be released in April. . . Joan McCracken draws the lead in the movie of "Good News," remembered as one of Broadway's most delightful musical comedies . . . Loretta Dennison, former "Ziegfield Follies" beauty who quit the stage for cosmetic business, has been appointed manager of Saks Fifth Avenue's beauty department in Beverly Hills . . . The Broadway wags are saying that Leo Durocher contemplates doing a column to be called "My Day." . . . Frank Costello's friends—and this is no gag—are trying to get him interested in starting an art collection.

Listen World

GROWING OLD

When hedges began to redden and the mornings were crusted with frost, we youngsters used to go down to the old orchard.

The old orchard was a disreputable sort of affair. There were no orderly files of trees, no well spaded earth. Evidently this had been the junk heap for the whole farm Things were planted here by happenstance and if they lived or died, no one cared much. You'll find such old orchards on many a farm, and they are never a commercial asset.

There are peaches in them and there are runty pears, plums and cherries and apricots. And there are apples too. Little wrinkled apples that you could never buy in any store. Apples sunk deep in the moist autumnal soil. Maybe they'd sprout next year and maybe they wouldn't, but one thing was sure—they were the sweetest apples that ever grew.

I have eaten very special chow at very fancy tables but I have never tasted anything like the little wrinkled apples in the old orchard. There was a fragrance to them and a tang such as I've never found at the grandest banquet.

I think it must have taken the whole year to become like that. . . from the first green bud to the spreading bloom, through all the ripening phases of its fruitage. Of course you have to have bees to make an apple like that. . . and moonlight. . . . and deep grass. . and a lot of neglect. For pampered apples never taste like that. Pampered apples, to my mind, are a rather unworthy fruit. They taste like an overstuffed davenport. There is neither flavor nor fragrance to them. They are just apples. Something you sell.

But we never sold the little wrinkled apples that we found in the deep grass of the old orchard. I doubt if the oldsters ever knew of them. They were sort of a private possession of us children and we bit into them with delight.

And now that I am getting along myself, I am remembering those apples. What a pity that we human folks can't grow old like that-sweet and mellow with all the experiences of our years. Wrinkled a bit by grief, perhaps, but all the more flavorful for it. . . scarred by hurt and loss, maybe, but deeper in our understanding because of it.

Little wrinkled apples, lying in the deep grass of the old orchard. Why can't we all go like that? Mellowed by our seasons. Flavored by our knowledge. Spiced by the risks we have taken and the experiments we have made. Little old apples that no one would buy but which hold the hearty beauty of a whole harvest. What a good end that would be!

Clean Old Galoshes

Don't throw away a good pair of galoshes, just because the inside is dirty and likely to ruin your hose. The lining can be cleaned as easily as the outside bffy turning the overshoes inside out and dunking in a tub of warm soapy water and letting them soak a few minutes. Then with a small, fairly soft brush, scrub over the entire lining. Rinse thoroughly and dry away from sunlight or direct heat.

Court Reviews Case Involving Widow's Property

Decision Withheld In Kaefer Estate

No decision has been reached in the case of Mrs. Eleanor Kaefer, 721 Greene street, protesting the proposed sale of her home by the Second National Bank, trustee of the estate of her husband, who died in 1946.

The hearing on the petition opened before Chief Judge William A. Huster and Associate Judge George Henderson in Circuit Court yesterday, but at the request of attorneys, was removed to the judges' chambers. The Court spent some time questioning attorneys in the case, trying to find out what it was all about.

According to Edward J. Ryan, attorney for the petitioner, Mrs. Catherine Kaefer, mother of Frederick Kaefer, left an "ambiguous" will in which she named the bank as administrator and trustee of her $15,000 estate. Mrs. Kaefer died April 30, 1946.

Wanted To Provide For Son

It was explained that Frederick Kaefer was confined in the Sykesville Sanitarium for a certain period but that following the death of his mother he was allowed to return home and died November 28, 1946.

In preparing her will, the late Mrs. Kaefer endeavored to provide for the security of her son and his family by providing the home at 721 Greene street for him free of all costs and $35 a month for him until the transfer of the estate from the executors.

The will also provided for $25 a month for each of three children, Frederick, Jr., Betty Jane and Paul, and upon the death of her son and upon the youngest grandson becoming 21 years of age, the trust is to be terminated and proceeds be distributed to the legal heirs. The oldest child is six, and since the death of Mrs. Kaefer a fourth child was born.

Change of Duties

According to Harry I. Stegmaier, attorney for the bank, the administration of the estate has now been completed and the bank has entered upon its duties as trustee for the Kaefer family.

Stegmaier told the court the bank deemed it advisable to sell the property on Greene Street in order to provide the three children named in the will with $25 a month. The attorney also said that the property on Greene Street was "burdensome" in that it required considerable repair work and inasmuch as some damage had been done. It was cited that all the windows in the house were broken on one occasion.

In presenting his case and asking that the bank be prevented from selling the home, Ryan this morning termed the will "ambiguous" and said that Mrs. Kaefer never intended that her son's family should have the roof sold from over their heads and the family "turned out in the street."

The court interrogated Ryan at some length in requesting him to state specifically why he regarded the will as "ambiguous" and also asked the petitioners to provide precedents and law to enlighten the court.

Responsible To Children

While Judge Henderson said he was not questioning Ryan's "law" in the presentation of his case, he stated he was questioning the bank's "principle" in selling the home in view of the present housing shortage.

Judge Henderson said that in his opinion "the bank is responsible to the children as trustee and a woman with four children is going to have an awful time finding another place to live if her home is sold."

Stegmaier told the court that the Greene Street home was a "wasting property" and that in the bank's opinion the family could best be served by the sale of the house with the purchase price to be added to the trustee fund for the support of the children.

Ryan contended this morning that according to the will, the property was conveyed in fee simple to Frederick Kaefer but told the bench "however, it's your problem."

Authority Is Given

Ryan contended that the bank's interpretation of the will as meaning that it could sell the property was not in line with the purpose of the late Mrs. Kaefer in making the will although it was noted in a reading of the will that the bank, as trustee, is given authority to take any action it deems advisable for the best interests of the family.

Most of the morning was taken up by the questioning of the court in its search for something specific to rule on with the bench indicating that the burden of the proof is on the petitioner.

At one point Chief Judge William A. Huster indicated that the courts "hands might be tied" in the matter since the administration of the estate has now been completed and bank, as trustee, is pursuing the policy it considers conducive to the best interests to the heirs.

In Hands of Bank

It was noted in the reading of the will that the responsibility was left almost solely in the hands of the bank with practically no responsibility relegated to the son, during his lifetime, to the wife upon the death of Frederick Kaefer or to the children.

With the court pressing for more information as to why the respondents wish to dispose of the Greene Street property, Stegmaier, after stating that all the windows were broken on one occasion "from the inside", said he "had gone as far as he wished along this line in open court."

The case finally moved into the judges' chambers although at one point the bench indicated it was up to the petitioners and the respondents to "get together" on the question.

$2,210,622 PROFIT FOR QUARTER MADE BY PULP, PAPER CO.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—(AP)—West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company reported net income for the first quarter of the fiscal year ended January 31 of $2,210,622, equal to $2.45 per common share, compared with $1,112,404, or $1.23 per share for the average quarter of the preceding year.

Total sales for the quarter were up nearly 25 per cent, amounting to $20,188,589 as against a quarterly average of $16,802,982.

David L. Luke, Jr., president, announced at the annual stockholders meeting that earnings for the fiscal year 1946 represented a return of 8.6 per cent on capital employed, compared with a 3.9 per cent return in 1945.

The company negotiated a loan agreement with the Irving Trust Company, Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company, National City Bank, and Maryland Trust Company, in December which insures the company's ability to borrow up to $10,000,000 if and as required over the next four years, Luke announced.

The loans, if made, will be amortized in 10 years and will bear interest at the rate of 1¾ per cent.

Fort Ashby Firemen To Have Dance Friday

FORT ASHBY, W. Va., Feb. 19—The February Finance Committee of the Fort Ashby Volunteer Fire Company is sponsoring an all square dance Friday night of this week in the Fort Ashby VFW hall. The music will be furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Bevins and the Broome Brothers. This dance is open to the public.

The Fire company answered a call to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eldrige Baker Monday afternoon at 5:50 o'clock, approximately two miles west of Fort Ashby. The fire was confined to the kitchen and the loss was held to a minimum.

Extension Of "Inch" Pipe Lines Weighed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19. (AP) — Extension of the Big and Little "Inch" pipe lines to carry natural gas to Baltimore or New England is being weighed by the Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation, successful bidders on the government-built tubes.

The company's purchase proposal, made public by War Assets Administration today, reported that its $182,000,000 capitalization is based on selling gas at the Philadelphia-New Jersey and Appalachian termini, but added:

"The company may determine that it is economically desirable to market a portion of its gas in the metropolitan New York areas east of the Hudson River, in the New England area or in the Baltimore area."

These extensions would be costly, it was added, and "will be adopted only if the added revenues or other benefits to be obtained are deemed sufficient to justify the additional costs required."

Today's Talk

Better To Be Than Not

One of the great minds of this generation is that of Charles F. Kettering, the research genius for General Motors. In a recent talk before the students of Miami University he said: "We keep the iron curtain down on how much we don't know, which is practically everything." And here is another of his sayings: "Research means that you don't know but are willing to try to find out."

We are in the very infancy of knowledge. The most that we know is very, very little—next to nothing. The knowledge ahead, about which we now know nothing, is stupendous! What a challenge to the youth of the world! It has taken thousands of years to arrive at what is popularly termed "the Atomic Age." What is it going to mean in terms of human advancement—in terms of peace and individual security? What a vast field ahead for continual research, harnessing all to the betterment of mankind.

Never has the youth of the world been so blessed with opportunities. Never have so many doors been thrown wide open, with such invitations to enter. Only the laggard needs to fear—not the willing, the hopeful, and the one of courage.

It is so much better to be than not—at such a time as this, in which all the inherent qualities of mind and heart are called upon to be asserted. All Nature lies open, endless in its openings and opportunities, a field of operation so vast that but a mere handful of its secrets have yielded to the key of man's genius.

No matter what the circumstance of our being, here we are, and it is so much better to be than not to be. All mankind is companionable, if we earnestly and honestly seek the way to its heart. The world owes us nothing. Every single day of our lives we owe the world something, most of all our appreciation for being here, free to dig or to dip into its vast treasure-house of wealth and opportunity.

What a reception awaits those yet to be born! What are we doing to make it a better and more attractive place for them, in which to strive, to learn, and to be happy?

SENORA IS LEARING TO COOK U. S. STYLE FOR BRAZILIAN ARMY

AP Newsfeatures

Thei dea was conceived by her husband, a major in the Brazilian Army medical corps, who was sent here to study possible ways of bettering the Brazilian GI's diet. Dr. Azevedo explains it this way:

The Brazilian Army chiefs notified him they wanted a survey made of U. S. dietary habits.

"What would be the good," Dr. Azevedo told his superiors, "of recommending new North American foods to the Army if no one in Brazil knows how to cook them?"

Dr. Azevedo adds that his wife is a wonderful cook.

"When we get back home, I am expecting better meals than ever—with biscuits."

"In Brazil," the pretty senora says, "sugar and salt go together never. Sugar with us is for deserts."

About the foods in his own country, Dr. Azevedo says:

"We have a great abundance of foodstuffs and Brazilians are great eaters. Five times a day we eat big meals. But always it is the same—meat, fish and beans."

"Meat!" says Senora Azevedo. "Two families can eat a cow."

(AP) Newsfeatures

TULSA, OKLA.—Mrs. Bess Wilson who planned to become a "school marm," but instead became one of the first few women in the United States to head a police identification bureau, hs announced she plans to retire.

Mrs. Wilson became widely known to hundreds of southwestern police officers for her work at the Tulsa County bureau, but when she first got the job 16 years ago she said the men frowned on the idea of a woman doing that kind of work.

She started out as a night matron in the days when Tulsa bragged of its classy police bicycle squad. Taking up the study of fingerprinting as a hobby, Mrs. Wilson later was appointed chief of all such work done by police here. At that time the only other women holding down such a post were at Albany, N. Y., and Peoria, Ill., she said.

"It has been fun," Mrs. Wilson recalled commenting on the records of many criminals she has handled.

"My boys don't know it, but I have kept up with them through the years. Their prints are sent to the bureau for checking and that way I always knew where they were operating."

United States Selling 856 Locomotives Abroad

PARIS (AP)—The Office of the Foreign Liquidation Commissioner said 856 U. S. Army surplus locomotives, including 115 oil burners now in sercvice on French lines, were being offered for sale in Europe.

All prices will be less than 25 per cent of the original cost to the United States, the commissioner said. All the coal burners have been price tagged at $10,000 each. The bulk of the coal burners are stored in German yards at Frankfurt and Stuttgart.

Keyser Man Goes On Training Cruise

Richard F. Llewellyn, Keyser, W. Va., radioman second class, left Norfolk, Va., on Tuesday for a six-weeks' training cruise in Atlantic Fleet amphibious exercises, according to Lt. Comdr. Walter N. Hedrick, organizing officer of the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division.

Llewellyn, a veteran of 11 months' service aboard a LSM in the Pacific, was granted a military leave from the Celanese plant to make the cruise.

Four men have enlisted in the V-6 inactive Naval Reserve, according to Chief Torpedoman Edgar L. Schrader of the local recruiting station. They are:

Robert Franklin Blacker, 401 South Cedar Street, who has 28 months naval service.

William Vance Parker, Romney, W. Va., who has 31 months naval service.

Paul William Cook, 92 Highland Avenue, Wiley Ford, W. Va., who had two years naval service.

James Leslie Catenese, 106 Mullan Street, who had 31 months Army service. He is well-known as an amateur boxer.

Chief Schrader said that the recruiting office will be closed Saturday in observance of Washington's birthday.

Three Drivers Fined On State Charges

Three drivers were fined and two others forfeited bonds yesterday morning in Trial Magistrates Court for violating state motor laws.

Edward A. Ritchie, Spring Gap, paid $5.75 for speeding on Route 51 last Friday and Jesse Wilson Brotemarkle, 210 Laing Avenue, was fined $3.75 after pleading guilty to passing another vehicle near the top of Dingle Hill on Route 220 February 11.

A fine of $1.75 was imposed on Fred Grayson Potts, Route 6, this city, for operating a car without lights on Route 220 at Circle Inn on February 10.

Ritchie was arrested by State Trooper Robert D. Henline. Trooper W. L. Wilt apprehended Brotemarkle and Potts.

Louis E. Haus, Mt. Savage, who Trooper G. E. Coddington took into Custody Sunday on Route 35, forfeited $6.45 for exceeding 30 miles an hour, and Nathan B. Kinser, Clearville, Pa., forfeited $11.45 for driving without a license on Route 40 at Pleasant Grove on Monday. The latter was arrested by Trooper William F. Baker.

RUPTURE

Well-known expert of Indianapolis, and ex-U. S. Army Medical Corpsman, will personally demonstrate his method without charge at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, Cumberland, Saturday, February 22nd from 11 A. M. to 7 P. M.
Mr. Howe says the Howe method contracts the openings in remarkably short time on the average case, regardless of the size or location of the rupture, and no matter how much you lift or strain, and puts you back to work the same day as efficient as before you were ruptured.
The Howe Rupture Shield has no leg strap, waterproof, sanitary, practically indestrucitible, and can be worn while bathing. Each shield is skillfully molded and fitted to the parts under heat, which give a perfect fit and satisfaction.
Large and difficult ruptures following operations especially solicited.

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive
Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell
Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduces the red-blood strength — and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.
Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.
To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.
Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.
Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Stocks Take Swift Slide In Early Market Hours; Make Slow Recovery

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—(AP)—Stocks took a swift slide in the second hour of today's market and achieved only slight rebounds from their lows in slow dealings thereafter. Total transactions of 980,000 shares compared with 870,000 yesterday.

Short interest on the New York exchange on February 14 was at its hightest level in a year, totaling 1,046,797 shares, according to the report issued after the close of the market. The increase of 248,716 shares since January 15 was the largest rise in any month since April 29, 1938.

American Telephone moved narrowly and closed at 172, off ¼. Wider slides were registered by United States Rubber, down 1½ at 56¾; Goodrich, off at 1 at 70; United States Steel, 1 at 76⅛; Santa Fe, 1 at 93, United States Gypsum, 3 at 103; American Can, 1⅛ at 92⅜, and Texas Company, 1½ at 58½. Other losers included Chesapeake and Ohio, Pennsylvania Railroad, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Kennecott, North American, Allied Chemical, Union Carbide, General Electric, Standard Oil (NJ) and Air Reduction.

Johns-Manville climbed 3 points to 132½ after announcement of a proposed 3-for-1 stock split. Public Service of New Jersey was up fractionally on a raised dividend, while American Airlines and Glenn Martin also scored narrow advances.

Softer spots in the curb were Textron, Niles-Bement-Pond, American Cyanamid, Cities Service, Fansteel and United Light. Middle West Corp. and American Gas and Electric were resistant. Turnover here was 310,000 shares against 270,000 Tuesday.

Turnover, although still comparatively small, picked up to $3,255,000 from $2,810,000 Tuesday.

United States governments moved narrowly in the over-the-counter market with the victory loan December 2½s of '67-'72 remaining at 102 30-32 bid.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Girl Is Advised Not To Have "Affair" With Boy Friend Whom She Loves

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have been going with a fellow for a year now, and I love him very much. He says he feels the same way about me, and always has.

Recently he asked me if I would enter into an "affair" with him. He said that this would keep us together, and he wouldn't hold it against me. I love him too much to lose him, so please try and help me.

"PUZZLED"

I think, "Puzzled," that if you did any such thing as this young man suggests, it would be far more likely, in the end, to result in your losing him than it would in keeping you together. That is the way those things usually work out.

And I think it would be especially likely to happen in your case because I am very much inclined to doubt that this young man loves you as much as he is trying to make you believe. I feel this way about it for three reasons:

First, if he is so much in love with you, why doesn't he suggest marriage instead of an affair? Second, if he were truly and unselfishly devoted to you, his love for you would certainly be sufficient to "keep you together." And third, if he loved you, he wouldn't be telling you that he wouldn't hold it against you if you fell in with his proposition, which obviously indicates that he knows you would be doing something wrong. A man in love who made any such suggestion would, on the contrary, do his best to convince the girl that since they loved each other, it would be a perfectly right thing to do, and this business of holding anything against you would never enter his head.

I'm afraid you have picked the wrong man to love. He doesn't sound to me like a very worthwhile character.

What's So Foolish About This?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

In another two weeks I shall be graduating from high school, and have been asked by several boys from school to the prom.

But I refused, because I did a foolish thing. I went and asked a fellow who is three years older than I to take me. I know this was wrong (because all my friends told me so), but I have liked this boy almost three years, and he has never asked me out. So I asked him. Do you think I should break this date and go with a friend from school?

One other thing. The day of the prom is this boy's birthday. Should I buy him a present, or would it be right to buy the tickets to the prom?

"FAY"

What's so foolish about inviting the boy you want to invite to your prom, "Fay?" In spite of what your friends say, I don't see that you've done anything wrong. It seems to me you merely took advantage of a very good opportunity to give your relations with this boy whom you want to know better a shove in the right direction. Which was not wrong, but smart. And I certainly think it would be very rude to break the date you've made yourself just because of anything your friends say.

I wouldn't give this boy a birthday present, though. That would be laying it on a little thick, when he's never asked you out. But as for buying the tickets, it would be perfectly all right, and the natural thing, for you to do this, since the invitation came from you, and I gather that he does not go to your school.

Stick by your guns, "Fay." Take your boy to the prom and have fun.

Will Initiate Class

Frostburg Lodge, No. 348, Loyal Order of Moose, will hold a class initiation Sunday, February 23, 4 p. m., at the Moose home, East Main street. A special meeting of the lodge will be held Monday, February 24. The business to be transacted will be of special importance to each member of the organization and all are asked to attend.

May Discontinue Program

The summer sessions of the State Teachers Colleges of Maryland, held during the war years in connection with the accelerated program to enable students to graduate as quickly as possible, will be discontinued this year.

The announcement of the decision to abandon the summer sessions at Towson, Frostburg and Salisbury, was made February 8, by Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, State Superintendent of Schools, following a conference in his office with the presidents of the three Maryland State Teacher Colleges.

Returns Are Asked

Mrs. Julius Abramson, Frostburg, chairman of the Christmas seal sales, requests that setttlement for outstanding seals be made at once. She states that the amount on hand is $55 less than last year at this time, and requests that persons receiving the seals send their checks at once or return the seals so that she can make a final report.

Vets Install Officers

Braddock Post, No. 9, Disabled American Veterans have installed officers for the ensuing year as follows: Martin Ralston, commander; Francis Rafferty, senior vice commander; Michael Martz, junior vice commander William A. Shuck, adjutant and treasurer and Calvin Fazenbaker, chaplain. Additional officers will be appointed next week.

The post went on record in favor of retaining the Maryland State Teachers College at Frostburg and also to work with Washington Chapter, Disabled American Veterans of Cumberland in the movement to have a Veterans Hospital established in Western Maryland.

Oppose Moving School

The Frostburg Lions Club went on record last week opposing the recommendation of the Maryland Commission for Higher Education that Frostburg State Teachers College be abandoned. The Lions offered the services of individual members of their group to the local committee, apopinted by Mayor Skidmore to fight for the retention of the college and for expanding its facilities.

Conducts Revival

Evangelist Beulah Skidmore, a former resident of Midlothian, is in charge of the revival services now in their fourth week at the Assembly of God Church, Green Ridge, Md., of which Rev. S. Virts is pastor. The services, which begin at 7:45 each night, will continue for the remainder of the week.

Frostburg Briefs

William Henline, a former student at Frostburg State Teachers College, who was drafted for military service in May 1945, has re-entered the college as a junior. While in the army, Henline was a military policeman. He served on the honor guard at the funeral of the late General Patton, who was fatally injured in an accident in Germany.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Young Men's Republican Club will meet Thursday, 8 p. m., in the club rooms.

The Past Councilors' Club of the Daughters of America will meet Thursday, 8 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Eleanor Martens, Washington street. Mrs. Rosetta Adams will be the assistant hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Steinla, 49 East Main Street, announce the birth of a son Tuesday morning in Miners' Hospital.

William Donahue, a former student at Frostburg State Teachers' College, who left in 1942 to serve with the armed forces, has re-entered the college as a junior. He is a graduate of Beall High School, class of 1940, and entered the college in the fall of that year. He is a member of the Iota Alpha Sigma fraternity and is majoring in education.

The Intermediate Christian Endeavor Society of Salem Evangelical and Reformed church will meet Thursday, 7:45 o'clock, at the home of Miss Mary Margaret Jennings, 60 Linden street.

The past exalted rulers of Frostburg Lodge, No. 470, met last evening after the regular meeting of the lodge and decided to organize a Past Exalted Rulers Association. Officers will be chosen and other business transacted at a meeting to be held March 4.

Jack Stapleton, a former student at Frostburg State Teachers' College, who served in Heidelberg, Germany, with the armed forces has re-entered the college as sophomore. He entered the college in 1944 and was drafted into the armed forces in July, 1945. He received his honorable discharge in January, 1947.

Program Is Given By Londonderry P-TA Members

By LILLIAN HARDEN CRABTREE

HYNDMAN, Pa., Feb. 19 — One hundred and fifty members and guests attended the Annual Dinner meeting of the Londonderry Township Parent - Teacher - Association Monday night in Ruehl Carpenter's new school bus garage. C. P. Gaster was toastmaster and the building was decorated by pupils of the consolidated school.

The entertainment was in charge of the fifth grade, Mrs. Paul Wise, teacher, and consisted of a flag drill and a playlet entitled "When Lincoln Was a Boy".

The speakers all used "Parental Co-operation" as their theme with each taking a different phase. Dr. John A. Topper, local physician, used "Parental Co-operation and Health;" Mrs. Anna McClay and Mrs. Ona Bruner, members of the faculty spoke on "Parental Co-operation and Education"; Rev. Wendell Allen, pastor of the Methodist Church, who was guest speaker of the evening used for his subject, "Spiritual Side of Parental Co-operation," or "Our Greatest Responsibility".

Architects drawing and floor plans for the proposed new building were presented for the first time to members. The Londonderry Teachers Club, presented the P-T.-A with a check for $400, to be used in purchasing kitchen equipment for the new school cafeteria building project and members present pledged several thousand dollars.

Program Is Planned

The World's Day of Prayer service will be held Friday in The Reformed Church at 2 p. m. with Mrs. Wendell Allen of the Methodist Church in charge of the program.

This year's theme is "Make Level in the Desert a Highway for Our God," an impressive service that is used all over the world and in practically every language.

At a recent committee meeting, in Evangelical Church, leaders were selected from the various denominations in the community and plans were made for special musical selections.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Dietz entertained with a dinner at their home Sunday in honor of the fourth birthday of their son Bobbie. A large birthday cake with candles decorated the table and 12 guests were present. Those from out-of-towi were Mrs. Hulda Merkle and family, Fairhope, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Custer, near Wellersburg, Pa.

Personals

Mrs. Sam Deneen has returned from Allegany Hospital, Cumberland where she was a patient.

Mrs. Mahlon Evans is recovering from painful injuries suffered in a recent fall on the ice near her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Deneen announce the birth of a daughter in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, Monday.

Jeannette Kirkwood sang, "The Things We Did Last Summer." Delores Beeman led the group in devotional exercises and William Wilson announced the program.

C. E. Duckworth, Retired Farmer, Taken By Death

By GEORGE H. HANST

OAKLAND, Feb. 19—Charles Edward Duckworth, retired farmer, 82, died Tuesday morning at 4:25 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Nina E. Sturdivant, Rowlesburg, W. Va., following an illness of five weeks. He was a resident of the Ryan's Glade section of the county for a number of years.

He was born at Aaron's Run, near Westernport, February 12, 1865, a son of Aden C. and Dorcas Ellen Duckworth. He was educated in normal school and business college and taught for several years.

He was married twice, first to Miss Ida Susan Thompson, Ryan's Glade, and she died February 12, 1912. Four children survive from this marriage, Mrs. Nina Sturdivant, Rowlesburg; Mrs. Kirstine Wallace, Cumberland; Mrs. Vivian Swartz, Gormania, W. Va.; and Mrs. Dorothy Moon, Bayard, W. Va. A son of this marriage, H. Keith Duckworth, died January 9, 1947, of a heart attack, at Toole, Utah. Eight grandchildren survive from this marriage.

He was then married to Mrs. Sophronia Hilleary, Ryan's Glade, June 27, 1916. She died March 5, 1942.

Surviving also are a step-daughter, Miss Madelein Blamble, Table Rock; a stepson, Gus T. Hilleary, Ohio; 9 step-grandchildren and two step-great-grandchildren. A sister, Mrs. Nannie Nicola, Westernport, also survives.

He was a member of the Masonic Lodge, joining at Oakland in 1903, but later transferring his membership to Elkins Lodge. He was also a member of the Royal Arch Masons and Knights Templar, at Elkins; the Scottish Rite, at Wheeling, and was a 32nd degree Mason. He was a past master of the Elkins Lodge and past high priest of the Elkins Royal Arch Masons.

He was also a member of the Presbyterian church of Gormania, W. Va., and served as a sergeant in the Maryland Guards during the Spanish American War.

His body was brought to the Bolden Funeral Home in Oakland and later taken to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Swartz, in Gormania. Funeral services are to be conducted on Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the Presbyterian Church in Gormania, with Rev. Jonathan Edwards, minister, officiating. Interment will be in the Maplewood Cemetery at Elkins where the Masonic lodge of that city will have charge of final rites at the grave.

W. C. Combs Dies

William C. Combs, 69, died this morning, at 5:45 o'clock in the hospital at Perryville, Md.

He was born January 28, 1878, a son of the late Charles A. and Sarah Combs, of Mt. Lake Park, and was born near Red House. He was a member of the Methodist church in early childhood.

He served in the United States Marine Corps in the Philippine islands shortly after the Spanish American War and for a period of 10 years was unable to be located. He has been in ill health for a number of years and has not been in this vicinity for over 40 years.

Surviving are a brother and sister, W. A. Combs, Mt. Lake Park; and Mrs. L. B. Crane, Grafton, W. Va.

The body will be brought to Oakland Wednesday and the funeral will be conducted Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Bolden Funeral home with Rev. James MacLeod, of the Baptist Church at Mt. Lake Park, officiating. Interment will be in the Oakland Cemetery with final rites and full military honors being in charge of the local American Legion Post.

Marriage Is Announced

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Grace Leona Helmick, of near Gnegy Church, to Victor Gail Wotring, of near Table Rock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Wotring. The single ring ceremony was performed Saturday evening, January 18, at St. John's Lutheran church, Red House, by Dr. A. K. Jones.

The bridegroom was in the Navy for 18 months and was located on Guam. They are residing at the bride's home at Gnegy Church.

Good Fishing Slated For Hyndman Area

W. E. McIlnay, Bedford County, Pa., fish warden, told members of the Hyndman - Londonderry Chapter of the Isaac Walton League recently that prospects for trout fishing in the Hyndman area this spring are excellent.

Good stocks of brown and brook trout now exist in streams of the section and more may be secured before the opening of fishing season, he added.

Game Warden Woodward reported that the club will receive 25 turkey hens for the present game refuge at Little Buffalo in addition to stock turkeys to be released for game.

The club has been promised 50 ring neck pheasants for breeding purposes. During the war, the pens the club owns were not used, but plans are being made for their operation, according to Cyrus V. Bowers, club secretary.

Peter the Great, who made Russia one of the great nations of Europe, once went to England and worked as a laborer in the shipyards in order to teach his people how to build ships.

Mrs. Martha Clayton Dies At Her Home Near Burlington

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., Feb. 19 — Mrs. Martha Alice Danner Clayton, 71, died Tuesday night at 10:30 at the home of her son, Harry C. Clayton, on U. S. Route 50, two miles east of Burlington. She had been in declining health for several months. She was born in Mineral County and spent her entire life in the county. She attended the old Markwood school and was a member of the Church of the Brethren.

Her parents were John and Mary Ann McDowell Danner. Her husband, George Clayton, died in August 1941.

Besides her son, Harry C. Clayton, with whom she made her home, she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Ethel Clayton McCarty, McMullen Highway, and one sister, Mrs. Annie Danner Kitzmiller, near Elk Garden and six grandchildren.

The funeral will be held in the Burlington Union Church, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Rev. Emmet Bittinger, Church of the Brethren minister, officiating. Interment will be made in the Burlington cemetery.

Miss Baker Dies

Miss R. Ella Baker, 74, died Tuesday at her home near Laurel Dale, following an illness lasting several weeks. She was born at Hartmonsville, but had spent most of her life in the farm home where she died. Her parents were the late Milton and Rebecca Phadilia Wilt Baker. She was a member of the Church of the Brethren.

She is survived by two sisters, Misses Laura and Woodrow Baker, both at home.

The body will remain at the Rogers Funeral home until Thursday when it will be taken to Sunnyside Church of the Brethren where the service will be held at 2 o'clock, with Rev. A. R. Showalter, Keyser, assisted by Rev. B. W. Smith, Romney, officiating. Interment will be made in the family cemetery on the Baker farm, near Laurel Dale.

Shrine Club Meets

The Upper Potomac Shrine Club held a George Washington Birthday Dinner in the club dining hall Tuesday night. Forty-five Nobles were in attendance.

Dean Kirkland S. McKee, of Potomac State School, chief speaker, eulogized Washington, dwelling chiefly upon his relation to the Masonic fraternity and particularly recounting his activities in Lafayette Lodge in Washington, where he held membership. It was interesting to learn that he was raised to the third degree before he attained the required age of 21, this because of his activities with the colonial military action against the Indians which kept him in the field for long periods of time.

Judge Ernest A. See spoke briefly and told how he had been elected to membership in the lodge at Moorefield, but before induction he went to Washington to take up his training in law at George Washington University thus out of touch of his home lodge he had the distinction of receiving the work in Lafayette lodge, the home lodge of George Washington.

Dr. Tom Bess whose forebears were instructed in the work of Masonry in the Mother Lodge in Scotland, told how his family had secured two pictures of the Mother Lodge Temple, one showing the shrine in a delapidated condition, the other showing it after restoration. Reproductions of the pictures grace the walls of the local club rooms. These pictures are Dr. Bess' personal contribution to the decorations of the rooms.

Men Will Meet

The monthly meeting of the men of First Presbyterian church will be held in the church, tomorrow, Thursday night, at 7:30. James H. Swadley, Jr., vice-president of the group, will preside.

The feature of the meeting will be a debate by the students of Potomac State School, on the subject: "Resolved that Labor should have a direct share in the Management of Industry."

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT, Feb. 19 — The annual drive for funds for the Boy Scouts of Potomac Council of the Tri-Towns District began this week and is expected to be completed by March 1 Raymond C. Hudson, chairman for the drive of the Tri-Town district announces.

The assisting chairmen include J. Dayton Ours, Westernport; Lawrence Fanti, west end of Piedmont hill; Mr. Hudson, east end of Piedmont hill; Dr. Paul R. Wilson, Piedmont flat; Carl Shaffer, Franklin; Floyd Davis, Luke; Samuel Berry, Barton; Joseph Lee, Lonaconing; James Fazenbaker, Beryl, W. Va. The chairman of Bloomington has not been named.

Chairman Hudson states that the quota of the district is $1,250 and $1,153 was received last year. Three hundred letters to organizations and individuals have been mailed.

To Observe Anniversary

The forty-fifth anniversary of Bethlehem Chapter No. 14, Order of the Eastern Star will be observed Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Odd Fellow's hall.

The program will include the presentation of a short ceremony honoring the charter members.

Minister Will Speak

Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, pastor of the St. James Episcopal church, will be the guest speaker at a turkey banquet of the newly formed Men's club in the educational building at the Trinity Methodist church at Piedmont, Thursday 6:30 p. m.

Education Discussed

Dr. Hawkins discussed the kind of education that is needed for everybody. In reviewing the enrollment of the high schools beginning in 1,890 with 250,000 students to the present time of 7,000,000 and the problems that have increased. It showed about every ten years the enrollment in high schools has doubled.

Dr. Hawkins was introduced by John W. Fisher, principal of Bruce High School of Westernport.

Will Present Charter

Mrs. H. H. Dancer, Westernport, president of the second district of the Auxiliary Unit of the American Legion of West Virginia will present the charter to the Paw Paw, W. Va., unit Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Two hundred invitations to the ceremony have been issued. Edmund Jones, Wheeling, W. Va., department commander of the American Legion and R. S. Stone, Charlestown, W. Va., commander of the tenth district of the American Legion are expected to attend. Mrs. Dancer will be accompanied by her husband and Mrs. R. J. Ross of Westernport.

Program Arranged

A union World's Day of Prayer service will be held Friday 7:30 p. m. at the Trinity Methodist church at Piedmont. Representatives of the Church of the Brethren of Westernport, Piedmont Presbyterian church and the Methodist church will have a part in the program. The theme will be "Make Level in the Desert a Highway for Our God."

Turkey eggs for eating are expected to join the familiar chicken eggs on the market with the development of a small-sized turkey that lays heavily throughout the year.

Bible Class Meets In Grantsville

By EVA B. BEACHY

GRANTSVILLE, Feb. 19 —Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Durst entertained the Sunshine Class of the Methodist Church School at their home Monday evening. Mrs. Henry F. Durst presided in the absence of Mrs. Harry Edwards. There were 12 members and four visitors present.

The topic for the evening was Prayer. Rev. D. J. Combs gave a talk on The Lord's Prayer; Miss Jo Purcell spoke and Mrs. Herbert Ringer gave Gen McArthur's prayer while Mrs. Marshall Landis gave Gen. Patton's prayer.

Mrs. Roy Mickey gave a brief history of the song "What a Friend We Have in Jesus". Miss Viola Broadwater gave a story of two hymns "God Will Take Care of You", and "I Need Thee Every Hour". Mrs. N. Horwitz gave a prayer of "Thanksgiving and Praise. Mrs. Wayne Durst assisted the hostess in serving light refreshments.

Hold Valentine Party

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Morton, Guntertown, entertained at their home with a Valentine party for their children Lois, Ann and Leslie. Valentine decorations were used, games were played and refreshments were served to the 23 guests.

Personals

Mrs. Norman Patton is visiting friends in Akron, Ohio.

Frank Beamer, manager of the Gortner Sales and Service garage, Meyersdale, Pa., who recently underwent an appendectomy in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland has been taken to the home of his father-in-law, Harvey Gortner. His condition is satisfactory.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Durst have returned home after visiting friends in Baltimore, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Beachy, Philadelphia, are visiting the former's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Bender.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Gortner have returned home after spending the past month in Florida.

A dynamite explosion set off in December, 1933, on the Arctic island, Nova Zembla, was detected more than 2,000 miles away in Berlin.

KEEPING UP WITH

By LOUELLA PARSONS

Norma Shearer

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 19.—Just before Noel Coward took off for the West Indies from New York he air mailed Norma Shearer, who is at Sun Valley, a comedy he had especially written for her. The comedy has no name, but needless to say, authored by Noel, Norma accepted it with alacrity and so did David Lewis who is producing her next movie.

So a Noel Coward original will herald Norma's return to the screen and of course she's making it for Charles Einfeld at Enterprise.

It's no new thing for Norma to be doing a Noel Coward story, one of her screen successes was "Private Lives" which she played with Robert Montgomery.

Jackie Cooper is getting a very good break and I couldn't be happier. He was so good in "Stork Bites Man" that Buddy Rogers signed him on a contract, and now he'll make two a year for Buddy's Comet Productions for the next four years.

Chatter in Hollywood: There's more than meets the eye in the teaming of Eddie Norris and Sheila Ryan in "Silent Voice" at PRC. These two have fallen in love and their friends say they're headed for marriage.

The amusing part is that they had never met until they went on that personal appearance junket through Texas with "It's a Joke Son", the Senator Claghorn movie. Fact is, it my good friend Sammy Israel introduced them.

Now don't tell me that it's just a coincidence that after Norris was signed for the movie "somebody" got busy and borrowed Sheila for the femme lead. You may remember that Eddie was once Ann Sheridan's husband.

The two little Niven boys will precede David to England. He very much wants the little boys to see their maternal grandparents and he cannot possibly finish "The Bishop's Wife," before May, so he'll send the children ahead and he will follow and remain there to make "Bonnie Prince Charlie" for Korda.

The trip will be a sad one for David and at the same time a solace. He hasn't been home since the death of his lovely English bride, who died in an accident soon after arriving in Hollywood.

Mrs. Astor's dinner dance was given at the home of Annabella, and it was one of the very nicest affairs of the season. Benny Goodman gave with some of his marvelous music.

The Ronald Colmans and the Jack Bennys, who had a radio show together next day, stayed up much later than they intended, but they were so good on the air no one could have guessed the late hour they went home.

Eddie, who planned the whole party was a grand host. The cake in valentine colors, the red and white table decorations, all showed a lot of thought.

Gertrude Lawrence and Ralph Forbes are doing great business in San Francisco in "Pygmalion." They will be here soon. Ralph's pretty bride, Doris Sayers has a small part in the show.

Curt Bernhardt, who was so crushed over the sudden death of his wife, has called off his European trip and instead will go to work as soon as possible here in Hollywood.

Connie Bennett's husband, Col. John Coulter, gets here this week, but they'll have just one day together. He has to fly back to his post within 36 hours.

City Softball Loop Expands To Ten Teams

Circuit Holds Next Session On March 19

The City Softball League was reorganized for the 1947 season at a meeting held last night at the Amvets' Home and indications are that the circuit will operate with at least ten teams — two more than were represented last year.

The complete setup, however, will not be certain until March 19 when the league holds its next session and forfeits are posted by the clubs planning to place teams on the field.

Gilchrist Heads League

Thomas E. Gilchrist, Jr., who was elected president of the circuit, reported that the ten teams that are being considered for berths are:

Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion; East Side, Maccabees, Henry Hart Post, V. F. W.; North End Social and Athletic Club, and Lacy's Delicatets, all of whom were represented in the loop last season; the Astor Cab Company, formerly the William Street Merchants, J. Louis Wolford Post of the Amvets, the Silver Grill and Virginia Avenue Merchants.

The eleventh application for a franchise came from Joe Hartman, representing the Legion of Guardsmen, but action was deferred because this aggregation was uncertain where it would play its home games and because the seven holdover clubs voted to limit the loop to ten teams. It was indicated, however, that the loop could be jumped to 12 teams if an application from another club is approved.

Team Representatives

Loving Elected By Hardy Group

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Feb. 19—Louis Loving was named vice president of the Hardy County Rod and Gun Club at the meeting at the club's lodge at Bass. Loving was named to act for George Creel who is out of the county.

The new lodge, converted from the old post office and residence at Bass, is a seven room structure with ample room for meetings and headquarters for hunting and fishing parties. New flooring has been laid in the meeting room, a new arched doorway was cut in the wall and lights have been installed.

The club will hold a shrimp and oyster supper for the members on Monday March 17 and a shooting match is scheduled to be held Sunday afternoon February 23. The public is invited to attend the shoot which will be for chickens and other prizes. A series of game and seafood dinners is being planned for the members.

A new automatic reel, fly rod and casting line will be given away by the club prior to the opening of trout season April 26.

District Game Protector John Shanholtz reports the distribution of another shipment of 96 cottontail rabbits in Hardy county. The animals were received here last week and released in various sections of the county.

The express shipment was sent from C. L. Miller in Missouri, the same firm that shipped rabbits late in January. Shanholtz reported that adjoining counties also received shipments of rabbits.

McGaughey To Assist "Hooks" Mylin At NYU

McGaughey was graduated in 1935 from Bucknell, where he played center under both Mylin and Coach Carl Snavely. After two years as a high school mentor, he was line coach at Lafayette from 1937 through 1941.

He coached the line for Jim Crowley's North Carolina Pre-Flight squad in 1942 and served in a similar capacity at Wabash College in Crawfordville, Ind., last season after a three-year hitch in the navy as a lieutenant.

Jack Must Support His Three Children

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Feb. 19 (AP)—At least $2,500 of the money which former lightweight champion Beau Jack earns in his ten-round fight with Tony Janiro at New York's Madison Square Garden Friday night will go to support his three children—by court order.

The onetime Augusta, Ga., shoeshine boy, whose real name is Sidney Walker, was summoned to Westchester children's court today to answer a charge of non-support.

Judge George Smyth declared it was to the interest of the children to have the fight go on and ruled that $2,500 should be withheld from Jack's purse for their support.

Davis Defeats Tygart Valley

Wildcats Score 25 Goals In 55-37 Win

DAVIS, W. Va., Feb. 19 — Coach Bill Talbott's Davis High School Wildcats poured 25 field goals through the hoops tonight to trounce Tygart Valley High School, of Mill Creek, by the score of 55 to 37.

Arnold headed the Davis offensive with seven fielders and a total of 15 points. He was ably supported by Heath and McDowell, both of whom racked up an even dozen markers. Russell was top scorer for Tygart Valley with 20 points on eight field goals and four free throws.

Davis jumped off to a 21-6 lead at the quarter and stayed on top throughout. At half time the score was 33-17 while at the end of the third stanza the figures stood 44-25. Lineups:

Truman Endorses Memorial Stadium

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 (AP) — President Truman endorsed today a move to erect a memorial stadium to baseball pitcher Walter Johnson in nearby Maryland.

The Montgomery County (Md.) Board of Commissioners has proposed a 5,000-seat stadium at Richard Montgomery High School, Rockville, Md.

Brooke Johns, chairman, said after a White House call that Mr. Truman was enthusiastic and promised to write a letter endorsing the project.

Three Season Tickets To Maryland's Tracks Asked For Legislators

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 19 (AP)—Members of Maryland's General Assembly would get to the races for free if a bill introduced by two of their members clears the various legislative hurdles.

The measure by delegates Milanicz (D-Balto 1st) and Todd (R-Somerset) would require all racing associations in the state to supply each legislator with three season tickets or badges to every meet.

If they refused, a fine of not more than $500 could be imposed.

Middies Convert 15 Fouls In Row, Beat Penn 55-53

Navy Notches 12th Straight Victory

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 19 (AP)—The "Mighty Mites" of the Navy basketball quintet overcame a first half Pennsylvania lead today to go on to win their 12th straight game, 55-53.

The Middies won their margin of victory on the foul line. They had 15 free throws at the Penn basket and made good every attempt, while Penn had a nine for 16 foul shot record.

Penn jumped into a lead shortly after the contest started and had built up a 29 to 22 halftime margin.

The smaller Navy quintet found itself in the second half and by the time seven minutes had elapsed had tied the score at 34-all. Jim Durham put the Tars ahead with a corner shot, but two minutes later Penn went back into the lead, 38-37, with a layup basket by Greer Heindel.

Don Dick's shot turned the seesaw affair to Navy's advantage on the next play with a field goal and from that point on, the Middies stayed in front.

With just 30 seconds to go and the score 55-51 in Navy's favor, John Colberg, Penn reserve forward, sank a one-hander to pull the visitors to within two points of the Sailors, but Navy took the ball over and held it until the final whistle.

Penn had declined to take foul shots on three different occasions during the last minute of play.

It was a rough and ready affair, with 16 fouls being called against each quintet.

Babe Zaharias Seeks Fifth Straight Title

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Feb. 19 (AP)—Mrs. Mildred (Babe) Zaharias, national women's amateur golf champion, goes after her fifth straight Florida golf title of the year in the second annual women's international four-ball tournament which opens tomorrow.

Mrs. Zaharias, who won the Palm Beach tournament last week, will pair with Peggy Kirk, of Findlay, Ohio, for the match play event.

The defending champions, Louise Suggs, of Lithia Springs, Ga., and Jean Hopkins, of Lakewood, Ohio, were placed on the top of the upper bracket, and the team of Mrs. Zaharias and Miss Kirk on the bottom of the lower bracket.

Mrs. Zaharias started the year by winning the Tampa women's open by five strokes, and then defeated Margaret Gunther, of Memphis, Tenn., 12 and 10, in the Helen Lee Doherty tournament at Miami, she paired with Gerald Walker of Orlando to win the Florida mixed two-ball, 5 and 4, and defeated Jean Hopkins, 1 up in the Palm Beach tourney.

Three Games Tonight

Ridgeley will play host to Fort Ashby in a Potomac Valley Conference game and Bruce High of Westernport will play Central High at Lonaconing in a W.M.I. League contest tonight. Parsons High is scheduled to play Pickens at Parsons.

He is also holder of the Purple Heart, two battle stars for combat in France and Germany and the Presidential Unit Citation. Westinghouse, coached by "Bucky" Dearbeck, former Potomac State football captain, has a record of 14 wins and 4 losses.

Everett To Take Eighth Berth In Interstate Wheel

Plays Night Games; League Awaits Fees

Everett, Pa., will take the eighth berth in the Interstate Baseball League provided the other teams in the circuit will agree to play night games in the Pennsylvania town and permit Everett to play its Sunday games away from home.

This message was received last night from Mr. Sipes, representative of the Everett team, by Phil Fleming, vice president of the Interstate League.

President John J. Long said that inasmuch as Everett has already been voted a berth in the league the team will be accepted under the conditions set forth by the Keystone State Club. Long added, however, that a franchise will not be assured Everett until the fee is received from that club.

Everett is thirty-six miles from Cumberland. Night games will be played there but the backers of the team are said to be opposed to staging games there on Sunday. No objection, however, will be raised against the team playing away from home on the Sabbath.

Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division was the seventh club admitted to the league. This organization has posted the fees required by the league along with six holdover clubs, namely, Fort Cumberland Post, Barrelville, Cumberland Moose, Cumberland Eagles, Moorefield and Centerville.

LETS DANCE ONCE SOLD FOR $1,500: HAS WON $95,220

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 19—(AP)—The $50,000 added Widener Handicap comes up at Hialeah Park Saturday and one of the contenders was once a "plug" picked up for less than the price of a new automobile—$1,500.

His name is Lets Dance, and he was bought by Miami's Sunshine Stable for less than any self-respecting claiming price. Since then, he has won $95,220 in little more than two years of racing.

Lets Dance is best remembered as winner of the $50,000 added San Pasqual Handicap at Santa Anita early this year, but an even greater achievement would be a victory over the Calumet Farm Star, Armed, in the Widener.

Terrors And Georgetown Top C. U. And Scranton

The game was the nightcap in a doubleheader, Georgetown University cutting off a brilliant Scranton University rally in the first game to win 68 to 59.

Catholic U. led Western Maryland 27 to 17 at the half, and stretched that to 33 to 20. But, in the stretch, Walt Sibiski and Johnny Adamovich led Western Maryland in a smashing drive to victory. Adamovich scored the winning basket, a side shot, 40 seconds before the gun ended the game.

Bob Vanderhout Takes Runner-Up Spot In Scoring

LaSalle Star Trails Fort Hill's Freeland

Scoring 74 points in his last five games, an average of 14.8 per game, Bobby Vanderhout, the most improved scholastic basketball player in Cumberland, now holds the runner-up position in the city race with 203 tallies to his credit.

LaSalle's lanky center has collected 82 field goals and converted 39 of 72 free throws in the 24 games played by the Explorers. Five games remain on the Blue and Gold schedule.

Elmer Freeland, Fort Hill, forward, who has figured in 23 games played by the Sentinels, is well out in front in the city points scoring race with a total of 263 markers. Holding a 60-point margin and with three games yet to go Freeland looks like he'll retain the lead right down to the final whistle.

Milford Dean, of Fort Hill is third with 191 points followed by Jack Stotler, LaSalle, with 179 and Gene Shaw, Allegany, with 170. The Campers have played 18 games and have five still on their schedule.

City players who were 20 points or more are:

Fritzie Zivic Will Have Nose Reshaped

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 19 (AP)—Fritzie Zivic, one-time king of the welterweights, is going to turn glamor boy.

The 33-year-old boxer, who swears he has retired for the last time, said today he would enter St. Joseph's Hospital next month to undergo an operation to reshape his nose into more classical lines. The one he had now has little resemblance to a nose after being battered for 16 years.

"Boy, won't I be pretty if I can have a nose like that," said Fritzie as he looked at the profiles of several famous movie actors. "I understand they can do wonders these days with a fellow's face. Mine can use a little help."

Columbia Wins Meet

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (AP)—Victory in a bitterly fought mile relay, last race of the afternoon, gave Pennsylvania its first polar bear meet track victory over Columbia and Princeton at Columbia's South Field today. The Quakers tallied 49 points to Columbia's 48 and Princeton's 20 in the tenth renewal of the meet, discontinued since 1943.

Moose Passers Win Interstate Contest, 69-26

Double Header Will Be Staged Tonight

Cumberland's Moose quint ran roughshod over Fulton Myers Post, American Legion, in an Interstate League game last night on SS. Peter and Paul court by the score of 69 to 26.

The victory was the seventh for the Moose quint and placed Coach Jim Angellatta's club one half game in the rear of Lonaconing and Cumberland Legion teams which are tied for the top berth in the second half race.

Norman Mason, the league's high point man, collected 24 points in last night's tilt and was forced to leave the game in the final period when badly shaken after running against the concrete wall. He marked up ten field goals and sank four out of five tries at the 15-foot line. Morris and Hollen scored 13 and 12 points.

Fulton Myers trailed throughout, the quarter scores being 14-8, 31-13 and 46-19.

A double header will be played tonight on SS. Peter and Paul court. At 8 o'clock Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, will play the Paw Paw American Legion while at 9 o'clock the Cumberland Amvets will oppose the Lonaconing American Legion. Gilbert Becker will referee the first game and Ken Gerard the nightcap.

Lonaconing has entered a formal protest against Fort Cumberland Post, claiming the game scheduled here last Thursday by the forfeit route. Two games were postponed thatevening because of a broken basket at SS. Peter and Paul gym. Lonaconing claims it was not advised of the situation and made the trip here. President Clifton Van Roby will meet with officers of the club and a representative of each club on Saturday at 3 o'clock in the Central YMCA to act on the matter.

Riskolater Scores

Riskolater had little difficulty beating the field of eight—which included four previous stake winners—by taking an early lead and galloping home by a four length margin. He ran the mile and an eighth event in 1:51 3-5 and earned $8,800 for his owner. The dollar backers were rewarded with $4.80, $3.40 and $2.70 across the board.

Leo Gerngross' Michael B. Michael B. rated the favorite, was second and Mrs. Tilyou Christopher's Donnas' Ace was third.

Allegany Beagle Club Field Trial Set For Sunday

Initial 1947 Event To Start At 9 A. M.

The Allegany Beagle Club will hold its first field trial of 1947 on Sunday at the club grounds, eight miles south of Cumberland on McMullen highway.

This trial will be a club trial for derbies only and drawings will be made on the grounds at 9 a. m. Both thirteen inch and fifteen inch classes will be run and local beaglers will handle the judging.

Sunday's event will enable local beaglers to get a line on their most promising derbies in actual competition prior to the club's Tri-State Association Spring Derby Trial which will be run on the same grounds Sunday, March 16 and which is expected to draw entries from over a large area covered by the Tri-State Association.

The club grounds were stocked recently with several dozen rabbits and the club has eleven dozen more on order which will be stocked before March 1. This should insure local beaglers plenty of game to follow and enjoy their favorite sport throughout the year.

Plans are under way for the construction of a club house and kennels on the club grounds and for an AKC sanctioned trial to be held in the fall. Completion of this program will make the local organization eligible for an AKC license and to hold licensed trials. Due to its central location and easy accessibility, the Allegany is expected within a year or two to become one of the leading beagle trials in the east.

The club's membership has exceeded the 100 mark and is steadily growing. Hugh Stevenson of Ellerslie is president and T. James Stevenson of Cumberland is secretary of the organization.

Graziano, Robinson May Box In NBA States

NBA Prexy Charges Unbalanced Justice

By SID FEDER

Abe J. Greene

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (AP)—The National Boxing Association today gave middleweight contender Rocky Graziano and Welterweight Champion Ray Robinson a green light to fight in NBA territory, refusing to go along with what it termed "inexplicable inconsistent conclusions" of the New York State Athletic Commission in barring the boxers.

NBA President Abe Greene asserted the "involvements of Graziano and Robinson were of a similar pattern," since both were accused of failing to "report bribe offers." As a result, Greene declared the New York Commission's action in revoking Graziano's license—possibly for life—and then only suspending Robinson for 30 days "smacks of unbalanced justice, if not of political witch-hunting."

"Our members are therefore free to proceed with Graziano and Robinson as they see fit" Greene explained in announcing the decision of the organization which governs boxing policy in 30 states and five cities with individual commissions, as well as in Canada and several Latin-American countries.

Graziano was barred for failing to report a $100,000 offer to throw a fight. Robinson was suspended for failing to tell the commission about a $25,000 bid not to make the required weight for a welterweight title bout. Neither fight ever came off.

The NBA decision today was based on recommendations of its more than 40 commission members and permits both fighters to box in any NBA territory, providing the local boxing fathers give them the go-ahead. Already, Graziano has had offers to go through with his scheduled title bout with Champion Tony Zale—cancelled here by the New York Commission action—in Chicago, and has received bids for appearances in some two dozen other places.

New York Commission actions in two other cases in recent years also "confused" the NBA, Greene said. One involved heavyweight Freddie Fiducia, who received a bribe offer in a fight a year ago, tried to inform the New York Commission of it, was told the commissioners were too busy to see him, and ultimately was suspended for 60 days for failure to report the bribe attempt. The other case was that of the late Al (Bummy) Davis, who, the NBA recalled, "was suspended for life in New York State" on one occasion, and "six months later, he boxed in a New York ring."

28 TICKET HOLDERS RECEIVE $2,691 EACH FROM HIALEAH DOUBLE

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 19 (AP)—A daily double of $2,691—largest in the history of Hialeah Park—was paid 28 two-dollar ticket holders today when Cedar Farm's Fiery Dawn won the first race and Mrs. E. Biller's Bud's First copped the second.

Fiery Dawn paid $79.60 in the opener and Bud's First returned $39.50 for $2 in the second.

Hialeah's previous high double return was $1,459.20, dating back to February 4, 1936. At Tropical Park some years ago, a double paid slightly more than $7,300, which still is high for Florida.

Davis Halts Rowlesburg

By C. V. BURNS

Coach Emil Suder's high flying Thomas High School quint has won five games and lost one by the margin of a single point this season.

The Tucker countains have bagged 15 out of 17 to date, their only losses being at the hands of University High at Morgantown and Parsons. The score of the latter game was 33-32.

Games won by a single tally were Terra Alta 44-43 and 31-30, Moorefield 35-34, Davis 36-35 and Tygart Valley High of Mill Creek 46-45. The last two games were played last week and were won by foul goals in the closing seconds of play. That's playing 'em close.

A local amateur boxing promoter recently asked if the A. A. U. would permit girls to appear in an exhibition bout.

Another matchmaker wanted to know if the A. A. U. would approve of two professional boxers appearing in an exhibition on his card.

The answer from the A. A. U. on both questions is a definite "No."

"Big Irv" Barnett, the Wheeling Valans' center, whom the Baltimore Bullets threatened to sue for breach of contract, failed to impress local basketball fans in his two appearances here against the Amvets.

In the second game, Oberhaus ran Barnett ragged, outscoring him 11 to 1 in field goals and outpointed the highly publicized Wheeling pivot man 26 to 2.

The Wheeling Valans, who dropped a 78-61 decision to the Amvets last Sunday night, have scored over 100 points against three different teams this season. Prior to their second visit here, the West Virginians, converted 20 of 23 foul shots while losing to the Detroit Gems, of the National League, 71-58.

Three winning streaks will be placed in jeopardy next Monday night when the American Legion holds its fourth amateur boxing show of the season at the state armory.

"Skeets" Starkey (9-1) and Jimmy Catanese (6-8) have won their last five bouts.. Bobby Goss (8-3) has chalked up seven wins in a row.

A Paterson, N. J., newspaper features a three-column spread on the birthday party held there for Bridget Roman, daughter of Gene Roman, former Cumberlander, who operates a wholesale grocery business and is an official boxing referee for the State of New Jersey.

The article is accompanied by a two column cut of Mr. and Mrs. Roman, their daughters, Bridget and Connie, and last but not least Primo Carnera, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, who is now a big drawing card as a professional wrestler.

For his mat endeavors, Primo pulls down 40 per cent of the net receipts everywhere he goes, after federal and state taxes are deducted, so you can understand why he's mighty grateful to be back in the United States and is angling for his American citizenship papers.

Gene writes:

"After the party we got Carnera over to New York just in time to wrestle at the St. Nicholas Arena. When we arrived at the New York hotel at 7:30 p. m. we found his manager and the promoter in the lobby pulling their hair out. The match was a sellout and they turned away about 2,000.

"Primo works about every night and is doing better now than he did when he was champion.. He picks up about $6,000 a week after all expenses are taken out and that's not hay. We have him booked for the Paterson armory, February 21."

Bill Talbott, Davis coach, reports that Rowlesburg had won 17 consecutive games. The Lions lead the Preston County League which includes Kingwood.

Rowlesburg is coached by George (Newt) Ayersman, who played great ball at Shenandoah College and later at Marshall under Cam Henderson. "Newt" and Talbott are old friends, their relationship dating back to their days at Shenandoah together in 1932 to 1934.

Coach Bruce "Pop" Fisher, who coached at Ferndale High School for a quarter-century before transferring to Bedford, directed his Bisons to a 30-24 victory over the Ferndale Yellow Jackets last Friday night at Johnstown. The coach's son, "Bud," who cut his eye teeth at Ferndale, racked up 20 points on seven field goals and six fouls, for the Buffaloes.

Ferndale comes to Bedford, February 28.

Players in the Interstate League are getting quite a kick out of the referee who says: "Ball out-of-bounds for our team" whenever the home club is given the ball on an out-of-bounds play.

Commission Sets Ohio Race Dates

Tote Board Sought For North Randall

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 19—(AP)—The Ohio Racing Commission disposed of one running horse meet date dispute today and asked again when Ohio tracks could get totalisators to keep mechanical tab on betting.

The answer, given by George M. Gillett, Jr., general sales manager of the American Totalisator Company, of Baltimore, was that the company wasn't out of its war-time shortages yet but that it might be possible to get one installed at Cleveland's North Randall track by early fall.

An effort of the management of Thistle Down track at Cleveland to have its summer meeting follow that of its neighbor, North Randall, to give 88 consecutive days of racing was blocked. The commission granted Ascot track at Akron the July 9-30 spot following Randall's May 16-July 5. Thistle Down was given August 2 to September 20.

Other dates granted were Beulah Park, Columbus, May 10-31 and September 20-October 19; River Downs, Cincinnati, May 23-July 12; and Hamilton, August 11-September 1.

Bosox Sign Hayes

BOSTON, Feb. 19 (AP)—Frankie Hayes, veteran American League catcher, today signed with the Boston Red Sox.

Hayes, who was made a free agent by the Chicago White Sox, has appeared with four clubs during his 14 years in the majors.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Guy Thomas Hite, who died three years ago, February 20, 1944.

Do not ask us if we miss him,
There's such a vacant place.
Oft we think we hear his footsteps
And see his smiling face.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears in silence often flow,
Memory keeps him ever near us

Burns And Allen To Observe Their 15th Year On Air

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—Burns and Allen, looking back at their radio years, are going to celebrate 15 of them when their program makes its regular NBC stop at 8:30 Thursday night. To do so they will have the guest cooperation of Al Jolson.

Like quite a few others of the microphone veterans Burns and Allen are graduates of the old Rudy Vallee hour, which was the stepping stone in their transition from the stage to the radio.

The closed shop question comes up for America's Town Meeting debate on ABC at 8:30. Specifically, it will be put this way: "Should Congress Outlaw the Closed Shop?" On one side will be Sen. Jos. H. Ball of Minnesota and on the other Sen. W. G. Magnuson of Washington.

Salute to the Paul Lavalle Melody, which on Friday night is to start its 21st year in continuous broadcasting on NBC for the same sponsor, will be provided on NBC at 6:15 by Serenade to America. Guest soloist is Mac Morgan, regular singer in the Melody show.

Family Theater of MBS, newly introduced drama series, has picked for its second edition at 10 "Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory." To do the principal acting there will be Gene Reynolds and Jennifer Holt, as well as Walter Brennan and Beulah Bondi.

Review Of Club Tax Exemptions In County Ordered By Tax Commission

Not Provided By Law, Secretary Declares

Return to the Allegany County tax books of an estimated $1,400,000,000 worth of property owned by clubs and now exempt from taxation appeared likely last night in view of instructions forwarded yesterday by the State Tax Commission to Somerville Nicholson, supervisor of assessments.

Albert W. Ward, secretary of the Tax Commission, informed Nicholson that he should review all clubs in the county "with a view of placing them on the books this year for 1948," since such exemptions are not provided for by state law.

Nicholson, told of the letter being sent to him and which should arrive today, declared "If the Tax Commission has ordered them to be put on the books they will be assessed and presented to the county commissioners to be taxed. If the County Commissioners refuse to tax them I shall inform the Tax Commission."

Over 50 Exempted

There are over 50 clubs in the county now exempted from taxation, Nicholson estimated, but he added that some of these clubs, while they are exempt in the county, are still on the state tax books and are paying state taxes.

On the present county tax rate of $1.77 on each $100, the return to the tax books of the estimated $1,400,000 worth of club property would mean revenue to the county in the neighborhood of about $24,780.

In addition, it was indicated that property owned by veterans' organizations is valued at about $425,000, which, if taxed, would mean revenue of an additional $7,522.

However, Secretary Ward said some property owned by veterans' organizations is exempt by state law. This includes property owned by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans, 29th Division of World War I, and the Society of Cincinnatians.

He explained that to be exempt, title to properties must be in the name of the veterans' organizations and cannot be held by individuals.

Gives Credit To Cook

Ward gave credit for his action in forwarding a letter to Nicholson to Noel Speir Cook, a member of the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly.

Cook was approached by constituents who objected to the great number of clubs granted tax exemptions in the county, Ward said, and was preparing a bill to be introduced in the legislature that would remedy the situation when he read the tax exemption law and found the condition already covered and that clubs are not exempted by state law. Cook then contacted the Tax Commission, Ward added.

One sub-section of the tax exemption law provides for exemption of property of any fraternal or beneficiary association, incorporated or licensed under the laws of Maryland, with the exception of real estate, chattels and office equipment, according to Ward, who explained that this means that even if a fraternal organization is licensed under the state insurance law its real estate is not exempt from taxation.

Exemptions provided are for buildings, equipment and furniture of hospitals, asylums and charitable or benevolent institutions, and for buildings, furniture and equipment of education and literary institutions.

"Very Strictly Construed"

To be exempt, Ward emphasized, an organization must operate for charitable purposes or be listed by law as are the veterans' organizations.

"Exemptions are very strictly construed," Ward stated.

In instructing Nicholson to review club exemptions with the view of placing them on the tax books, Ward wrote that each of the taxpayers should be given notice of assessment and an opportunity to protest.

"In any case where there is doubt as to whether the property is exempt," Ward wrote, "you should take an appeal to the State Tax Commission and let this commission determine the case."

Nicholson pointed out last night that the County Commissioners determine who pays taxes, and said it has been the custom in the county since long before he became supervisor of assessments for the County Commissioners to give exemptions of this type.

Trio Of Boys Admit Setting $8,000 Fire

Three Meyersdale, Pa., boys who admitted setting fire to a barn, causing damage of between $8,000 and $10,000 last Thursday, were ordered placed in the Somerset County detention home for an indefinite period yesterday by Judge Norman T. Boose.

Judge Boose said the boys, Woodrow Gearhart, 9, Jack Gearhart, 10, and Walter Beal, Jr., 11, were too young to be confined for institutional training but thet they will be confined to the detention home under the supervision of the probation officer, A. E. Shaffer, until final disposition is made of the case.

Arrested a few days ago by Chief of Police James A. Brocht, Meyersdale, the trio admitted setting fire to the large barn on the John Mosgrave farm, several miles northeast of Meyersdale, and Judge Boose said they did it "for a thrill."

Divorce Decrees

Divorce decrees were signed yesterday, by Chief Judge William A. Huster, granting absolute divorce to Pauline Skidmore from George R. Skidmore, and to Ethel Wilson from George G. Wilson.

Skidmore was ordered to pay his wife $10 per week alimony for the support of an infant child placed in the custody of Mrs. Skidmore.

Mrs. Wilson was given the right to resume her maiden name.

Delegation Introduces Measure To Raise Teachers' Salary Scale

Proposed Rate Ranges From $2,400 To $3,900

A bill setting a salary scale for Allegany County teachers at $2,400 to $3,900 was introduced in the House of Delegates yesterday by the Allegany County delegation.

Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., delegation chairman, said the bill was introduced in the afternoon after it was submitted to the delegation yesterday morning by the Legislative Committee of the Allegany County Teachers Association and Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools.

The bill provides a starting salary of $2,400 a year for the teacher with a degree, and increases in increments of $100 a year after the second year until reaching the maximum of $3,900 in 17 years.

Differential Provided

Teachers without a degree would receive $200 less than the scale and those with a Master's degree would receive $200 more than the scale.

A teacher who has been teaching for 14 years or longer would receive the salary proposed for the 14th year—$3,600.

The present scale is from $1,800 to $2,700.

Kopp, Harold C. Wickard, Lewyn C. Davis and Stanley Hunter submitted the bill to the delegation for the teachers. Kopp will remain in Annapolis today to participate in a joint hearing by the House Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Finance Committee on state education proposals.

The bill, after being introduced, was referred to the Allegany County delegation.

A state-wide bill, pertaining to dealers' license tags for motor vehicles was introduced by Delegate William H. Geppert and was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Under present law, license tags are required on the front and rear of automobiles, but this law was waived during the war to conserve metal and only one tag was necessary. Now, however, the state is planning to go ahead with the two-tag system, and Geppert's bill would eliminate one of the license plates as far as dealers' tags are concerned.

Passed in the House yesterday was a bill introduced by the Washington County delegation which would permit the judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit—Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties—to set the salaries for court stenographers.

Under terms of a statewide amendment introduced yesterday by Delegate John T. Fey, money realized from a $4 seat tax on public motor conveyances would go to the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles who would then return the money to the mayors and councils of the respective cities.

Counties Would Benefit

Money from a seat mileage tax (about 1-18th of a cent per seat mile, figured on the number of seats in a bus times the number of miles traveled) would be returned to the respective counties.

Before 1922 an act was passed with these provisions, Fey said, but the state comptroller did not return the money to the municipalities and counties. In 1922 the attorney general ruled that the act could not take effect unless in each annual budget a specific provision was made for return of money realized in the seat tax. However, this never was done.

Should this bill pass, it would ease Cumberland's revenue problem to a certain extent. One of the measures suggested to the delegation by the Mayor and Council Tuesday was a seat tax not to exceed $6, but the delegation said it would withhold this bill pending action on the statewide proposal.

Fey yesterday explained a bill he introduced Tuesday which would require the Board of Education to submit an annual report to the County Commissioners.

Required To File Report

Under a 1939 act of the legislature, the superintendent of schools was required to file an annual report of expenditures with the Board of Education and the County Commissioners, Fey said. Under this system, state authorities appointed an accountant to draw up a report of expenditures, but the County Commissioners had nothing to do with the auditing, Fey explained.

Under the proposal introduced by

Textile Workers Request Conference

Officials of Celanese Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, said last night that they will request the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference to call a meeting of all organized labor in Allegany County to organize against the "attacks of Big Business."

William Boyd Coleman, president, said the union's executive board asked Monday for the conference so that labor may bring before the people the position of labor as opposed to the position voiced by the National Association of Manufacturers and "monopolistic big business".

Coleman, who is vice-president of the Labor Unity group, said the union will present the call for action at a meeting of the council tonight at 7:30 p. m. in Allegany Trades Council Hall.

National Action Planned

The action will follow the line of Philip Murray, CIO president, who has issued an invitation to all organized labor to join in a fight against restrictive legislation.

George Meyers, chairman of Local 1874's legslative committee said last night the local has gone on record as supporting the rent sontrol bill introduced by Senator Ellison, Baltimore, which would provide continued rent controls in Maryland in case federal controls are discontinued.

Meyers, with Arthur Schustermman and Clair Mease, chairman of the veterans committee of the union, presented the union's position before a Maryland Senate committee Tuesday.

Opposes Sales Tax

The Celanese union is also strongly opposed to any form of the sales tax, he added, but is endorsing Senator Kimble's bill which would prohibit Allegany County Commissioners from granting tax exemptions to corporations in this county.

Meyers said the union feels that if more money is needed, one way to get it is to support Senator Kimble's bill.

Local 1874 support of American Federation of Labor program for Maryland teachers has also been voted by the union, he said.

Union representatives were present, Meyers said, at a hearing in Annapolis Tuesday on Senator Della's bill for a wage and hour law which would set a 65 cent minimum wage for all Maryland workers.

Coleman said wires have been sent to the six members of the county delegation stating the union stand on pending legislation.

Clerk's Salary Will Not Be Increased Under Kimble's Bill

The Senate Bill introduced by Senator Robert B. Kimble providing $10 per day for the Clerk to the County Board of Commissioners, which passed the Senate Tuesday, does not represent a salary increase to the clerk, it was explained at the Court House yesterday.

This $10 per day is in payment for each day the clerk serves with the board of commissioners when it sits as a board of review on tax assessments. This board of review meets twice each month.

Under present law each County Commissioner receives $10 per day for each board of review meeting, or an extra $20 per month. The attorney to the County Board and the Clerk receive a like amount. However, the law which Kimble has proposed makes the clerk's payment mandatory, and does not leave it to the discretion of the commissioners, as is the case under present law, it was explained.

Independent Department Of Smoke Control Is Proposed By Avirett

University Women Sponsor Discussion

Listing provisions which should be included in a smoke control ordinance for Cumberland, James Alfred Avirett, local attorney and chairman of the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission, said last night that an independent department of smoke control should be set up, headed by a paid trained combustion engineer with one or two assistants.

Avirett was one of four speakers at a panel discussion on smoke control, which featured the monthly meeting of the Cumberland branch of the American Association of University Women, held at the Girl Scout House, Greene Street.

He explained that it would be the duty of the board to inspect industrial plants and all institutions which are large users of coal, to make sure that equipment was adjusted so that a minimum amount of smoke or fumes would be emitted.

Other provisions, Avirett said, should include limitation of the amount and type of smoke which could be emitted either from plants, institutions or railroads, with moderate fines against both the individual railroad firemen and the railroad company in cases of excessive smoke from locomotives.

Would Restrict Coal Piles

He also urged that there be a provision making it unlawful to store large piles of coal within the city, stating that on windy days quantities of dirt are blown from such coal piles. Avirett added that the grade of coal used should be regulated to provide that no "high volatile", or smoke-producing, coal could be used. This, he pointed out, would help coal mines in the state, since good grades of coal are produced in this county.

His final point was that later on, provision might be made for inspecting home stokers in individual residences, to make sure that they are properly adjusted to cut down on the amount of smoke coming from dwellings.

Declaring that the Potomac Edison river plant "must be cleaned up or be moved out of the city," Avirett exhibited a box of gray fly ash and stated that four or five tons of the ash is spread over the city daily from the plant. He said the company has taken action to correct the condition but that more corrective work is needed.

Max Shaffer, Celanese engineer who assisted Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, in assembling data in preparation for drawing up an ordinance here, recalled that in St. Louis

Allegany Senior Class To Present "Ten Little Indians" Next Month

Ann Martin and Howard Peterson will portray important roles in the mystery play, "Ten Little Indians," senior class production which will be presented at Allegany High School on Thursday and Friday, March 6 and 7 under the direction of Harold C. Wickard.

Ann Martin will characterize Emily Brent. Miss Martin is a member of the Allegany Girls' Tri-Hi-Y, Spanish Club, History Club, O. K. S. and National Thespians. She has appeared in several O. K. S. productions including "Snafu" and "Funny Business." She enacts effectively, the role of a tall, thin spinster with a disagreeable, suspicious face.

Howard "Dutch" Peterson will portray the role of Sir Lawrence Wargrave. A prominent Alleganian, "Dutch" is the president of the Allegany Boys Hi-Y, treasurer of the senior class, a fire marshal, and an active participant in football and baseball activities. He will create a sinister atmosphere as he delves into the mysteries of each scene.

Tolerance Urged In Brotherhood Week Broadcast

In observance of National Brotherhood Week another radio broadcast, featuring representatives of the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish religions, was sponsored last night over WTBO by Western Maryland Lodge, B'nai B'rith, in cooperation with the National Association of Christians and Jews.

Robert Kaplon served as moderator and the speakers were Rev. W. Randolph Keefe, pastor of Grace Baptist Church; Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, and Rabbi Maurice Feuer, B'er Chayim Temple.

Rev. Mr. Feefe stated that brotherhood week is an institution for which we should all be grateful, as "there is a real need for directing our attention to the intolerance in our land because it endangers our healthy and happy American way of thinking."

Must Fight Indifference

He enumerated the debt we owe to every race in existence in the world saying, "From every race of men on earth there has come great and noble characters. Some of the races that have been most despised have produced the world's greatest philosophers, statesmen, musicians, scientists and religious leaders. There is no reason why we should have anything but gratitude and good will toward the members of all other races."

Rev. Mr. Keefe warned his audience to be tolerant and to be continually on guard lest indifference break down the fight toward good will and love of neighbor.

"Justice is a virtue, a principle, a practice of rendering to others what is due them according to equality," Father Landrigan stressed. "Yet, whether from experience or observation, many of us are aware that some who frequently have the word upon their lips are often void of the virtue in their hearts and this lack of sincerity gives rise to national and neighborhood disturbances of racial discrimination, class hatred and religious bigotry.

"It is for each of us in his private judgments and public acts to give solid testimony to fraternal charity, justice and truth; to strive to resist hatred, columny and prejudice; then efforts and movements like ours today may become effective instruments of international peace and domestic tranquility for the good of ourselves and the general welfare of our fellow men", Father Landrigan concluded.

Unity of Purpose

Rabbi Feuer stressed the fact that the privilege of talking freely and frankly about religion and brotherhood was a privilege that is ours only by virtue of the fact that we live in a free, democratic nation.

"America owes its greatness and its very survival to this fine tradition of liberality and tolerance toward all races and faiths," he said.

"There is no place in the minds of civilized men and women for intolerance and hatred toward those who happen to differ in religious opinion or racial background. We have no moral right to the freedoms and opportunities of our democracy unless we are willing to accord the same rights to our neighbors of every creed and faith."

In concluding his talk Rabbi Feuer stated "Only when the people of America learn to rise above religious bigotry and racial prejudice and a real unity of purpose—only then can we hope to preserve our American democracy."

Dairy Union Seeks Contract At Keyser

Cumberland Local 924, Dairy Workers Union, AFL, reported last night that a Keyser, W. Va., dairy which it termed the only unorganized major dairy of the Tri-State area, has declined to sign a contract.

Jack F. Moore, president, said a union committee conferred with Arnold Haggerty, manager of the Royale Dairy, and that Haggerty said he was willing to enter into wage negotiations only if a majority of the 11 employes request it.

Moore quoted the Keyser dairy operator as saying he would still insist upon an individual contract for the plant since he did not think Cumberland area rules would suit the Keyser section.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dyer, 111 Laing Avenue, announce the birth of a son Wednesday morning in Memorial Hospital.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Lehew Miller, Route 4, Christie Road, Wednesday morning in Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson B. Woodson, 4816 Chevy Chase Road, Chevy Chase, announce the birth of a son Wednesday morning in Sibley Memorial Hospital, Washington. The mother is the former Miss Jean E. Torbet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Torbet, 758 Piedmont Avenue.

Henry Hart Post Continues Work To Get Hospital

Members of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, VFW, voted at a meeting Tuesday night to pursue the matter of a hospital for veterans in Western Maryland, and a plan of action was proposed, with reports to be made at the next meeting.

Post Commander Raymond Reynolds said other veterans groups here have indorsed the project and added that the VFW welcomes their co-operation.

Members were informed that Rep. J. Glenn Beall and Senator Herbert R. O'Conor have replied to letters and resolutions from the post asking for their support in efforts to have a hospital for veterans established in Western Maryland, and also protesting sugar rationing and urging their efforts in having all ration controls lifted.

The Post was advised by Rep. Beall that he is interested in a hospital for Western Maryland and will continue to work on the project, and Reynolds said Beall has been interested in the project for sometime. Beall reminded the veterans that it was largely through his efforts that Newton D. Baker Hospital at Martinsburg, W. Va., was kept open to serve veterans of this area.

According to Reynolds, Senator O'Conor sent a letter and a long printed report outlining the plan and purpose of sugar rationing and explaining various rules and regulations.

The veterans said they have not received replies from Beall as to sugar rationing, from O'Conor about the hospital plan or from Senator Tydings on either sugar rationing or the hospital project.

Guests at the meeting included James H. Arthur, past department commander of Baltimore, who spoke briefly on veteran problems, and Louis Zieve, department national home chairman.

Zieve stated the Maryland cottage at the National Home has been entirely refurnished, and expressed appreciation for the living room suite and other furnishings provided by the local Ladies Auxiliary.

The post voted to contribute $25 to the Red Cross Campaign and $10 to the Greek War Relief Drive.

Man Killed In Train Wreck Was Known Here

The NEWS was informed last night by members of Queen City Council No. 49, Junior Order United American Mechanics that one of the firemen killed in the wreck of the Pennsylvania Railroad's crack passenger train "Red Arrow", near Altoona, early Tuesday morning, was C. P. Saylor, Hollidaysburg, Pa., who instituted the Juvenile Council here on January 30.

According to members of the Junior Order Mr. Saylor also instituted two other Juvenile Councils in the county, one at Lonaconing, and the other at Frostburg. Mr. Saylor was national representative of the Benevolent department of the Jr. OUAM.

The funeral of Mr. Saylor will be held in Hollidaysburg on Friday afternoon.

Low-Cost Rental Housing For Vets To Be Discussed

State FHA Director Will Speak Here

Two representatives of the Baltimore office of the Federal Housing Administration are in Cumberland to discuss low-cost rental housing for veterans, E. Price Steiding, housing expediter for the Western Maryland area, announced yesterday.

They are Charles T. Batterden, executive assistant to E. Lester Muller, state FHA director, and Owen McFadden, housing consultant.

Batterden said builders, bankers, architects, public officials, contractors, realtors, manufacturers and dealers will be invited to attend a meeting scheduled for Tuesday, March 4, at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall auditorium to discuss a stepped-up home building program during 1947 as a result of changes in the FHA's insurance procedures and the relaxation of building controls.

To Confer With Smith

Batterden and McFadden will confer with H. W. Smith, secretary of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, this morning to ask for that organization's sponsorship of the meeting.

Similar meetings were held in Baltimore and Salisbury within recent weeks. Following the Cumberland meeting March 4, it is planned to arrange for other meetings in Hagerstown and Frederick, the FHA representatives said.

The state director will be guest speaker at the meeting here, Batterden said. Muller also addressed the Baltimore and Salisbury meetings to outline new regulations on insurance of mortgages under the FHA system, stating that much of the emphasis in the FHA program for 1947 will be placed on rental housing for veterans of World War II and their families.

"The supplanting of the 'priority system' with the new 'permit system,' under which non-veterans as well as veterans may build homes and finance them on the basis of 90 per cent loans insured by the FHA, should give immediate impetus to the program of home building in Cumberland," Batterden said.

New System Explained

He explained that under the new "permit system," authorization can be obtained from the FHA by any individual to build a home limited to 1,500 square feet of floor area and fixtures for one bathroom, but with no price ceiling. A 90% 25-year loan at 4% interest may be obtained under the FHA plan, provided non-veterans will agree in the event of subsequent sale or rent to give preference to World War II veterans.

"This financing plan," Batterden said, "makes it possible for non-veterans to build a duplex or an apartment building, live in one of the units, and rent the other units to World War II veterans. The rent ceiling is established by the FHA to permit a 6½% return on the total investment and is not subject to review by OPA."

Pointing out that much of the demand for housing by veterans is for apartments for rent, Batterden said that FHA procedures affecting the insurance of mortgages on rental properties have been simplified to encourage this type of construction.

Terms Are Cited

"It is now possible to finance the construction of duplexes and apartments on the basis of 90% insured loans on terms up to 25 years," he said. "On large rental projects the terms may be up to 32 years, or longer if the interest rate is less than 4%."

Under the new program, Batterden explained, the main need is for a site for such a project. He said it will be the FHA's intention to urge holders of such sites to become sponsors and developers of rental projects under the new and liberal terms of the FHA program.

Discussing the matter of ceiling prices on construction, the FHA representative said these were discontinued when President Truman ordered controls lifted. Builders who are constructing homes under the old "priority system" are still required to sell the homes to veterans at maximum prices established by the FHA in existing orders under the old system.

Motorist Pays Fine

Grocers Oppose Proposed Bills On Wages, Alcoholic Beverages

Letters Are Sent To Legislators

The Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland went on record at their monthly meeting Tuesday night as opposing House Bill No. 289, which provides for the issuance of more than one license to the same person for the off premises sale of packaged beer at retail; and Senate Bill No. 181, the proposed "Maryland Wage and Hour Act."

Under terms of the latter bill, a minimum wage of 65 cents an hour would be set for all employes except for those in domestic service or in farm operations. It also provides for the creation of wage boards and for wage investigations anywhere in the state upon request of 50 or more citizens.

In regard to the alcoholic beverages bill, the association sent a letter to Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., chairman of the Allegany county delegation to the General Assembly.

The letter stated that the bill "might result in one person establishing a number of taverns or beer parlors throughout the county and, in the hopes of a large volume, lead to the cutting of prices to the point that it would not be profitable or fair to competitors. Also, it would probably lead to the introduction of out-of-state cheap beers, thereby working a hardship upon state brewers."

Regarding the wage and hour proposal, the association sent a letter to State Senator Robert B. Kimble, who is a member of the Senate Committee on Labor, stating that the measure "will force upon business and industry an army of investigators," requiring more state employes "at a time when our state is facing a financial crisis."

The letter also warned that the measure would require employers to keep extensive wage and hour records and "would set up wage boards, which have proven generally ineffective."

Stating that "this bill has no place on the statute books of the Free State of Maryland," the letter declared that the greatest danger of the measure "lies in its encroachment upon the rights and liberties of individuals" by imposing a minimum wage and hour standard regardless of the feelings of the individual businessman, employer or employe.

Albert E. Windish, president, was in charge of the meeting, attended by 50 members, which was held in the LaVale Fire Hall. Roy C. Lottig, manager of the Coca-Cola Bottling Works, gave a talk on modern merchandising methods.

Frostburg College Will Not Be Closed

Kaylor Warns Of Woods Fire Peril

State Forester Joseph F. Kaylor, returned to Annapolis yesterday after making a tour of Allegany and Garrett counties, with William Parr, the new district forester, recently transferred to Western Maryland from Laurel.

Kaylor contacted personnel of the department in this area, and reminded them that the time draws near when "for a period of three months, day in and day out, danger will lurk in our fields and woods."

Kaylor was referring to the danger of forest and woods fires which usually occur in the Spring of the year after the first thaws. "A roaring hot forest fire," he declared, "will consume everything above ground, and while it cannot be compared to Hiroshimo or Nagasaki, it will take everything on the farm from the homestead to the chicken house if not controlled."

"Every forest fire that does not occur," Kaylor emphasized, "means just so much property saved." With this in mind the Commission State of Forests and Parks, under authority granted it by law, has established a regulation designed to prevent fires and keep down property damage.

In brief, the regulation provides that in the three spring months of March, April, and May, and in the four fall months, September 15 to December 15, inclusive, brush and other field trash may be burned only between the hours of 4 p. m. and 12 midnight, EST. It also provides that when brush is burned within 200 feet of woodland or of other ground cover that may carry fire to the woods, and in the absence of natural barriers to the escape of fire, the landowner shall plow around the material to be burned a safety trap not less than 10 feet wide, free of all inflammable material. He must also have on hand, sufficient help, with tools, to control the fire at all times, nor can he leave it unattended until the last spark is out.

"This regulation," Kaylor declares, "is a public safety measure, and it is both our duty and desire to enforce it this year, as in the past, with every means at our command. In this connection, I should like to give one last piece of advice. Don't burn in windy or overly dry weather. And this applies to housewives as well as to their men folks. We have had a number of woods fires which started when house trash or field brush was burned when the wind was blowing or when vegetation was unusually dry. Such fires would never have occurred if those responsible had used a little common sense. Let us all pull together to make Maryland a fire-free state."

Sanitary District Bill To Be Presented Board

A group of 35 citizens representing all parts of the county met last night at the Cresaptown Fire Hall and discussed the proposed bill establishing sanitary districts in Allegany county.

Several amendments were proposed and a number of changes made, designed to put safeguards in the measure, J. Milton Dick, chairman said. Dr. Joseph P. Franklin, city and county health officer who has been acting in an advisory capacity to the sanitary group was present and offered a number of suggestions, Dick stated.

The bill in its new and present form will be submitted to the Board of Allegany Commissioners Tuesday for its consideration, Dick explained, at which time it will be fully explained.

Many Taxpayers Are Filing Returns Here

Although early filing of returns on 1946 income is heavier than last year, Richard J. Stakem, division chief of the Internal Revenue office here, said the waiting line is being kept under control satisfactorily.

He added that five deputies will be on hand, beginning February 28, when deputies now working in the area, return to the office in the post office building.

Miss Compton Tells Optimists Good News

State Teachers College at Frostburg will not be closed, Miss Lillian C. Compton, college president told members of the Cumberland Optimist Club last night at their regular weekly dinner meeting in Central YMCA.

Speaking on the general subject of "Education," in which she outlined the trend in the country, and emphasized the need for more and better teachers, Miss Compton told her audience, "Western Maryland is better off than most other parts of the state, and many parts of the United States because we have a Teachers' College here."

She explained that throughout the years, the Frostburg school has made it possible for many people to enter the teaching profession who could not have done so, if it had been necessary for them to go to the University of Maryland or some other distant point. The board of Education in this and adjoining counties has steadily drained off the best teachers graduated from the schools, while other sections without teacher colleges have suffered the shortage.

"And even so," she exclaimed, "we have not been able to fill the need. But Allegany County is better off than most places, because we had a school here." Of 215 students presently enrolled at the college, Miss Compton said a survey shows that only 10 of them could have attended college at all, had it been necessary to go farther from home.

Two hundred and five indicated they could not attend the University of Maryland for family reasons, such as a baby brother to care for, an invalid mother or father to look after, part time employment, financial reasons and others.

Need New Facilities

While she praised the job the Frostburg College has done over a long period of years, Miss Compton reminded her listeners, "there have been no improvements or new buildings to the college since 1934, and our facilities are far from sufficient to do the kind of job we would like to do."

The cost of educating teachers in these smaller schools, Miss Compton said, was probably one of the major considerations of those who recommended that Frostburg, Towson, Bowie and Salisbury Colleges be closed. They failed to consider the fact that there are many people who cannot attend the University and would not fit there.

The recommendation has been rejected, she declared, and the State Board of Education does not intend to close these schools, and in fact may consider plans soon to improve their facilities, because people are beginning to appreciate their true value.

Speaking of the teacher shortage, Miss Compton expressed the view that "there are not enough men entering the teaching profession, primarily because salary scales are too low." She said it is not a good practice or policy to feminize the schools with mostly women teachers, particularly in the high school levels. Men are needed in high schools to meet boys with boys' problems, just as women are needed to meet girls with girls' problems, she exclaimed.

Need For Teachers Cited

She referred to numerous figures and reports, including some from the United States Chamber of Commerce and the National Education Association, showing the trend of teaching requirements, teacher ability, teacher pay, and the over-all cost of education in relation to other costs.

In 1940, she said, superintendents reported 90,000 vacancies in school rooms. In 1944, the number had risen to 127,000, or one-seventh of all teachers employed. Classrooms normally staff 900,000 teachers, she explained, and there just aren't enough to go around.

One superintendent suggested, she declared, that schools be closed and children sent home, so people would realize the plight of the teachers and the great shortage. But she expressed the opinion that people are awakening to the situation without such drastic measures, and the picture is changing for the better.

However, NEA estimates that 4,000,000 public school children are presently under incompetent teachers, and many more are in overcrowded class rooms, getting inadequate instruction and little individual attention.

Enrollment Declines

Of the 728,000 veterans enrolled in G. I. Bill of Rights, higher education programs, less than 18,000 of them are preparing to teach, Miss Compton said. In 1920, 22 percent of all college students were attending teacher colleges. By 1945, the number had dropped to seven percent, she said. "The carefully selected, highly educated, professional teacher is vanishing from the American scene at a time when our country must develop the talents of its children."

"The U. S. Army found it necessary to create schools to teach adult males to read and write in order that they could perform duties of war. You know something of the cost of this program and you also know had we invested enough in education prior to 1941, these statistics could have been different: Selective Service rejected 600,000 men for illiteracy; 360,000 men in Selective Service could not write their names; 13 percent had attended less than the third grade; 56 percent less than the eighth grade

Superintendent Confirms Report

Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., state superintendent of schools, in an Associated Press release last night, confirmed earlier reports here that Frostburg State Teachers College, Frostburg, will remain open. The State Board of Education has rejected a recommendation of a commission that the school be closed, as the smaller colleges throughout the state are filling a need in higher education for those who cannot attend universities or centralized colleges.
